PROPERTY OUT OF THE CITY FOR SALE OR TO RENT.

A RARE OPPORTUNITY TO SECURE AN ELEGANT Country Home.

The owner, having decided upon removal to a distant State, will sell his elegant Country Seat—Villa, Outbuildings, and 25 acres of Land—at Clifton, on the New York and Erie Railway, between Passaic and Paterson, N. J.

Being but thirteen miles from New York City Hall (thirty minutes' ride from the Pavonia ferry,) six miles from Newark, two and a half miles from Paterson, one mile from Clifton, and one and one-half mile from Passaic, it is in the very heart of the section now commanding so much attention for its beauty of landscape, healthful climate, richness of soil, and rapidly enhancing worth of its estates.

Superadded, however, to all these advantages of location and approach, this fine property is touched on two sides by the new lines of the Delaware and Lackawanna and the Newark and Paterson Railways. Depots on both roads within five minutes' walk of the house. With these several first class lines to the city, additional value is given to the entire twenty-three acres, rendering it eminently feasible to cut up the land into lots or plots to any extent desired.

In this respect the estate offers a rare opportunity for investment for speculation or improvement; and if properly managed, the open land can be so disposed of, in lots and plots, as to clear the homestead and surrounding three or four acres. The present owner, having in view such a disposition, has had the entire premises surveyed and mapped. This map will be given to all parties contemplating purchase. The subdivisions comprise proper streets, and one hundred and seventy lots and plots, after reserving three to four acres upon which stand the buildings above indicated.

The House is 48x38, extension 41x19, two and a half stories, cellar under all, with all the modern improvements, including bells, speaking tubes, gas and water, the latter supplied by hydraulic ram.

The Outbuildings are complete, embracing Porter's Lodge, Ice House, Stable, Carriage House, Cow House, Chicken House and Gardener's House.

Grounds beautifully laid out in lawns, garden, drives, &c., with running stream of water.

The place is a perfect one of its kind; two-thirds can remain on mortgage. Apply to the owner.

ARKANSAS LANDS.
The Little Rock and Fort Smith Railroad has a land grant direct from the government of 1,100,000 acres, consisting of rich bottom and uplands, and all selected with great care. 350,000 acres of these lands between ranges eleven (11) and eighteen (18) and on and near the Arkansas river and the line of their road are now, for the first time, offered for sale, on credit, at low rates, at their land office in Little Rock.

The remaining 750,000 acres, between range 18 and the west line of the State, are in course of examination by competent experts and will be for sale during the spring and summer as examinations are completed.

The climate and soil of Arkansas adapting these lands to the successful culture of cotton, corn, wheat, fruit, the vine and all agricultural products; its valuable timber, its splendid water power, its superior educational privileges, with its rapidly increasing population and industry, render these lands worthy the special attention of purchasers and settlers.

Maps and all information obtained on application by letter or in person at the land office in Little Rock.

A MORNING CONTEMPORARY, announcing the arrival of Napoleon in England, says that he met its correspondent there as "an old friend." The HERALD readers will bear in mind that at one time Napoleon was a member of the London police.

GOLD QUARTZ has been found on the Potomac. So far all is reported quiet on that classic river, but if it be true that the gold is likely to pan out in paying quantities we hope to hear of an exciting rush of ex-members of Congress there to engage in the honest business of mining.

THE ST. DOMINGO COMMISSION IN JAMAICA.—The Commissioners while in Kingston expressed themselves delighted and surprised at the contrast between Jamaica and St. Domingo. We do not wonder at that, the former being a civilized and enlightened colony of Great Britain, while the latter is a shade lower, if that is possible, than the yet cannibal islands of the South Pacific.

THE FRENCH ARMY AND M. THIERS.—Not the least significant among our despatches from France is the one which announces that the French army journals denounce M. Thiers as the author of the troubles in Paris. These journals, more or less, represent the sentiments of the soldiers, by whom they are supported, so that their denunciation must be regarded as boding little good for the government should the Paris insurgents venture to advance upon Versailles.

THE ST. DOMINGO COMMISSION.—By special telegram from the HERALD'S correspondent at Key West we have the announcement of the arrival of the Tennessee at that port yesterday morning from Jamaica. The Commissioners have agreed upon a report which favors annexation excepting upon a few points. They will leave for Washington overland; but it is understood now that the subject of annexation will not be pressed upon Congress during the present session.

WHAT NONSENSE!—The question of the repeal of the duty on coal has aroused the Pennsylvania Senators to a threat of retaliation against the New England Senators. "You repeal the duty on coal," say they, "and we will repeal the duty on manufactures." The people of Pennsylvania, if their Senators do not, know that the Keystone State is nearly as much interested in the protection of home manufactures as the people of any one of the New England States. Hence, when a threat of this kind comes from Pennsylvania in Congress, the exclamation may be well made—"What nonsense!"

Paris and France—What Next?—The "Reds" or the Empire?—Anarchy or Despotism?

Paris continues in absolute possession of the Jacobin mob. If since the butcheries of Sunday night no further assassinations are reported it is because all resistance to the "reds" has disappeared. Within the city's walls they have unqualified "liberty, equality and fraternity," as they understand these things, which means unbounded license, debauchery and spoliation. Fresh barricades have been erected; the omnibuses have stopped running; traffic has ceased; only the cafés and drinking shops remain open; the Police Commissioners have been arrested; again the fishwomen are in arms. General Chanzy was so maltreated by the mob that he had to be sent to the hospital; the insurgents have seized the funds of the city in the Hotel de Ville and the Mayoralties; all the approaches to the city are defended by the Nationals against the national government; the Jacobin juntas are issuing numerous manifestoes; they will shoot even M. Thiers if they catch him; people are leaving the city by thousands, citizens and strangers, and so on, to the end of the chapter of this most astounding and alarming red republican Paris revolution. The only thing respected or promised respect from the revolutionary Central Committee is the treaty of peace with Germany, which they promise to respect for the sake of the republic, or, in other words, because they have learned to entertain a wholesome fear of the German armies.

Such is the state of things in Paris. The capital of France is under the control of a howling mob, the elements of which have nothing to lose and much to gain from the overthrow of law, order and the rights of property. These subterranean savages and sans culottes, brought to the surface, have ordered an election in the several communes to-day for a new city administration, and no doubt they will carry it through to their complete satisfaction. Meantime the National Assembly and the executive government of the nation, chosen by it, or from its authority, by M. Thiers as head of the State, and the diplomatic corps are at Versailles under the protection of an army of twenty, thirty or forty thousand men, commanded by General Vinoy. Versailles resembles a camp; but M. Thiers is hopeful and the Assembly is firm. At its meeting on the 20th the "reds" belonging to the body were all absent. This signifies, we apprehend, that their ultimatum is the overthrow of the Thier's government, including the Assembly, and the substitution of a Jacobin establishment on the platform of the guillotine.

The Assembly, on the other hand, in the resolution adopted providing for the appointment of a committee to consider the condition of France, and the necessity of placing the Departments of the Seine and the Seine-et-Oise in a state of siege, has taken the proper course for the exigency. The Paris "reds," again, have called upon their partisans in the provinces to act promptly; and it is possible that in Lyons, Marseilles, Bordeaux and Lille, where they are numerous enough to be audacious, they will follow the example of their brethren in Paris, and take possession in each case of the city and all the public funds and arms they can lay their hands upon. In short, this reign of the reds in Paris must be speedily suppressed, or anarchy, with all the horrors of civil war, will soon prevail from the north to the south of France, and law and order will be limited to the Rhine provinces taken possession of by Germany, and to the champagne districts, held as a "material guarantee" by the German armies for the payment of that indemnity. Here we see the sagacity of Bismarck and Von Moltke in the securities they have exacted for the payment of said indemnity within the stipulated time. The money must be forthcoming when due, or those champagne districts will be apt to share the fate of Alsace and the Vosges, of Strasbourg and Metz.

There can be no doubt that if the Emperor William were to say the word the Napoleonic empire, under the protection of the French imperial army from Germany, would be at once reinstated. But the Emperor William does not appear to be in the least degree concerned about these revolutionary discords in France. Louis Napoleon probably expects in a month or two to be recalled to the Tuileries as the only alternative to France against a general reign of anarchy and political, industrial and social ruin. The "reds" in Paris are certainly making a better vindication for the empire than any that Napoleon has given since he set out on that disastrous journey to Berlin. It appears, too, that the prisoners of Metz and Sedan are offering their services to the Thiers government, which, even through M. Thiers, would seem to offer a chance for Napoleon. But those soldiers can do nothing else under the circumstances. Still, between Napoleon, Thiers and those French imperial troops, there may be an opening for the restoration of the empire through another coup d'état; but the odds against such an experiment are so very discouraging that we think it will hardly be attempted.

The Germans, we are convinced, are perfectly indifferent concerning these internal disorders in France. They do not care whether law and order are completely re-established in or are completely driven out of France. Empire, monarchy or republic, anarchy or despotism, the Germans have no fears, no anxieties, and no assistance to offer. Suppose a condition of chaos shall come upon poor France, involving the prostration of her agricultural and manufacturing industries, the utter demoralization, bankruptcy and beggary of her people; that her law-abiding and industrious classes by thousands emigrate, for their personal safety and the security of their property, to other lands; and that such government as may exist in France for the time, instead of meeting the indemnity to Germany, repudiates the whole national debt. What will this signify to Germany? Only this, that if the indemnity agreed upon is not forthcoming at the appointed time and there is no prospect of getting it, Germany will foreclose her mortgage, and appropriate another slice of the inviting soil of France, and such a slice as will make the appropriation to the Germans a better bargain than the money.

It will be observed that even these sans culottes and "gentlemen of the pavement" of Paris have a glimmering of this thing in their proposition to respect the treaty stipulations with Germany. They propose, then, to pay the indemnity of a thousand millions of dollars required of France, though they may upset the republic of Thiers, and set up the republic of "liberty, equality and fraternity," as they comprehend it. How, then, will they meet this indemnity? By the very simple process of the confiscation of the surplus property of the wealthy French people; for, according to the red republican theory of equality, "property is theft," and the profits of banks and money changers are stealings from the community, and belong to the community or the State. That such fears exist among the French property-holders concerning the "reds" we know from the elections to the present Assembly; that such fears exist among the Catholic peasantry in reference to the property and institutions of their Church has been proved in the same elections against Gambetta and Company. Most likely, at all events, from the excesses of the "reds" of Paris, the French provinces and the returned soldiers of the late imperial armies will support M. Thiers in the restoration of the Orleanists or the Bonapartes. It is still possible, however, that M. Thiers may effect a compromise with the "reds" of Paris, which will give the republic, upon a reasonable and conciliatory platform, another chance in an appeal to the French people. It is still possible, on the other hand, that France has reached that turning point in the downward road of revolutionary factions, demoralization and confusion, which may reduce her to the political and financial condition of Spain.

The Royal Marriage.

By special telegram from London, forwarded through the Atlantic cable, we are enabled to place before the readers of the HERALD a complete report of the marriage of the Princess Louise of England to the Marquis of Lorn. The ceremony was performed in the Chapel of St. George, Windsor, yesterday, in the presence of a royal and aristocratic assemblage. The scene which was presented inside of the sacred edifice was brilliant in the extreme. Queen Victoria was present and gave the bride away. The Duke and Duchess of Argyll attended. The bridegroom and bride were accompanied by gentlemen and ladies of the most distinguished lineage. The "happy man" appeared nervous and slightly agitated. The bride made the responses to the officiating prelate in a clear, audible voice. At the conclusion of the ceremony Queen Victoria folded her daughter in her arms and gave her a loving, motherly kiss. The bridegroom knelt and kissed the Queen's hand. The far Orient was represented by the presence of the Right Honorable Benjamin Disraeli and an Asiatic princess, the latter blazing in scarlet, diamonds and gold. Mr. Disraeli occupied himself, previous to the advent of the royal party, in studying the rubric of the Church of England, which directs the performance of marriages, in a copy of the Book of Common Prayer. It may be for future use in Parliament. The people were out in crowds, joyous, good-natured and festive. The newly wedded pair took their departure from Windsor for Claremont for the honeymoon amid enthusiastic demonstrations of the good will of the populace.

The Emperor William to the German Parliament.

The members of the North German Reichstag assembled in Parliamentary session in Berlin yesterday. The occasion was one of more than usual interest. His Majesty the Emperor William presided on the throne. It was his first official appearance since his return from the seat of war. The Emperor delivered a speech in which he referred to the "glorious but trying struggle" which had just been terminated, its mode of conduct and probable consequences. His Majesty paid due honor to the soldiers of the nation and a merited compliment to the unity and patriotism of the people. He promised that Germany, "independent," would "respect the independence of others." The war harness being taken off, the Parliament is to apply itself to the work of recuperation, to the healing of the "wounds" which were sustained in treading the path to victory. For South Germany he has conciliation; for France, pity; for Europe in general, hopes of peace. Glory, with territory, is not acquired cheaply. We find, therefore, that his Majesty William touches gently on the financial economies, glancing mildly toward an increased budget of treasury expenses. The Emperor endorsed the recent work of the London Conference. He thus quietly acknowledged the restoration of France to her position in the family of the European nations, and, as it appears to us, tided over the Eastern question of the Black Sea navigation in a very easy and non-committal manner. The Emperor William is prudent as he is valiant.

THE FEELING IN THE FRENCH PROVINCES.—Strangely enough, we have no intelligence of revolutionary uprisings in Lyons and Marseilles, those hotbeds of insurrection and disaffection. Heretofore they have never failed to respond with alacrity to the call to arms in Paris, and on more than one occasion they have set the capital an example in the way of an uprising against the regular authorities. However, should the Paris insurgents maintain their position for a few days longer the Southern cities will doubtless join in the movement to overthrow M. Thiers and the National Assembly. Thus far the only symptom of active sympathy in the provinces with the Paris insurgents has been exhibited at Rouen, where copies of an insurrectionary proclamation have been seized and their circulation prevented. But even there, as, indeed, throughout France, the reports agree in representing the country quiet and orderly.

THE FINAL ADJOURNMENT PROPOSITION introduced in the Legislature by Mr. Tweed is said to have been called for by the exceedingly shaky condition of the democratic majority. Two members of the Senate are sickly and a third is wild, so that the Boss does not know at what moment, through death or severe illness on one hand, and the fascinations of the flowing bowl on the other, he may be brought to bay by a republican majority against him.

The Ladies' Spring Fashions.

Waterproofs, overshoes and umbrellas were the universal wear of the ladies who ventured out yesterday to see the preliminary display of spring fashions in the shops. But the shops, like so many hothouses, forced the season, and, in spite of outside wind and rain, bloomed with every variety of cameo shades and other novelties in color as well as in cut. The cameo shades have been decreed to be fashionable, not only for spring silks, but also for less costly dress goods. On Monday, the opening day with a few dry goods houses, many suits, each comprising hat, sacque and underskirt, were exhibited, in which "the dresses are finished with trimmings of the same color, but of a lighter or darker shade, according to the taste of the wearer." Such are the so-called cameo suits. The color of the gloves may match with the suit or even with the strings of the hat, the brightest blues and green being admissible, although for evening delicate lines of yellow, lilac or flesh color are preferred. The shops seem to be amply supplied with gloves, but those imported from Paris must have been invoiced before the French capital was besieged. The marquise is the latest style. In boots, embroidery has superseded rosettes and bows. The absurd attempt to revive long trails for walking dresses has happily failed, and while the skirts are longer than they were a few years ago they are still short enough to clear the mud of our street crossings and the water pools of the worst and most neglected sidewalks in the world.

But without further entering into details with which more than twenty thousand visitors will become familiar on the opening day of the dry goods stores, it will suffice to record the suggestive fact that the largest proportion of the fabrics offered for spring wear are of American make and are comparatively moderate in price. It may be added that although the Parisian modistes, who have for long months been languishing in exile at Brussels, declare it to be impossible to invent acceptable new fashions anywhere outside of Paris, and authoritative fashion journals here are, therefore, compelled to have their fashion plates drawn in the shops of New York modistes, the latter have proved fully equally to the emergency. The endorsement of their skilful inventions by our most elegant belles will hasten the time when New York, instead of Paris or Berlin, shall give laws to the realm of fashion throughout the world.

The Pneumatic Tube.

The bill for the construction of this underground bore has passed the Legislature and remains now in the hands of Governor Hoffman to decide whether this great wrong shall be imposed upon the people or whether he shall strangle it by his veto. We hope that Governor Hoffman, who has, ever since his accession to office, evinced so much discretion in dealing with bad legislation, will not consent to making this bill a law. We hope, furthermore, that he will not only veto it, or let it go by default for want of his signature, but that he will give us, in his explicit and forcible way, the reasons why this outrageous piece of legislation should never be allowed to go upon the statute book. What is this pneumatic tube scheme? It is the underground arcade railroad over again, which was killed in the Legislature last session. It means undermining Broadway, to the great danger of every building on that thoroughfare. It gives to the company almost unlimited rights to take and dispose of the property of citizens. If the road were to be built it would obstruct the traffic of Broadway for years to come, for it will take ten or fifteen years to complete it.

It would ruin the business of that great highway, and reduce the value of property there nearly fifty per cent. If scientific experiments of this kind—and the pneumatic railroad is only an experiment after all—are to be tried, why not select some less valuable and less populous portion of the city, east or west of Broadway? Why pick out this street, without which the metropolis would be nothing, to bore under, to shake it to its foundations, to impede its business and destroy the value of its property? It has been intimated that there is no intention of building this road at all—that the charter has been sought and pushed to its present position in the Legislature on the part of some individuals for the purpose of getting bought off by the owners of property which this scheme threatens to injure. If this be so, if it be a blackmailing job, it is an additional reason why Governor Hoffman should put a quietus upon it.

We regard the passage of this bill as the most atrocious piece of legislation for this city which has occurred for many years. We have confidence in the Governor, however, that when he gives the bill due attention he will see its enormity, and will refuse emphatically to confirm it with his name.

THE HERALD IN ENGLAND.—An English nobleman's estate on the island of Jamaica is destroyed by fire and the first intimation he has of the disaster is on reading the HERALD'S special telegram from Kingston.

THE BROADWAY WIDENING CASE.—The matter of the proposed widening of the upper portion of Broadway and appointment of commissioners under the recent act of the Legislature to that effect was to have been argued yesterday before Judge Cardozo, of the Supreme Court. It was impossible, however, for the Judge to hear the argument, owing to the multiplicity of other causes on the calendar requiring his immediate attention. It was arranged, however, to have the argument of the counsel begin at ten o'clock next Tuesday morning and to be continued from day to day till the close. There is a formidable array of lawyers retained in the case, and the amount of talking that will ensue is sure to be proportionately extensive. The old saying that "talk is cheap, but it takes money to buy land," applies only partially to this case. When first class lawyers do the talking it is expensive, but the latter part of the proposition holds good. It will take money, and a good round sum at that, to put the widening job through the courts.

REPORT OF THE ST. DOMINGO COMMISSION.—Ben Wade's report on St. Domingo will be favorable to annexation excepting on those points relating to debt, boundary and grants. Grant's what?

Revival of Opera in New York—A Brilliant Prospect.

We understand Miss Nilsson has resolved to remain in the United States and to prepare for us a brilliant season of opera next fall and winter. While Nilsson has captivated all hearts here by her exquisite singing and charming demeanor and appearance she herself has become captivated with America. She has experienced the liberality of the American public and is confident that an operatic company combining the first order of talents must be successful. Thus, then, after being deprived for a long period of genuine opera, we are to have a revival of this most delightful and refining amusement through the enterprise of our favorite cantatrice. We say our Nilsson now, because she foregoes advantageous offers in Europe to remain with us, and because she identifies herself and her future with America by purchasing property here, and by this resolve to revive opera. We are sure that our people and all lovers of music, particularly in New York, will be pleased to learn the fact as communicated to us.

Nilsson is now the centre round which our hopes of a revived Italian opera must circle. Just as General Grant became the necessity of the republican party as their candidate for the Presidency, so Nilsson is now the only available candidate in the cause of Italian opera. If Mr. Strakosch is wise he will bring us an unexceptionable troupe to support Nilsson. There are really no difficulties in the way. The Paris opera houses will be vacant for a long time to come. Theatrical engagements will hardly be made by the Parisian managers while the red flag of revolution floats from the Hotel de Ville. The artists, therefore, are in want of employment. In London, also, Mapleson's Italian Opera Troupe are not performing, and some of the finest living singers are among them. Here, then, is a wide field from which to cull the sweetest flowers of musical art. But the manager who undertakes to revive Italian opera in New York, with Nilsson as its shining donna, must bring here no brokendown tenors, baritones or bassi, whose voices have been played out in the service of the European public.

The prospect for a revival of Italian opera next autumn, therefore, we say is very fair; but there is an obstacle in the way for all that. It is the selfishness of the two hundred stockholders of the Academy. If they are not willing to surrender their right to the best seats for the sake of art they might at least make some commutation or agree to some plan whereby the public would have a chance of obtaining good seats at a fair price. It is a pity that we should be dependent upon the Academy for the production of Italian opera; but as it unfortunately is so the opening prospect of an autumn season can be made or marred by the two hundred stockholders. If it should fail the blame will rest heavily with them. Miss Nilsson will visit the different watering places and other parts of the country during the summer season, and the fashionable world will have an opportunity both of seeing her and of discussing the season of brilliant musical entertainments promised them when they return home.

M. Delecluze's Apology.

Following our usual custom, which is to do justice to all and wrong to none, we printed a letter from Henri Delecluze, who, it seems, has a brother somehow mixed up with what we have been in the habit of calling the "reds" in Paris. We never had any desire to misrepresent French republicanism or French republicans. We shall be glad if MM. Louis Blanc, Ledru Rollin, Victor Hugo and Delecluze denounce the conduct of the faction which now rules Paris, and which has, to all intents and purposes, inaugurated a Reign of Terror. Until they do denounce such scoundrelism we must hold these recognized leaders responsible for the excesses of the so-called republicans of the moment. If Victor Hugo, Ledru Rollin, Louis Blanc and the others do not cry out against the murderers of Generals Clement-Thomas and Lecomte, then Victor Hugo, Ledru Rollin, Louis Blanc and Delecluze, if Delecluze be one of them, must be regarded as participes criminis. If we properly understand our correspondent he is not sorry for the excesses which have been committed afresh in the name of the republic. We are sorry to have to say it, but we honestly avow our belief that a French republic is not a possibility. The French people, it seems to us, have lost not only self-control, but self-respect.

NAPOLEON'S CAPTIVITY AT WILHELMSHOHE.—We publish in another page of the HERALD this morning an interesting communication from our special correspondent at Wilhelmshöhe, who, since the captivity of Napoleon, has been stationed at that point in order to keep the readers of the HERALD thoroughly posted on incidents relative to the fallen Emperor and other matters of interest likely to occur in that historic locality. The events which from time to time have transpired have been duly chronicled, and from reference to these records, as well as to the present letter, it will be seen that Napoleon's captivity at Wilhelmshöhe has been employed in earnest study and careful thought, noting changes, watching events, and calculating the chances for the restoration of his dynasty. If his studies in the "College of Ham," as he at one time facetiously termed the prison of his early years, gave him the empire which he recently lost, it now remains to be seen whether during his detention in Wilhelmshöhe he has been able to study out a plan by which his restoration to power may be accomplished.

CONGRESS.—The Senate busied itself altogether yesterday in debating Mr. Anthony's resolution relative to Southern affairs. The democratic members made a very fierce onslaught on the reports of terrible outrages that come from the South, but the debate, although brilliant, developed nothing new. It was finally agreed to take a vote on the bill to-day. In the House nothing whatever of interest was done.

BOUTWELL is reported to be about to retire from the Treasury, and Morton is named to succeed him. President Grant, it seems, has at last come to the conclusion that Boutwell as a financier is not a success, and consequently concludes that he ought to have a successor.

The Duty on Coal and Salt and the Duty of the United States Senate.

Tea and coffee are really luxuries; but their universal use has caused them to be looked upon as necessities. Not so with salt and coal. They are real necessities. No one can live long without them, and every man, woman and child in the country is interested in obtaining them in the easiest manner and at the least cost.

Public policy is against speculation or monopoly in connection with either of these articles. They ought to be prepared for market with as little cost as is fair to the labor employed, and transported and sold with as small profit as is just to the capital used. To obtain this result is a legitimate work of legislation. To stave off such legislation when the opportunity to make it effectual is offered is to cooperate with oppression and monopoly.

Labor and capital are so at swords' points in the coal regions and so involved with various interests that they can be straightened out only by that law to which all must eventually submit—viz., the law of demand and supply. Open the avenues to an unlimited supply and demand will be furnished at the cost of production and transportation. Shut up the avenues of supply, tax and obstruct with custom houses the production of the rest of the world, and you play into the hands of a few thousand miners and a few hundred capitalists at the expense of thirty-five millions of people. If the present duty on coal of one dollar and twenty-five cents in gold per ton is permitted to remain, the coal consumers will have to pay one dollar and fifty cents per ton (in currency) more on fifteen millions of tons in one year than they would if the duty were removed. If the duty is not taken off this session it will be two years before the necessary legislation in and production out of the United States will bring the trade to its true level. In other words, the coal consumers must pay forty-five millions of dollars within the next two years to a few thousand miners and a few hundred capitalists in Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia for an necessity of life, which millions they need not pay if the United States Senate would respond to the demand of the people of the United States and remove the duty from coal.

It is an insult to say there is no duty on anthracite coal, and to take it off bituminous would have no effect. No other country produces anthracite coal to any extent, but remove the duty from bituminous and it will take the place of anthracite whenever the latter reaches an unreasonable price. Now, Messrs. Republican Senators of the United States, are you aware that your party is tottering and ready to fall to pieces simply because you are holding on with grim tenacity to a tyrannical protective system which is used to enrich a few at the expense of many? Will you give one day, or as much time as may be necessary, to do an act of justice and statesmanship, and take the duty from salt and coal? You may then feel, and the country will admit, that this Congress has accomplished something. Or do you wish the public to ponder over the meaning of the word telegraphed one day last week to and printed in Forney's Press, in Philadelphia, that if the tariff men were not more liberal they would find the duty off from coal and many other articles in which Pennsylvania is interested?

Messrs. Conkling and Fenton, what answer can you make to the voters of New York State when they ask why you did not aid in routing this monopoly of salt and coal? "Will you say the Pennsylvania and Maryland Senators threatened to talk us to death if we persisted in bringing up the bill, and to save our lives we concluded to let it rest until a more convenient season?" The voters of New York State will be very likely to reply to you that they will vote with a party which can supply, when the time comes, Senators who can talk as well and sit as long, if necessary, as Senators Cameron, Scott and Vickers. Are these the Senators to whom the Representatives of the great State of New York are to play second fiddle? We tell Senators and political parties that the men or the party who aid directly (or indirectly by doing nothing) in retaining the odious duties on salt and coal, will never cease to regret their personal and political blunder.

AFFAIRS IN JAMAICA.—By special telegram from the HERALD correspondent at Kingston we have later advices from Jamaica. Great excitement has been created on account of the arrest of deserters from the United States steamer Tennessee by the negro police, the inhabitants contending that under the circumstances it establishes a bad precedent. The people of Jamaica have not yet recovered from the effects of the St. Domingo Commissioners' visit, the Queen's counsel announcing it an event in the history of the island. On account of the prospect of increased trade with the United States improved wharf facilities are being constructed for the steamers of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, that now call regularly at Kingston. It is evident that affairs in Jamaica are prospering, and we hope they may continue to improve.

OUTRAGES WITH THE KNIFE are becoming an ordinary pastime among the ruffians of this city. The affair in Tompkins Park on Monday night, which was fully reported in our columns, was a case of great atrocity. The part which the police are said to have played in the bloody business has become a subject of investigation by the Police Board, and it would not be proper to prejudice the case by any remarks of ours. We can only hope that the investigation will be of the most searching character. The charges are that the police officers assaulted the victims of the attack and permitted the assailing parties to escape. This is a question of fact which, we presume, can be easily settled by competent testimony.

THE SOUTHERN PRESS AND SOUTHERN OUTRAGES.—The Southern press exhibit a good deal of feeling upon the pending action of Congress in regard to the alleged outrages in the Southern States. What the Southern press should do under the circumstances is to invite and encourage investigation. The South undoubtedly has a good rejoinder to make to radical declarations. Moreover, the Southern people have a right to a fair opportunity to explain their grievances, and the government is bound to give them a full and careful hearing

The Treaty With Germany to be Respected.

Determination of the Versailles Authorities to Restore Order.

ACTION OF THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY.

TELEGRAM TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

LONDON, March 21, 1871.

I have received from the NEW YORK HERALD special correspondents in France the following reports on the situation in Paris and the provinces:—

MOBBING AND ARREST OF M. ROUHER.

One of your correspondents telegraphs that M. Rouher, formerly Premier of France under the Emperor Napoleon, and President of the Corps Législatif at the outbreak of the war, was arrested and imprisoned at Boulogne yesterday by order of the Versailles government. He was set upon by a mob of roughs and savagely beaten, the mob tearing nearly all the hair from his head. M. Rouher was accompanied by his wife and daughter, who were also arrested.

IMPERIALISTS IN BOULOGNE.

It is stated that a number of imperialists have made their appearance in Boulogne, and it is expected that they will be arrested by the authorities.

THE PARIS INSURGENTS.

In Paris the thirst for blood continues unslaked. A proclamation has been issued by the insurgents justifying their actions. At daybreak to-day the National Guards of Montmartre and Belleville saluted each other with rounds of artillery.

MORE BARRICADES.

At Batignoles fresh barricades have been raised. Rues Clichy, Amsterdam and St. Petersburg have been all barricaded.

BRUTAL TREATMENT OF CHANZY.

In consequence of the brutal treatment received by General Chanzy at the hands of the insurgents it has been found necessary to remove him from the prison of La Santé to the hospital for medical treatment. His sister has also been arrested. It is stated, however, that the Insurgent Central Committee have issued an order for the release of General Chanzy and for the release of General Turquet, who is also a prisoner.

THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY.

The French National Assembly met at Versailles to-day. It is remarked as significant that one hundred and fifty of the deputies were absent from their seats. Great excitement prevails in Versailles.

THE REGULARS AT VERSAILLES.

There are 25,000 regulars of the line, under the command of General Vinoy, stationed at Versailles, but the government cannot depend upon their fidelity should their services be needed.

THIERS STILL HOPEFUL.

President Thiers still clings to the hope that the insurgents will listen to reason and abandon the rebellious movement. His hopes, however, are not shared by the better class of Parisians, thousands of whom are leaving Paris and seeking safety in the provinces.

THE SITUATION IN PARIS.

TELEGRAM TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

Insurgents Occupying the Forts—All Approaches Guarded—A Rebel Paper Explains—The Peace Treaty to be Respected—Policy of the Insurgents—A Reign of Terror—Reaction in Paris—Rebel Conditions—Miscellaneous Intelligence.

LONDON, March 21, 1871.

I am enabled to forward the following intelligence from Paris for the information of the NEW YORK HERALD:—

THE SITUATION—THREE FORTS OCCUPIED.

A despatch from the capital, dated yesterday, states that the situation was then unchanged. Fresh barricades have been erected, but there is general quietude. The omnibuses have stopped running and traffic has ceased. The Nationals have occupied Forts Issy, Vanvres and Bicetre. The Police Commissioners have been arrested.

ALL THE APPROACHES GUARDED.

General Cremer is spoken of as the probable commander of the National Guards. The insurgents have seized the funds in the Hotel de Ville and the Mayoralties. All the approaches to Paris are guarded by the Nationals for the purpose of preventing invasion.

EXPLANATION FROM AN INSURGENT NEWSPAPER.

The Central Committee published to-day (Monday) its official journal, headed The Official Journal of the Republican Federation. It contains the following:—A manifesto originating in the suffrages of 215 battalions of the National Guard repudiates disturbance. The government calumniates Paris and arms the provinces. It imposes upon us a commander, attempts night disarmings, removes the capital and infamously seeks to besmear our honor with bloody filth. The Nationals have participated in no crime.

THE TREATY WITH GERMANY TO BE RESPECTED—APPEAL TO THE DEPARTMENTS.

A proclamation fixes the elections for Wednesday. The Journal also announces that the committee will abdicate power upon the election of a new one by the people. The committee is firm in its decision to respect the preliminaries of peace for the sake of the republic. An appeal to the departments invites quick adhesions to the cause.

POLICY OF THE INSURGENTS.

The Journal also contains an exhortation to the press to respect the republic, justice and truth. A complete political amnesty is promised. The courts which have proved partial are to be abolished. The committee repudiates all participation in the execution of Generals Lecomte and Thomas.

A REIGN OF TERROR.

The Paris correspondent of the London Times telegraphs that many persons were shot without trial on Sunday. The Nationals will shoot M. Thiers and Generals Vinoy and D'Aurelles if they should be captured.

REACTION—INSURGENT LEADERS ALARMED.

There is a strong reaction among the respectable portion of the inhabitants. The Central Committee is alarmed thereat and seeks the mediation of the Mayors of the city for the appointment of Admiral Saisset to the command of the National Guards.

THE REBEL CONDITIONS.

The insurgent journals declare a willingness to treat with the Versailles government on the following conditions:—The election of a Communal Council by the people of Paris; the reorganization of the National Guard, coupled with the power of self-election and removal of their officers, and the suppression of the Prefecture of Police of Paris.

NOT MUCH TO BE DEPLORED.

The insurgents have on several occasions fired into each other by mistake. No particulars of these occurrences or accounts of the loss of life are at hand.

ARMS AND AMMUNITION DISCOVERED.

The Nationals have discovered fresh stores of arms and ammunition, and now completely possess the whole city.

GENERAL NOTES.

The Nationals have entered and sealed up the offices of the Figaro and Gaulois.

The Cri du Peuple says that Paris must proclaim herself a free, autonomous, republican city.

THE VERSAILLES GOVERNMENT.

TELEGRAM TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

Order to be Re-established—A Government Circular—Position of the Paris Editors—Propositions of Radical Deputies—The Situation in Versailles—Press Attack on M. Thiers—General Indignation.

LONDON, March 21, 1871.

Despatches from France contain the following intelligence, which I transmit for the use of the NEW YORK HERALD:—

ORDER TO BE RE-ESTABLISHED.

A telegram states that M. Grevy's address of yesterday makes a good impression. The government at Versailles has resolved to promptly re-establish order.

A GOVERNMENT CIRCULAR.

The government at Versailles has addressed a reassuring circular to the prefects of departments, informing them that the situation in Paris is no worse. The revolution, dishonored by its criminal acts, is unanimously disavowed. General Chanzy and other officers are still detained by the insurgents, but there are hopes of their speedy release. The Mayors of Paris protest against and refuse to carry out the illegal orders for the communal elections. The Assembly unanimously condemns the disorders and their authors. The Nationals now only demand the nomination of Saisset. The government promises the speedy intervention of the army, now rallied before Versailles, and concludes with assurances that the greater part of the country remains calm.

POSITION OF THE PARIS EDITORS.

A meeting of the editors of the Paris press was held to-day, at which a resolution was adopted declaring that the convocation of the electors for to-morrow should be regarded null and void; that public opinion is decidedly against the committee which ordered it; that it is to be hoped the committee is not implicated in the illegal and criminal acts of the insurgents, and that now is the time for the National Guard of Paris to come forward and put an end to this deplorable state of affairs.

WHAT LOUIS BLANC AND VICTOR SCHOELCHER PROPOSE.

A proclamation has been issued, bearing the signatures of Louis Blanc, Victor Schoelcher and others, which contains the following statement:—"Actuated by the absolute necessity of having Paris and the republic convinced that that is the best means of achieving an end which will satisfy the legitimate wishes of the French people we will propose to the National Assembly measures providing for the election by the National Guard of its own chiefs, and for the creation of a municipal council, to be elected by the suffrages of all the citizens. What is most wanted now is order in liberty and by liberty."

THE SITUATION IN VERSAILLES.

Versailles resembles a camp. The entire neighborhood is strategically occupied by troops. The prisoners of Metz and Sedan are offering their services to the government. The city is so crowded that many of the deputies to the Assembly are obliged to sleep in stables.

PRESS ATTACK ON M. THIERS.

The army journals declare that M. Thiers is the author of the troubles in Paris, and counsel the troops to self-government, firmness and tranquillity.

GENERAL INDIGNATION.

The indignities inflicted on General Chanzy, the many arbitrary arrests made, and the suspension of the Figaro and Gaulois have aroused general indignation.

A WISE PRECAUTION.

The bullion in the Bank of France has been removed to Versailles, and all unissued notes have been destroyed.

AN EYE TO BUSINESS.

The tradespeople of Versailles are discontented at the condition of affairs, and impatient for a decision from the National Assembly.

PRIVATE TELEGRAPHING STOPPED.

M. Combattes, in assuming the title of Director General of Telegraphs in France, orders the suspension of private telegraphing.

THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY.

PARIS TO BE DEALT WITH.

A committee was ordered to report measures for dealing with Paris, and an energetic resolution is expected to be returned at once and adopted.

PROPOSITION TO DECLARE A STATE OF SIEGE.

Yesterday M. Picard proposed as urgent the declaration of a state of siege in the departments of the Seine and Seine-et-Oise. To-day the Assembly adopted resolves providing for the appointment of a committee to consider the condition of France and the necessity of placing the departments above named in a state of siege.

M. GREVY ON THE INSURRECTION.

In the National Assembly to-day M. Grévy, President of the body, made a speech denouncing the insurrection in Paris.

A CONCILIATORY PLAN.

M. Clemenciau introduced a plan for the election of a municipal council, composed of eighty members, for the internal government of Paris, the urgency of which was voted by the Assembly. A plan for the election of commanders of the National Guards was introduced.

THE ASSASSINATIONS DENOUNCED.

Some deputies denounced the assassinations which have recently taken place and repudiated the course of the Paris deputies who have parleyed with the insurgents. MM. Louis Blanc, Trochu, Picard and Dufaure were the chief speakers.

GONE TO PARIS.

Several deputies have gone to Paris to demand the release of General Chanzy.

TROOPS GUARDING THE ASSEMBLY.

There are 20,000 troops of the line in the neighborhood of the Assembly Chamber.

ACTION OF THE ROUEN COUNCIL.

The Council of Rouen have voted an address to the government deploring the insurrection in Paris, asking that prompt measures be taken for its suppression, and promising their support. Copies of an insurrectionary proclamation have been seized in Rouen, and the distribution of inflammatory appeals is forbidden.

Cabinet Remembrances of the American War—The "Belligerent Rights" Recognition.

TELEGRAM TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

LONDON, March 21, 1871.

The members of the Gladstone Cabinet are looking anxiously to the state of England's relations with the United States, and carefully canvassing the probable result of the labors of the Joint High Commission in Washington and its international consequences.

I hasten to inform the readers of the HERALD by cable telegram that during the session of the House of Lords to-night Earl Granville denied that there was "any truth whatever in the statement ascribed to the Baron Von Gerolt that Russian influence alone prevented the national recognition of the Southern Confederacy during the war in the United States."

Earl Granville declared that "as a member of the Palmerston and the Russell Cabinets he could say that a proposition to recognize the South was never even entertained."

The Duke of Somerset confirmed Lord Granville's statement.

The Cotton Movement.

A treaty of peace has been signed with the Bey of Tunis.

WEATHER REPORT.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF THE CHIEF SIGNAL OFFICER,
WASHINGTON, D. C., March 21, 1871.

Synopsis for the Past Twenty-four Hours.

The area of lowest pressure, which was Monday night over Lake Ontario, has moved towards the east northeast, and is now off the coast of Maine. The heavy rains which have attended its progress have now entirely abated. Clearing up weather, with fresh and brisk northwest winds prevail in New York and the Eastern States. The pressure has been very low during Tuesday east of the Mississippi river, but is now rapidly recovering. The barometer is rising slowly in the southwest and northwest, with clear weather everywhere west and south of Pennsylvania. Increased temperature, with a local fall in barometer, is expected from Missouri and Southern Illinois. The pressure and temperature remain nearly stationary at the Rocky Mountain and Pacific stations.

Probabilities.

It is probable that on Wednesday clear weather and fresh or gentle winds will prevail south and west of Pennsylvania, and clearing up and partially cloudy weather, with fresh winds, on Lake Ontario and the east Atlantic.

THE GERMAN PARLIAMENT

Opening of the Legislative Session—Speech of the Emperor William.

His First Meeting With the Representatives—The "Glorious Struggle" and Its Accomplishments—National Finance—The Conquered Territory.

TELEGRAM TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

BERLIN, March 21, 1871.

The legislative session of the German Parliament was opened to-day after the adjournment.

The Emperor William presided in person on the throne and delivered the SPEECH.

The Emperor said:—

When I see the German Reichstag for the first time after the glorious but trying struggle which Germany has victoriously prosecuted for independence I am impelled first to give thanks to God for the historic successes with which he has blessed the faithful unity of the German allies, the heroism and discipline of the armies and the devotion of the people.

We have what our forefathers struggled for—the unity of Germany and the security of her frontiers. Our conviction of future unity was veiled; the ever present enthusiasm of the people rent the veil. When the Fatherland was threatened the nation unanimously rose in her defence and traced its firm will in indelible characters on the battlefields of France to remain a united people.

The spirit animating Germany pervades her culture and morals, and the constitution of her armies guards against the abuse of acquired power.

Independent Germany respects the independence of others.

This fiery ordeal of war through which we have passed is a reliable guarantee of European peace.

Powerful and self-reliant, Germany now bequeaths to you the regulation of her own affairs as a satisfactory heritage.

To the especial gratification of Germany, the Conference at London, in a peaceful spirit, has achieved the work of conciliation.

It is now the task of the Reichstag to heal wounds and to confirm the thanks of the Fatherland to those who have paid for victory with their blood and lives. Let the Reichstag co-operate with the government in the constitutional mission of perfecting laws for the welfare of the people.

The constitutional arrangements contemplated by the government involve the provisions of the separate treaties made in November with the Southern States, which will receive, in a new act to be submitted to the Reichstag, a better confirmation and a more harmonious rendering.

The amount to be contributed by each State toward the current expenses of the empire demands legal settlement, and sanction is to be given to the separate laws for Bavaria which will be introduced. The war indemnity will be disposed with your approval in conformity with the requirements of the empire. The just claims of the empire, on account of the expenses of the war, will be laid before you as soon as possible.

The position of the recovered territories renders necessary special legislation, which will be speedily brought to your attention.

Pensions for the soldiers and support for the widows and orphans of the war are to be provided for; and the measures to these ends should be made to apply to the whole empire, for all fought with equal devotion and deserve equal honor and reward.

May the re-establishment of the German empire be a promise of future greatness! May the war, fought so gloriously, be followed by an equally glorious peace, and our people henceforth prove victorious in the universal struggle for the fruits of peace!

Public Feeling Towards France.

BERLIN, March 21, 1871.

The North German Gazette says "if the Central Republican Committee in Paris intends to execute the treaty of peace Germany can quietly await the development of affairs in France."

THE AUSTRIAN PARLIAMENT

Tactics of the Opposition—The Policy Toward France—Government Exposition of the Neutral Principle.

TELEGRAM TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

PESTH, March 21, 1871.

Active efforts are being made by the leaders of the political opposition, both in and outside of the halls of Parliament, to make capital on the subject of the recent policy of the imperial government towards the belligerents in France.

The members of the Ministry remain very vigilant and are exceedingly dexterous in debate in consequence.

I am in a position which enables me to state by cable telegram to the HERALD that in the Austro-Hungarian Diet the government was attacked by the opposition for not intervening in favor of France during the negotiation of the preliminaries of peace.

Count Andrassy, in reply, defended the course of the government. In the course of his remarks the Premier said that "it was the care of the government for the real interests of the monarchy that prevented the use of its good offices between the belligerents. The government would only follow a war policy if the existence of the monarchy was threatened, and in such an event would develop a strength far beyond general expectation."

SMALLPOX IN BROOKLYN.

The Pestilence in Gowanus—A Physician Fined.

Although the smallpox is said to be on the decrease cases are occasionally discovered in all parts of the city. Five cases were discovered yesterday in a house in Forty-eighth street, near Eighth avenue. Two were adults and three were children, and they were promptly removed to the Flatbush Hospital, the premises cleaned in the most effective manner, and disinfected. These cases had existed for some time, but had been carefully concealed from the health authorities and from all others as far as was possible. They had been attended by a German physician, who, when questioned in regard to his visits in that neighborhood, made answer that he was treating the family for the measles. He was arrested, and, on being arraigned before Justice Walsh, fully convicted of the offence and fined fifty dollars. There are now in the Smallpox Hospital forty-eight cases, all of which are doing well; but few of the patients are retained more than from ten to fourteen days.

The Health Officer, with some of his men, examined the premises in Long Island City yesterday which have been shut up in consequence of the existence of smallpox. After a close inspection of all the inmates the house was thoroughly fumigated and the clothes of the sufferers burned. The only death that has occurred since the place was closed in was that of a child. The remaining twenty-one persons have almost completely recovered.

THE ST. DOMINGO COMMISSION.

Herald Special Report from Key West.

Wade's Report Finished—It Favors Annexation Excepting on the Points of Debt, Boundary and Grants.

Commissioners Going Home Overland.

TELEGRAMS TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

KEY WEST, March 21, 1871.

The United States steam frigate Tennessee, with the St. Domingo Commissioners on board, arrived here to-day, five days and six hours from Kingston. She will coal and start for home in about three days. The Commissioners and some of the party will probably go overland to Washington.

Mr. Wade has a report finished, to which Mr. Howe has agreed. The report is about two columns long. Mr. White wishes to add considerable to it, but may agree to it with a few amendments. The report is in the main favorable to annexation. The chief features deemed somewhat unfavorable are connected with the questions of debt, boundary and grants.

All on board the Tennessee, including the officers and crew of the ship, are in excellent health.

Reception of the News by President Grant.

WASHINGTON, March 21, 1871.

The telegram announcing the arrival of the Tennessee at Key West to-day was received at the Navy Department by Secretary Robeson at half-past three o'clock, and at once sent to the President, who received the news with much pleasure. It is expected the Tennessee will proceed at once to New York, and will probably reach there Sunday morning next.

Synopsis of the Commissioners' Report.

KEY WEST, March 21, 1871.

Commissioner Wade finished his report on Saturday last, and submitted it to his brother Commissioners on the following morning. It begins by detailing the work of the Commission, and goes on to describe the political condition of the country. Mr. Wade takes the ground that Baez is the de facto President of the republic, and that he is in full and peaceful possession of the government; that Cabral is a mere bandit, living in a mountain district, where he is sustained by Hayti. The people of St. Domingo, Mr. Wade says, are overwhelmingly in favor of annexation. They are described as a quiet, orderly, industrious race. The charges of corruption against United States officers in the negotiation of the treaty of 1869 are branded as villanous slanders, without a shadow of foundation. The report, which is favorable to annexation in every particular, closes with the remark that "to embrace this opportunity to plant our republican institutions and establish civil liberty and American civilization upon that beautiful and productive island, thus laying the groundwork of a great, free and prosperous State, would add another to the achievements of our republic worthy to rank with the great events of our history, and would be equally beneficial to the people of both countries."

Dr. Howe endorses Mr. Wade's report in every essential particular. At the various meetings which have been held during the last forty-eight hours the subject has been thoroughly discussed.

Mr. White objects to the closing paragraph of the report; but Mr. Wade is firm in his determination that it shall not be stricken out, and Dr. Howe fully agrees with him and will sign it. Mr. White is writing some ideas of his own, principally historical, which he wishes to insert in the report, and which if inserted will not materially alter it. The probabilities are that White will finally agree to the latter clause, and that the report will be unanimous. The report as it stands now is about four columns in length.

SPRING OPENINGS AND STYLES.

What Toilet Worshippers Can See To-Day.

Bewildering Varieties and Irresistible Temptations—Taste Predominant and American Ladies Choosing for Themselves—Flight of the Fickle Goddess from Paris to New York—What to Wear and How to Wear It.

Opening day in New York among the modistes is as uncertain and fickle as the deity they worship. The greater number throw open their treasures of fashion to the public to-day and to-morrow, and many others, even among the leading houses, defer the great event until April. However, from the 20th of March until the 15th of April scarcely a day will elapse without a grand opening taking place at some modiste's establishment. Since the occurrence of the sad events in France, which not only dethroned the Bonaparte dynasty, but also the empire of fashion, modistes have been at a loss to know where the chameleon goddess would next set up her headquarters. A colony of Parisian modistes has been temporarily established at Brussels, waiting, likely, a favorable opportunity to go back to the once gay capital, now in the hands of the sans culottes and long a stranger to fashion and gayety. Meanwhile a strong movement is being made to establish here permanently a temple of fashion, from which American ladies can dictate to their sisters across the ocean. London has already recognized this temple, as the fashion magazines of that metropolis borrow all their plates and styles from New York. Regarding the origin of the following facts will be found interesting:—

When Henry III. of France could think of nothing more amusing than to crimp and scorch his collars or to curl his wife's and sister's hair, and when Francis I. loaded his minions with every luxury that woman could invent, there were no French fashions then. Every country had a fashion of its own, and the Burgundians, Lorrainers, Alsatians and Italians were, in turn, models for courts to imitate. Even the Scotch costume gained considerable favor at one time; that was when Mary Queen of Scots appeared in her beauty at the French Galas, dressed in a costume partly Scotch and partly Burgundian.

THE FIRST FASHION DICTATORS.

Two ladies, however, soon appeared, who raised French fashions to a height prophetic of its later glory. These were the two daughters of Catharine of Médicis, Marguerite, Queen of Navarre, and Elizabeth, afterward the luckless wife of Philip II., King of Spain—a lady whom Schiller has immortalized in his "Don Carlos."

Marguerite, whose imagination seems only second to her beauty, is said to have invented a new costume for every entertainment at which she appeared, and it is stated that each different costume was a perfect wonder for taste and richness; added to this, her own beauty was so marvellous, that Brantome, the fashionable chronicler of the time writes, in his exaggerated style, that all the goddesses of Olympus were as nothing when compared to her. It soon, therefore, became the fashion for the court ladies to copy Marguerite as minutely as possible, both in style and dress.

Elizabeth, the second lady above alluded to, was also a lover of admiration and change. She is said never to have worn the same dress twice, though each one must have cost a little fortune to her doting spouse.

Fashions, we may say, were invented by these Médicis princesses, who subsequently made politics subservient to their fashions. For instance, it was at a flower feast given by Catherine de Médicis on an impromptu fairy island that the Massacre of St. Bartholomew was planned; it was there also that many of our modern dances were introduced, and since then fashions and politics have gone hand in hand in France.

But the real sway which Paris fashions have held till now began with Anne of Austria, who was one of the vainest women of her day, and lived in the greatest horror of looking old; and who, consequently, adopted a style of dress as juvenile as possible, which ladies of all ages were nothing loath to imitate. In the reign of Louis XIV. began bows, buckles, lace, frills, collars and cravats—fashions which were faithfully copied by other courts, especially by Charles of England and his ladies.

OUR GIRLS.

Surely the ladies can have no right to complain this season at the display of styles offered for their admiring gaze and approbation; for the designs are so varied and numerous that it is almost impossible for a casual observer to decide what is exactly à la mode. Every variety of dress, short or long, plain or excessively trimmed, garniture contrasting, exactly matching, or en camaïeu, is fashionably worn, provided it be elegant and, above all, bien porté; that is the main point. To the grande dame it matters little whether her toilet be completed by a sweeping manteau de cour or a tunic tucked up in peasant style, for she will carry each with equal dignity and grace; but the grandes dames are the exceptions to the general rule, and it behooves most ladies to study their own particular style and figure before deciding what shall be their individual fashion for the season, and, indeed, for all seasons. In this every lady needs the assistance of the superior judgment and experience of her dressmaker; and after the decision is arrived at as to the general style the details may safely be left to the modiste, who, to fill her position properly, should be an artist in the fullest sense of the term. Who else could so gracefully arrange the antique drapery which imparts the desired chic to the costumes of the present season? Most of the casaques and tunics now worn have this distinguishing feature, and are more or less bouffant in the back, according to the peculiar fancy of the wearer. The newest casaques are made with vests either pointed or square, or with the trimming arranged to simulate one. A very becoming style to has a draped apron falling from underneath short, basque-shaped fronts, either long or short according to fancy, the short one in contrast with the exceedingly long back being the most stylish. These casaques in most cases reach nearly to the edge of the skirt and invariably overlap the garniture in the back.

CASHMERE COSTUMES

are the style par excellence for spring wear, and are usually made with a casaque excessively draped, to be worn over a jupe de soie, generally black. One novelty which bids fair to establish its popularity is walking costumes in two contrasting colors. These are very becoming for young ladies, leaving the costumes en camaïeux and the more sober-tinted toilets for their elder sisters and mammas. The finest combinations are havane, with light blue, light green, with lilac, gray with blue, ruby or coral color; or, if darker colors are preferred, violet and slate, brown and dark blue, or violet and bronze. These costumes should be completed by a jaunty gipsey bonnet of English straw, trimmed with gros grain ribbon matching the most prononcé color in the dress.

WHITE AND BLACK TOILETS,

which have achieved so much popularity, have become the occasion for numerous fanciful devices, as simple as they are distingué. An elegant one, recently designed and completed for a Southern lady, was in rich black gros grain, the demi-train skirt bordered by a deep flounce, box-plaited in sections, simply hemmed on the bottom, with the upper part cut in broad squares, outlined by shell puffings of the silk as a heading. The spaces were ornamented by handsome gros grain bows, made double and fringed deeply on the ends. The graceful overskirt, of an entirely new design, happily christened the "Henriquez," was bordered with a ruffle of white silk, fringed on the edge, over which was disposed rich Chantilly lace, the fleecy fringe falling just enough below to produce the most charming effect. This was open in front, a complicated arrangement underneath of tapes and buttons producing a most charmingly bouffant appearance in the back, and drawing the fronts apart. The jaunty postilion waist was trimmed to correspond, the front arranged as a vest and the sleeves in the Duchesse style. Black and white lace, artistically arranged, is also a most recherché garniture on brown.

Spring costumes, proper, do not make their appearance before Easter, when we may expect to see many fresh novelties which have been in preparation during the penitential season of Lent, our Ulysses, meanwhile, being condemned by fashion to appear in sombre black. Not that many of the costumes are very penitential in appearance, but on the contrary quite coquettish and as becoming as possible.

MATERIALS AND SHADES.

At the openings this week some very attractive spring goods are shown. The variety is extensive and embraces every grade of material suited to every purse. As costumes in suits every year increase in favor the market is filled, as a matter of course, with every kind of goods suited to street wear. Many new shades have been introduced in different fabrics, and in the better quality of goods it would seem as if the art of coloring had been carried as near perfection as possible. The new shades of tan, called by some "fresh-tan," by others "cameo," run through the whole scale of tints from the palest ecru to a deep golden brown, and are most effectively used in costumes and trimmings. The most lovely shades of lilac and green and violet appear in materials for home and evening dresses, each color fading at one extreme to a pale tint, and deepening at the other to gorgeousness.

Among the more desirable new goods shown are foulards, in all the delicate tints, at $1 35 per yard; silk pongees, even and lustrous and "unwearoutable," at $2 25; serge foulards in all shades, at $1 50; foulards, with chintz figures or plain grounds, at $1 50. These chintz-figured foulards are charming goods and a novelty. A foulard imprimé in India patterns reminds one of the figures are so quaint. Some exquisite gros grains are shown in the light shades—dove, lavender, rose, seagreen, salmon, coral and pale blue. Black gros grains in great variety are seen, some brands of fair quality being obtainable at two dollars per yard. All silk dress satins of every color appear this spring.

In fancy silks, checks and stripes are shown at as low a figure as seventy-five cents. From these they range to two dollars, embracing a great variety of styles—gray grounds, with black stripes, predominating. These pretty silks are made up with fringed ruchings and are very popular with misses and very young ladies.

There are no decided changes in the make-up of street costumes. The is still worn, and some of the new silks shown have the slashed jacket. A polonaise, with full tournure and basque effect, seems to be the favorite outside garment, and is very convenient, as it combines overskirt and wrap. The sensible fashion of wearing street dresses short enough to clear the pavement seems likely to be left to sensible people, the other class already appearing in skirts of just the right length to collect the accumulated filth of New York streets. Most of the suits made this spring are long enough to sweep as the wearer walks, producing an effect which is very graceful for about two minutes after said wearer leaves her drawing room carpet.

FLOUNCES ARE STILL IN FAVOR,

and ruffles also, both often appearing on the same skirts. Hatbands are much used for headings, many overskirts and jackets having a plain band at the edge with fringe. Fringe is in high favor and appears on many handsome suits. Lace is also freely used. Flowing sleeves are indispensable to all outside garments.

Charming cloth jackets in the new tan shades are shown for spring wraps. They are mostly in two shades and trimmed with fringe.

THE MILLINERY OPENINGS

are attractive—as they cannot well help being—so many fresh and dainty materials being combined in the bonnets and hats on exhibition. Crisp ribbons, delicate lace, enticing gypsy straws, and whole gardens full of flowers, wait to beguile the unwary. Let no woman go to a millinery opening with money in her pocket, unless she needs a bonnet. No daughter of Eve could resist such temptations as New York milliners bring to the admiring feminine public. The shapes are not decidedly different, the saucy gypsy being the favorite still, its brim rolled a little more defiantly than last winter. In some houses the bonnet par excellence appears with the long corners and genuine crowns that used to distinguish all bonnets. Face trimmings, after the old style appear again in connection with these old friends. Gros grain ribbon, crepe de chene, gauze ribbon, thread lace, flowers and feathers appear as trimmings.

Round hats are very high in the crown, with shallow brims, and are trimmed high. Flowers of all kinds and lovely colors and shapes appear in profusion, trailing sprays being in especial favor.

A DISPLAY

of spring fashions are to be given this week at the following houses:—Mme. Demorest's, Mme. Railing's, Kinzey's, Miss Power's, A. T. Stewart's, Arnold & Constable's, Lord & Taylor's, Mme. Duval's, E. Mather & Co.'s, George Sloane's, Mme. Hartley's, Thompson & Co.'s and Terry, Broadway; M. Harris and Mme. Galoupeau, Brevoort place; Miss C. M. Olney, Fourteenth street; Mrs. Levins, University place; Mme. Finero, Lafayette place; Miss Maginn, Fulton street, Brooklyn; S. T. Taylor, Clinton place, and Mme. Natalie Tilman & Co., Ninth street.

Mlle. Power, who is sandwiched between Lord & Taylor and Arnold & Constable, has some exquisite hats on exhibition. One is a white chip gypsy, which can hardly be called strictly a bonnet or round hat, as it partakes of many of the qualities of either. The inevitable coronet sets off the front of this hat. The trimming is thread lace, falling in tabs over the chignon, coils, plaits, or whatever the rear coiffure may consist of. Over this lace is a handsome ostrich tip, a perfect novelty and gem in its artistic arrangement, from which droops an exquisite "frou frou" fringe of the same shade. A little pink bow nestles in front of this hat, which has been aptly named after one of the most bewitching prime donne in Europe,

ILMA DI MURSKA.

Another hat was of peach blossom corded silk, yclept Viola, a sort of semi-gypsy shape, trimmed with folds and ruching of the same material. A heavy willow feather of corresponding shade hung over this gem of a hat, and the face trimmings were in folds to correspond. It was designed for a bride, and even the Marquise of Lorn, who was married yesterday, might not be ashamed to wear it.

A YOUNG MISS

had here a charming round hat of white chip, gypsy shape, of course, ornamented with a deep trimming of black thread lace. Marie Louise blue silk encircled the crown and fell gracefully behind. On the right side a bunch of daisies budded forth from a rosette of lace.

An equestrienne hat of white split straw, very wide at that, and bound with black velvet and thread lace, had rows of wheat on the crown, a drooping paradise aigrette, a long, black lace veil falling behind and a bow to correspond at the side.

Miss C. M. Olney, Fourteenth street, exhibited a choice assortment of round hats and bonnets. One of the former is a gypsy Leghorn, supporting a very heavy white ostrich feather and cunningly arranged folds of white crêpe and silk. Inside the crown are edgings of white and black thread lace. Another round hat, of similar shape and materials, is trimmed with brown velvet and buff ribbon in folds, while in front one of the handsomest ostrich tips, fanlike in appearance, and a paradise feather, secured by a plain jet anchor, sets it off to the best possible advantage.

Shades of our remote progenitors! here is a genuine

for the country, we suppose, with a double row of black and white thread lace as inside trimming, a buff ostrich tip and long strings to correspond. A round hat for ladies, not yet was encircled by a gaze de chine scarf, edged with a black and white thread lace and trimmed ostentatiously with a band of black velvet. Pink piping inside, a heavy montare, pink roses and a long trail of foliage completed the tout ensemble of this hat.

Among the bonnets was a chip gypsy (nothing else nowadays), with Nile green trimmings, falling in double loops behind, and finished with an ostrich tip and handsome tea rose. The face trimming consisted of a double puffing of silk to match and a ruching of narrow black thread lace. A Leghorn bonnet had a plaited curtain and was trimmed with buff ribbon and very artistic foliage. An English straw bonnet is very peculiarly trimmed with brown over pink, the scarf passing into the crown, and a face coronet of puffings of rose-colored silk, with a narrow ruching of lace.

At Mme. Natalie Tilman's, Ninth street, a crowd of the fair sex were gazing in admiration on a Belgian straw bonnet, trimmed with olive green gaze de Chine. The scarf was twisted gracefully with Turkish silk, and a rose and trailing foliage ornamented the crown. The face trimming consisted of a band of Turkish silk, around which was wound folds of olive gaze de Chine. Strings of the same passed through the straw and fell in long ends.

ENGLISH AND NEAPOLITAN STRAW, mixed in the most ingenious manner, has become a favorite material for bonnets. One which we saw here was bound with Turquoise velvet and trimmed with gaze de Chine, a softer and more becoming material, by the way, than the crêpe of the last season. This formed a very heavy scarf, edged with black thread lace, falling on the right as a string, which can be passed under the chin and caught on the left side. A résille on the crown, a Seville bow and Marguerite foliage completed this very handsome hat.

A round hat called Charlotte Corday, of mixed straw also, had a tulle crown forming a cosey nest for a humming bird, a scarf of gaze de Chine passing over the crown and falling behind in the heavy fold, tied with a rose-colored bow, folds of the same being laid over the crown. A turban, oval shaped, round hat, of the same material, had a chestnut scarf edged with chantilly lace and a scarlet rose on the side.

A PRIMA DONNA'S TOILET, made for Miss Niniluger, at the same house, attracted much attention. It was an evening robe of white gros grain, with a deep flounce of silk to match, edged with puffings and heavy ruchings of tulle, which gave it a soft and very pretty effect. A tunic of tulle was looped up with rich bouquets of pond lilies. On the bottom of the trail were scattered a few of these lilies, giving an effect as if they had just dropped from the rich bouquets on the tunic. The waist was Pompadour, deeply pointed and edged with point d'Angleterre.

Terry, Union square, exhibited the following styles:—A Leghorn hat, trimmed with long white ostrich plume, set in white pompon in front and streamers of white gros grain ribbon. A gypsy hat of white chip, trimmed with pink velvet and thread lace, two ostrich tips falling over the crown, set in a rich pink rose and buds at the side. A very pretty and becoming hat for young ladies.

of white chip, trimmed with lavender royal velvet, a scarf of dotted thread lace, caught in the back with bows of gros grain ribbon falling in long streamers; a white ostrich tip, with an elegant spray of pink moss, complete the trimming of this handsome hat. In the Lolonska hat of English milan the brim droops in front and rolls up high behind. The trimming is composed of velvet and gros grain ribbon, set on the top of the crown and falling in long streamers, with a French rose in front. The Edina hat of white chip has a brim rolling at the sides and trimmed in scarlet velvet and black thread lace, with a long ostrich plume. This is a very elegant hat for both ladies and misses, and beautiful for carriage or evening dress.

M. Harris opens some elegant bonnets and dresses. The display of robes and suits is very fine at this establishment, and some new and beautiful styles are seen here. A street costume of café au lait silk has a deep flounce at bottom of skirt, faced with a paler shade, and headed with a broad puff with a narrow frill at each edge, the frills faced with the paler silk. The Polonaise has a square skirt at back, trimmed with bias folds of the dark silk edged with light, lengthwise, from the waist to the bottom, the folds set an inch or two apart. The Polonaise is trimmed entire with black lace at bottom and edge of sleeves, and revers fronts.

has a ruffle at the bottom of the skirt, with a puffed flounce above, headed with bias bands; the short overskirt is trimmed with a bias band and knotted fringe. The slashed jacket is trimmed with bias band and fringe, the heart-shaped neck, and flowing sleeves to match.

An elegant costume is composed of a royal purple silk skirt with ruffled flounce, headed with frills and ornamented with rosettes with fringed ends. Over this is worn a black silk Polonaise richly trimmed with thread lace and black velvet, the back of the Polonaise skirt being composed of strips of lace and silk alternating with velvet revers.

In the millinery department a leghorn gypsy, trimmed with buff ribbon, feathers and black thread lace, makes one want to buy it immediately. A Pompadour shape of English split straw, faced with rose-colored silk, and trimmed with rose silk, thread lace and white ostrich tips, is as lovely a bonnet as one could imagine.

At Arnold, Constable & Co.'s, Broadway, we saw some

DRESS GOODS FABRICS.

There is much less novelty in dress goods than usual, owing to the difficulty of getting French goods. The leading goods this season seem to have a Japanese tinge to them. For instance, we have the Japanese silks, composed of silk and linen, very glossy, and in the same patterns as French silks. We also have new fabrics in Japanese foulards, crepe de chine, serge, &c., &c., in silk and wool. These goods are principally in buff and light drab shades. In silks there is nothing positively new, and here again we feel the French pressure. Plain colors for dinner, black and white, black and steel and plain black for street. Among the suits we saw one of French twill muslin, trimmed with a deep box plaited flounce; Vandykes of embroidery, insertings of appliqué on flounce and headed with inserting bands; deep overskirt, looped at the back; half-fitting sacque, slashed up the back and sides, trimming to match.

ANOTHER SUIT OF VICTORIA LAWN, trimmed with a band round the bottom of skirt, formed of puffs and diagonal tucks; overskirt, open front, looped up on the back; tight-fitting basque and flowing sleeves.

Mme. Demorest displayed some very handsome

DRESSES.

The most strikingly stylish designs for house and street basques, which are shown in the paper models at this house, are made up in the material also. Among them we notice the handsome "Agnita," than which nothing more elegant can be desired to complete a costume de promenade, and the "Scotia," the garment comme il faut for a home dress, with a plain demi-train skirt. The "Celeste" overskirt divides the honors with the "Henriquez" and "Arab," and the "Nilsson" basque will surely be the reigning favorite, following in the footsteps of its illustrious namesake.

The "Norwood" suit, shown in the paper design, is duplicated in a handsome pongee, a delicate wood color shading on leaf brown, of which latter color, in poult de soie, are the bindings, trimming folds and lower flounce. This flounce is of a medium width, kilt pleated, and partially concealed by a second flounce of the material, describing decided points on the edge, finished with a silk fold. Above is a pleating confined by a silken fold, and surmounted with a narrow standing ruffle bound with silk. The trimming on the overskirt, with its short draped apron, corresponds, and is in unison with that on the stylish jacket, which completes this costume de promenade.

A LOVELY HAT,

christened "Marguerite," is an exquisitely fine and richly colored Leghorn, the crown rather high and perfectly flat on the top, the brim, just the proper width to be becoming, indented at the sides, thus imparting a most coquettish air to the front, causing it to sit up from the forehead like the charming hats we see in old-time pictures of reapers. But the trimming! Was there ever a lovelier ciel blue than the broad gros grain ribbon that encircles the crown in graceful rouleaux, and falls so negligently in three broad streamers over the back? Forming a diadème in front, and peeping from among the blue rouleaux, are great white Marguerites, with yellow hearts. The effect is perfect, and nothing more becoming for a blonde could be desired.

Then there were hats in substantial English Dunstable: one most appropriately trimmed with trailing vines of ivy and a black lace veil; a charming hat for elegant country wear in fine Leghorn, with its broad, drooping brim, full blown roses in foliage, and a long lace veil gracefully adorning it; bonnets en camaïeu to complete costumes; and we must not forget the crêpe bonnets, especially the one in écru and brown, intended to complete the costume, in the same colors elsewhere described.

The new shade of green was displayed charmingly on a snowy white chip, a gypsy, the front turned up like the "emigré" of last season, and faced with a puffing of green gros grain ribbon, the rest of the garniture consisting of graceful loops of ribbon, a spray of roses, with mottled leaves reposing languidly on the back, long garlands drooping over the back, intertwined with the fringed streamers, and a tuft of delicate white lace on the crown, confined by a dew-bespangled spray of buds, springing from the roses on the sides.

For negligée there is an appropriate hat in brown Dunstable, the front a turban shape and the back extending in a broad brim over the chatelaine braids which is the coiffure à la mode for morning wear. The trimming consists of brown velvet, gros grain ribbon of the same shade—the difference in the three different materials causing an apparent difference in the shades—and yellow wheat heads intermingled with the gros grain loops, and peeking up in the back from a cluster of brown ostrich tips. Over the back falls a long black lace veil, which is intended for use as well as ornament.

Odors of lilacs and spring flowers are invoked by the coquettish little gypsy in pure white chip, the garniture an indescribable mélange of soft white lace, delicate lilac gros grain ribbon—the old favorite lilac, not mauve or lavender—and drooping sprays of lilies of the valley falling as gracefully as those in their native nooks. This chapeau possesses the triune elements of cape, crown and border, but is so lovely withal that it almost seems as if half its beauty were lost if it were to receive the dignified name of bonnet.

At Madame Ferrero's opening some elegant new styles are displayed. The bonnets at this establishment approach the forgotten type of crowns, and corners and face trimmings such as the ancients wore is here revived.

A faille bonnet of the lovely green called vert pecheur, is trimmed with white blonde and tea roses; broad strings of bias faille are trimmed at the ends with blonde; a band of faille, with cluster of tea roses, forms the inside trimming.

A Belgian straw of exquisite fineness is trimmed with three shades of tan-colored gros grain and ostrich tips, with rosebuds.

A tan-colored chip, with faille loops to match, ostrich tips, black thread lace and roses is charming enough for the most charming of faces.

A round hat, made for some pretty head, has a high crown and shallow brim; it is trimmed with tan faille and lilies nestling in grass, with a spray drooping from the back. A Clotilde shape is trimmed with different shades of tan colored China crêpe folded around the crown. The brim is faced with crêpe, and tab ends, trimmed with fringe, float from the back; roses and leaves finish this dainty hat.

Madame Ferrero exhibits some pretty shapes for children. Among others the "Lorn" is very attractive.

A seaside of leghorn, shown here, is suggestive of summer days and watering place retreats. It is prettily trimmed with buff ribbon, thread lace and roses and leaves.

At Madame Galoupeau's many beautiful bonnets and round hats called forth exclamations of delight from the ladies, young and old, who flutter among them, trying on this and admiring that, wishing certain loves of hats didn't cost so much, or that papa's purse was longer or husband wasn't so careful of his money. It is, indeed, tantalizing to a lovely young thing to see a bewitching gypsy, that would be so becoming, put back in its place, reserved for a more fortunate customer, just for the lack of a little of that miserable trash called money.

A distingué bonnet shown at this establishment is of English split straw, with a crescent-shaped coronet, faced with black velvet. The trimming was of black gros grain ribbon and black thread lace. Lilies of the valley and English ivy leaves were clustered at the top.

A white chip Pompadour was trimmed with white Milan and black thread lace falling from the back; the revers front is faced with lilac silk; a rose of Nile green, with lovely buds, and long strings of lilac gros grain, complete a very charming bonnet, marked only sixty dollars.

Two shades of Frou-Frou color, one in gauze ribbon, the other in gros grain, are used effectively for a chip gypsy. The ribbons are knotted round the crown and both are used in long double strings. Under the rolling brim, deep brown velvet is mixed with the gauze in a full ruching; autumn leaves cluster at the top and fall in a spray from the side.

A leghorn of Marie Antoinette shape is trimmed with buff ribbon, tea roses and black thread lace, the rich lace falling in a veil from the back. Nothing could be prettier than this combination.

Lord & Taylor opened an elegant assortment of spring goods at their splendid new uptown store. Complete lines of fancy silks, in checks and stripes, from seventy-five cents to two dollars, are shown, and black silks, from two dollars to the lustrous bonnet at eleven dollars. Foulards, pongees, silk serges and a variety of novelties in the new spring colors are displayed at this establishment. The suit department comprises a great number of elegant imported costumes. A dress of Leontine, of café au lait color, has a ruffle at the bottom, laid in box pleatings and headed with a bias fold of rich brown velvet. The skirt, which is made to train slightly, is faced with crinoline, and the ruffle is lined with crinoline and tacked at the lower edge to the skirt. Two rows of the pleated ruffling above the lower ruffle at the back, finishing at the front seams, has the effect of a long overskirt. These ruffles are headed with the velvet bands, and the short overskirt and basque with large flowing sleeves is trimmed to match.

A white mohair has the skirt trimmed with seven narrow ruffles bound with scarlet mohair. A Polonaise, with basque effect and full tournure at the back and flowing sleeves, is trimmed to match.

A magnificent black silk is made with train; the bottom of the skirt at the back is finished in deep scallops, which run up the side to the waist; at the front a scalloped flounce finishes the skirt; two ruffles run around the back of the skirt, and bows with fringed ends complete the trimming.

A drab mohair has the skirt trimmed with two rows of side pleatings, bound with black and headed with bias folds, corded at each edge with black, the bands covered with tiny bows, put on at short intervals; an overskirt and slashed jacket with flowing sleeves completes the suit.

A. T. Stewart displays a large assortment of elegant millinery, some graceful English shapes appearing here that are not seen elsewhere.

A white chip has a crescent-shaped coronet, faced with black gros grain. White ribbon and black thread lace form strings, and floating ends at the back; roses are wreathed at the top and a spray of rosebuds droops to the shoulders.

A chip turban, with very high crown and shallow brim, has a long white ostrich feather covering the crown; white ribbon and black thread lace finish the trimming. The effect is charming.

A brown straw is trimmed with ruchings of brown silk, brown grenadine, knotted at the back, with floating ends; a pleating of grenadine encircles the inside edge of the brim and a wreath of small roses encircles the crown at the top—the prettiest hat imaginable.

A chip gipsy is trimmed with dove-colored crape de Chine and golden brown satin, with shaded ostrich tips.

A gypsy of white chip has the brim faced with blue silk; a water lily, with leaves and black thread lace, forms the trimming.

are indispensable to an elegant toilet, and are by no means as easily decided upon in matters of taste as many imagine. Martin, Herz & Co. and Harris Brothers, Broadway, are the principal importers in this article of toilet. From the former we learn the following:—The newest shades of kid gloves for the present are all the shades in drabs, browns and orange. The marquise kid gloves, with one button, as worn by the ladies of the German royal court at Berlin, are in great favor and demand, but the marguerites are still more popular. The late war has stimulated the German manufacturers greatly, and increased the kid glove trade in this country, so that the celebrated gloves coming from Vienna and other parts of Europe are ordered in large consignments. Three brands—Herz's seamless, marguerites and marquise—will be in great demand next season, as they were worn at all parties last season already, as well here as in Europe.

Harris Brothers say that gloves are an expensive item in the toilet and have been steadily growing more so since the beginning of the war in Europe. French kid gloves are scarce, and consequently high, and the opportunity is now offered for home manufacturers to reap the benefit of the "ill wind." Meanwhile fashions for gloves have changed but little. The styles for street toilet are the favorite two-button glove, with welted wristband or a scolloped straight frill, and a longer glove without a seam at the wrist—a fashion which makes any hand appear slender, and should therefore be adopted by ladies with short, thick hands, and eschewed by those with bird-like ones, who should, spite of fashion, wear the single button glove and glove bracelets. The color must still match the costume. In the case of a costume en camaïeu, the lighter shade should be used. Of course the above rule may be modified in the case of a prononcé color, blue or green, for instance, but these colors are seldom chosen for the street, excepting for carriage wear, and then good taste will dictate the most appropriate tints. For ceremonious visiting and carriage toilets light gloves are de rigueur. Lavender has given place to the old, beautiful lilac, which is a favorite color. For evening toilet gloves are worn of a slightly deeper tint than last season. Delicate flesh-like tints are the favorites, and have entirely done away with the chalk-white gloves, which contrast so unfavorably with any arms less white than alabaster. White gloves stitched with black are for mourning full dress. High gloves still continue to be worn, and, with sleeves reaching to the elbows, almost hide the arm. A pretty arm is something to be admired, besides being a rarity, and it is a pity that it should be hidden.

Some of the most recherché representatives of Dame Fashion inform us that they will not be able to put their houses in order and arrange all their spring novelties for a week or two to come. But if the weather is fine to-day Broadway and its tributaries will present a sight such as is seen only on opening day.

HEAVY WET.

Jupiter Pluvius' Libation to the Vernal Equinox.

The coming of the vernal equinox has signalized itself this year by its time-honored deluge. On Monday evening, toward sunset, the sky became overcast and a light, low wind lifted the dust.

"Rain, heavy rain, to-night, sure," was the prophecy of an old farmer-faced and country-clad individual in City Hall Park, as he grasped the wide brim of his nap-covered wide-awake. Night came on and the moment of the equinox approached, but Jupiter Pluvius could not wait. At eight o'clock he whispered Aquarius, who nodded his head and shook his hair. As a consequence a slight shower sprinkled itself over homeward-bound Gotham. It was too long to wait until midnight, and about nine o'clock, he, the pluvial Jupiter, opened the floodgates, and Gotham was drenched to the skin. It is not enough to say that humanity suffered, for the human species "makes a break" on such occasions for some shelter or other. Man may hide his diminished head, but the work of his genius, in the shape of one and a half brick three story houses cannot. The trees, mournful and dripping, with their naked arms lifted pleadingly to the darkened skies, soughed and groaned "with the outward melody of an inward agony." It was a melancholy sight for the wayfarer as the night wore on. The face of nature, swept over with the frown of a storm, forces back the soul on itself in a consciousness of awful sublimity; but the night-wrapped streets of a sleeping city, desolate of man's presence, and drowsily listening to the mournful monody of the rain drops strike one with a sense of an unuttered sadness. Yet they were not all bereft of humanity or what seemed human. If one could wrap himself in material impermeable to rain and pass along the thoroughfares, he might discern crouched in some hallway, or under the half shelter of a wagon, some wretch whose sense of the wet world without was lulled in the temporary oblivion of slumber, or whose bleared eyes gazed stolidly upon the rain as though he were counting the lagging minutes to the diapason of the storm.

The Rain Storm in Brooklyn.

Two brown stone front buildings in a row of nine of four stories in height, on Tompkins avenue, near Macon, came down in a heap about eight o'clock yesterday morning. The heavy rain storm during Tuesday night and yesterday morning had undermined the foundation and caused the accident. These buildings were in course of erection, were enclosed and nearly completed. They were owned by Mr. W. H. Hall, who estimates his loss at upwards of $10,000. It was reported at the time that two laborers were in the buildings and had been buried in the ruins, which naturally caused great excitement. Men went to work vigorously to remove the débris in order to get them out, but the missing men appeared before much progress had been made. It being a damp morning they had concluded to go round the corner in order to get a little something with nutmeg in it, and during their absence the buildings had fallen.

Considerable damage was done by the storm in South Brooklyn and Gowanus, foundations being inundated and washed away. Portions of newly made streets were washed away, and the water in some of the cellars was deep enough this morning to sail a boat in.

MAN NEITHER MONKEY NOR ANGEL.

The fourth lecture in the course in aid of St. Matthias' Free Protestant Episcopal church, in Forty-second street, near Seventh avenue, was given last evening in the hall of Rutgers College, Fifth avenue, near Forty-second street, by N. Ellsworth Cornwall. The lecture was delivered in verse, and was amusing, as well as instructive and interesting. Darwin's theory of development was presented in a ludicrous light, and the audience were asked who should care to preserve the family tree if an ape or a monkey is to be found on every limb? Man was traced from infancy to old age, and his foibles and follies, as well as his grand and noble deeds, portrayed; but the evidence in every age is that Men do choose the downward pathway broad,

And make mammon and pleasure their God.

If a created thing did ever set out to produce a race higher and better than itself 'tis a pity that its name is not known, so that a monument might be raised thereto. The idolatrous worship of the ancients of animals, fishes, &c., was humorously cited as a probable evidence of respect for our grandfathers:—

In this we must be all content
In apes to recognize our descent.

Treating man morally, the lecturer recited the old story of the fall:—

Woman sinned first; therefore she's the worst;
But this must be said, that man soon overtook her and still keeps ahead.
The high oppress the low; the strong the weak;
And each his own, not other's, good doth seek.

Several excellent hits were made at the fashionable follies of the day, which were received with applause by the audience. The lecturer closed with a good and earnest application and exhortation to seek the better life.

A LENTEN SERVICE.

Lecture at St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church by the Rev. Father Woods.

A Lenten service was held last evening at St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church, which was attended by a large congregation. The altar was lighted up with many tapers, and though the ceremonies were simple they were very impressive. The pulpit was placed in front of the sanctuary, and from there the Rev. Father Clancey recited the Rosary, the responses being given by the congregation. The Rosary concluded, the Rev. Father Woods, of Morrisania, ascended the pulpit and preached an eloquent discourse, taking as his text the beautiful story of the prodigal son. The preacher told the parable in his own language, which was an elaboration of the Gospel, and then proceeded to draw the usual inferences. The merciful reception of the son by the father was likened to the merciful manner in which God receives the supplications of the unfortunate sinner, who, having been wandering away from the path of virtue and plunged in the abysses of a life of wickedness, grows weary of the baneful associations and penitently returns to the good ways of his early life. The Lenten season was especially the time for a return to God, and the preacher urged that to every one present God was then giving an especial call. After the lecture benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was given by the Rev. Father Clancey. During the service some fine singing was rendered by the choir, under the direction of Mr. Martinez, the organist. Cherubini's Veni Creator was sung by all the choir; the Ave Verum (by Mercadante) was rendered by Madame Anna Martinez, Miss Kate Dean and Mr. Eamer; a Pantum Ergo solo by Antonio Barioli was sung by Miss Kate

THE DETHRONED DYNASTY.

Napoleon's Sentiments Before Leaving Wilhelmshohe.

THE SOVEREIGNTY OF THE PEOPLE.

Battle for the Possession of the French Throne.

AUTHENTIC REVELATION

Petition of the Imprisoned Army in Germany.

NAPOLEON'S STATE OF HEALTH.

WILHELMSHOHE, Feb. 28, 1871.

Nearly four months have gone by since I arrived at this out-of-the-way place for the purpose of keeping you posted on all and everything connected with the imperial prisoner, the ex-monarch of France, without whose presence here the castle and environs of Wilhelmshöhe would not have ranked higher in importance than any country crossroad out in the West. When early in November your correspondent commenced the task assigned to him by interviewing his Majesty, questioning and cross-examining him on matters which have not failed to interest the American, and in their turn even the people of the Continent, he barely supposed that it would become his duty to breathe for four long months not only the Siberian atmosphere that has prevailed in this elevated region, but also the peculiar atmosphere of intensely pro-Napoleonic sentiment which naturally pervaded the small circle gathered around the imperial exile, and which ever and anon was changed by departure or fresh arrivals of adherents of the cause. In constant intercourse with parties of such decided trains of thought and action it cannot be wondered at that I soon felt my own sentiments leaning in the same direction as theirs, and that the strong arguments with which they pleaded the cause of the dethroned dynasty gained more and more upon me. But while I took care in my reports to you to abstain as much as possible from reflections and opinions of my own I deemed it my duty to the NEW YORK HERALD to faithfully chronicle all the emanations, one-sided as they were, of the Emperor himself and of his retinue. And if I add that all of them are gentlemen in the true sense of the word, that most of them have served the State and their imperial master for periods not less than fifteen and often more than twenty-five years, which at the same time speaks volumes for the sterling social qualities of the Emperor, I defy any one to live and associate for a length of time with such parties, treat and be treated by them with the utmost civility and cordiality, without becoming imbued more or less with their spirit and interests. While but two months ago these latter presented an aspect not void of fair hopes for the future, they have since then been gradually drooping, and it may now appear to many that the drama is nearing its end and that

THE CURTAIN IS ABOUT TO FALL.

As for the writer, biassed as he has avowed himself to be, and therefore inclined to call it rather a tragedy, he does not think that the man who for twenty years occupied a lofty throne, to either the admiration or contumely of the rest of the world, is going to disappear unnoticed and mute as a fish from the scene. Or am I so far blinded to the real position of affairs as to be unable to see that the star of the Bonapartes has set forever, and that the works and ambition of the Third Napoleon are inscribed on a page of history which, by the current of events, leaves no more room to speak of him, and stands already as a record of the past? It may be so. My province, however, is not to advance impressions of my own concerning a matter upon which judgments may differ so widely; I rather conceive it my duty—and it may be next to the last time—to tell your readers how the present situation is looked upon by the imperial party here, and to report to you expressions which, I am in a condition to aver, have come from the lips of the Emperor himself. To think, then, that the Bonapartes are silenced forever would be the utmost deception. The world will be called upon once more to witness a battle for the possession of and under peculiar circumstances that it will be one of the most interesting and at the same time instructive conflicts in history. It is for the third time that Napoleon aims to put himself at the head of the French government—the first time as a youth of noble impulses, with the sword in hand; then as a man with closed vizor and diplomatic skill and cunning which have almost become proverbial; now in the decline of life openly and candidly declaring to the world the kind of arms he will employ, how he means to fight and conquer. Undoubtedly this renewed battle of Napoleon III. for the throne of France will be the subject of valuable study to the future statesman, philosopher and historian. I am now speaking, as you perceive, in that train of thought which is uppermost in the minds of those under the roof of yon castle, with its snow-covered turrets, and only a few steps distant from my lonely hotel quarters. I said that Napoleon will fondly declare the nature of the tactics and the character of the arms to be employed by him. They may have been revealed in part by his late proclamation, but I am enabled to add a comment which is as authentic as if it had fallen from his Majesty's own lips directly and been committed to paper by me for the benefit of the NEW YORK HERALD readers. Let any one suppose himself to be gifted with the power of interpreting the inmost thoughts of the Emperor and he would be constrained to set them forth thus:—

Many of my faithful adherents cannot and will not approve of it, that in my late proclamation to the French people I have laid so little stress upon the legitimacy of my dynasty, which has been chartered by three plebiscites. They see in me only the man, the Emperor; but they forget that I am the embodiment of a principle, of a State doctrine—of the sovereignty of the people. What does it amount to whether I govern well or ill? That is an individual question which to-day nobody is capable of correctly deciding. But I have given the world a new political religion, for which I will always contend, for which my adherents must fight—parliamentary, constitutional, personal rule. These are administrative forms always modified by time and circumstances; the essence is that the will of the people shall predominate; that in the most important affairs of national life the people retain their right to a direct and immediate voice—not through the channel of certain men who are so readily influenced by manifold impressions. The empire is the sovereignty of the people, and no other government in France can lay claim to such a quality. This is felt by the people, and, therefore, the real and true people love the empire and will ever remain its friends. No conspiracy, no force of arms, no diplomatic negotiations could ever induce me to remount the throne which I have been treacherously deprived of. But whatever remains to me of force and will and influence will be directed towards procuring justice for the people, that they may determine upon such form of government as they desire, upon such rulers as they prefer. My adherents—in spite of overwhelming misfortunes yet numbering millions—will attempt to overthrow any government which is not the direct expression of the popular will, and will readily submit to any which owes its origin to that, the only legitimate source.

SUPPOSING THE CORRECTNESS OF THE PREMISES,

who will deny the excellency of these sentiments, or say aught against a Napoleonic restoration on such moral and liberal principles? But this is just the reason—so say my friends here—why France has a sad future in store. The improvised rulers likely to appear on the scene will never accord such just rights to the people, who would at once revolt against them, and, on the other hand, there will be perpetual commotions against all such efforts not based upon the sovereignty of the people. They directed my attention to a document, printed in French, and which is headed

"PETITION de l'armée française, prisonnière en Allemagne, à l'Assemblée Constituante à Bordeaux." It says:—

Of all the evils which have rendered our captivity so bitter the most painful at present is the thought of the future of our dear country.

Conquered by fatal circumstances, we all have, however, the consciousness of having done our duty as far as possible, and we believe ourselves entitled to be heard by the representatives of the country.

The painful agitations which France has suffered in consequence of our disasters have destroyed in the army that unity of thought which constitutes its strength. Different opinions have been advanced, misunderstandings have taken place, and the army is threatened to be made use of as a mere instrument in internal strife.

Considering this as one of the greatest misfortunes, we, the undersigned, and, as we hope, the whole army imprisoned in Germany, agree in the sole and patriotic sentiment of obedience to that government which France may give herself; but, if our position as soldiers does not allow us to take an active part in political contests, we have the right as citizens to demand that the government, in whose service it is our duty to shed our blood, be the veritable expression of the national will.

Consequently we have the honor to ask you to appeal to the universal suffrage for the decision of two questions:—

First—Monarchy or republic?

Second—Name of the monarch? (this in case of decision for monarchy, while engaging ourselves beforehand and upon honor, to submit to the verdict of the nation.

In showing me this petition they assured me that it had much displeased the Emperor, who, from a strict military standpoint, could not but deprecate it. Though the Indépendance Belge, in its customary spite, calls it a Bonaparte manœuvre, it well knows that the petition was drafted by officers who had at first, in its own columns, lifted their voices against a forcible restoration of the Emperor by the German armies. The subscription lists for this petition are already covered with many thousand signatures.

NAPOLEON'S STATE OF HEALTH

is excellent, and he never fails to take his daily promenade. He seems to rejoice sincerely in the prospect of peace, which alone can restore the country from its shattered condition, and heal the deep wounds which now cause it such excruciating torments. As to his departure from here, which at the same time will relieve me from further duty at this post, I am not yet able to say anything positive. Influences are at work persuading him to go to England, where he is promised to encounter much sympathy, not only from his friends, but even from acknowledged adversaries of his government. His own inclinations seem to favor a residence in Switzerland, at his beautiful Castle of Arenenberg, though he is aware that there he would have less scope for action, and be subjected to interferences and undue curiosity. You shall be, of course, promptly informed of the finale of the Wilhelmshöhe drama, whether it be a modest one, a few postillions cracking their whips and conveying the fallen greatness to the railway station at Cassel, or whether—the idea has been mooted and may yet be fondly entertained; it will be a grand flourish—William, the Emperor of Germany, doing an act of knightly courtesy by coming in person to restore to his prisoner—and former brother—the boon of liberty.

PRO PIO NONO.

Italian Demonstrations in Support of the Pontiff.

Bologna Returning to Its Fealty to the Triple Crown—Affecting Address from Former Subjects of the Church—The Roman Aristocracy Give Words of Cheer—Foreign Diplomacy—Prince Humbert in Lenten Discipline.

ROME, Feb. 26 1871.

"We are now in a full tide of demonstrations." The "liberal" journals are hammering away with their lay petitions, and the clerical papers are invoking a speedy intervention of friendly foreign powers in the affairs of Rome, and registering the addresses which are presented to his Holiness from various parts of the world.

The most important of these latter documents, recently received by Pius IX., is the address of the Catholics of the arch diocese of Bologna, which was presented by a deputation of the St. Petronius Club, on Thursday morning, in the throne room at the Vatican.

The Pontiff was surrounded by many distinguished persons, among whom were Cardinals Amat, Barnabo, Caterini, Milesi, Guidi, Capalti, Buonaparte and Borromeo.

The Pope, from his throne, replied to the address, read by Signor A. Rubbiani, expressing "his emotion" at the Bolognese demonstration, and observing that "God frequently permitted scandals that good might result." He applauded the "Catholic tendencies of youth in Italy, youth being the most active element in revolutions. He expected that the example of Bologna would exercise a great influence over the cities of Romagna and lead them to a Catholic revival." Finally, "He blessed all present and all who had signed the address, calling the catalogue of signatures a 'very voluminous index of good Catholics.'" His Holiness then allowed the several members of the deputation to pay their personal respects, and invited them to accompany him in his accustomed walk in the Vatican garden.

The address, with the annexed 32,000 signatures, were bound in three thick volumes, in red leather, stamped with the arms of Pius IX. and of the city of Bologna, with the inscription, "Pio IX., Bononia Fidelis." The usual pecuniary accompaniment for the obolus of St. Peter was contained in a velvet purse embroidered with gold and with gold clasps, on which were engraved the arms of Bologna under the banner of the Holy Church.

Among the Bolognese deputies present were the Marchese Marsigli, Prince Ercolani, Marchesi Alfonso and Francesco Campeggi, Marchese Guidotti, Count Ranuzzi, Doctors Lagni and Garaini.

RELIGIOUS FEALTY.

I do not give the text of the whole address, but the following extract will suffice as a specimen of its general tone:—

We, men and women, rich and poor, old and young, laity and clergy, join, weeping, our voices to those of the Catholics of all the world, and protest loudly against the spoliation of the Church, against the injury committed towards God, whose Vicar on earth you are, and towards the whole Catholic family, whose universal Father in religion you are. In these days silence would appear a crime. We speak to affirm, with the Catholic episcopacy, that, for the independence of your spiritual magistracy, a crown of temporal dominion is necessary, such as Divine Providence chose to assign you. We speak to express our profound grief for your sufferings, and to accompany with a free profession of faith the humble tribute of our devotion, which we depose at your feet. Accept, Holy Father, the obolus which the Bolognese Catholics offer to you, and through you to the blessed Apostle Peter, and comfort us all with your apostolic benediction.

FRENCH REPUBLICANISM.

M. de Vernouillet, First Secretary of the French Legation in Rome, was received day before yesterday at the Vatican. It is stated that the object of his visit was to inquire by whom the Pope would wish the new French government to be represented at his court.

There has been a good deal of discussion as to the political tendencies of the Roman nobility, and the Nazione has undertaken to draw up a list of those adverse patricians, classing seventy-three among the liberals, sixty-five among the clericals and six of doubtful opinions. Great and historic names are ranged on both sides.

The patrician partisans of his Holiness sent a message to the Pope on the 17th instant, lamenting the entry into Rome of the Prince and Princess of Piedmont.

The address was presented by the Princess Orsini and read by Prince Camillo Orsini. Its tenor was as follows:—

THE ROMAN NOBILITY AND PATRICIATE TO THE ADORED PONTIFF PIUS IX., ON THE OCCASION OF THE 23D JANUARY, 1871:—

HOLY FATHER—Courage! Your bitternesses are those of your children, and also those of a whole world—of a world which inquires after your affections, weeps with you, and by its prayers hastens your delivery. The bombs of the 20th September burst open the gate called by your name; the cannons of the 23d January struck your breast like a most atrocious dagger point inside the heart. But alas! Catholic Rome is no accomplice in this insult to your august person, this impiety against your heart; neither are the patricians, the nobles or the true citizens who shudder with just indignation and offer you the tribute of their tears. Courage, Holy Father! God from His lofty heaven registers your sufferings and keeps an account of your sighs, and when the day of justice will be rise for your enemies, and of mercy for your sons, we will point out to you with exultation in the 20th September, the tomb of impiety, and on the 23d January, the fortunate commencement of your glorification.

LAY ROYALISM AND ITS RULE.

Preparations for the transfer of the capital are going on actively. The intimations to religious corporations to prepare to quit such of their residences as are required for public purposes have already given alarm and dissatisfaction, and wherever a claim to foreign protection has been possible it has been made a pretext for resistance to expropriation. The Palazzo Madama and the Palazzo Monte Citorio are both lay edifices, and, therefore, there has been no objection to their immediate preparation for the reception of the Senate and parliamentary deputies. The works are already commenced.

As the time approaches we see the primary dignitaries of the kingdom honor us with more frequent visits. The Finance Italian Minister, Sella, the ex-Prime Minister, Ricasoli, and the present Prime Minister, Lanza, are among our latest arrivals. Each head of a department is anxious to inspect the locality assigned to himself and for his office purposes.

FOREIGN DIPLOMACY.

Monsieur Arago, the new French Envoy, has arrived in Rome.

Count d'Arnim, the Prussian Minister, takes his leave of the Eternal City this evening for Versailles, whence, according to general report, he will transfer his residence to Paris, after the ratification of peace, in the character of German Ambassador.

PRINCE HUMBERT IN CHURCH.

SUICIDE IN NEWARK.

Information was received in Newark yesterday that Aaron B. Campfield, a well known resident of that city, had committed suicide in Morristown, early in the forenoon, by blowing out his brains with a pistol. He had been sojourning at the United States Hotel, and yesterday morning failed to appear at the breakfast table. About ten o'clock, supposing that he might be ill, Mrs. Luse, the landlady, entered Mr. Campfield's chamber. On opening the door she was blinded with the smoke that issued. Calling her husband, Campfield was found still alive, but rapidly breathing his last. He was unconscious and died in a few minutes. Some letters addressed to his brother-in-law, ex-State Senator Robertson, enclosed in an envelope directed to an old friend, A. H. Stanbrough, were found in his hat. That the act was premeditated is beyond doubt. Deceased borrowed the instrument of death on the preceding evening from Dr. Sanders. He was about sixty-two years of age, and at one time quite well off. Lately his mode of living was not of the pleasantest description. His financial affairs were in a disheartening condition. His father was the late R. R. Campfield, and his brothers Rev. Mr. Campfield and Nathan Campfield. A Coroner's inquest was held, and a verdict rendered in accordance with the facts.

The parties arrested in the sawdust swindling establishment, 300 Broadway, by the detectives on Monday afternoon, were arraigned before Justice Shandley, at Jefferson Market, yesterday afternoon. As the complainant was unable to identify any of the prisoners as having had any dealings with him they were discharged. George L. Decker, under whose name the business is carried on, has thus far succeeded in keeping out of the clutches of the officers.

UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT.

Government Taxes on Manufactures of the Cherokee Nation.

WASHINGTON, March 21, 1871.

No. 253. Elias C. Boudinot and Stand Waite vs. The United States.—Error to the District Court for the Western district of Arkansas.—This suit was commenced by information filed against a quantity of manufactured tobacco, apparatus and implements for manufacturing, &c., on land of the Cherokee Nation, in the Indian country, belonging to the plaintiffs in error, the allegation being that the owners were disregarding the internal revenue laws of the United States. The charge was admitted to be true in the court below, the plaintiffs in error claiming to be Cherokees, and as such not liable to the operation of those laws. The Court was requested to charge that the revenue act of 1868, extending the jurisdiction of those laws to certain articles produced anywhere within the exterior boundaries of the United States, whether within a collection district or not, was not in force in any part of the Indian Territory: and that by the tenth article of the treaty of 1866 the Cherokee Nation were exempt from the operation of the revenue laws; that articles provided that every Cherokee residing within the nation should have the right to sell within the Territory any products of his farm, including live stock or any merchandise or manufactured products. The Court refused these instructions, and the verdict was for the United States. The case comes here for review, the plaintiffs in error contending that the provisions of the treaty with the Cherokee Nation are paramount to the statute, and that if Congress can repeal a compact contained in a treaty of any kind it can repeal or annul any other stipulation, contract, exemption or grant. If the United States can by statute annul exemption from taxation of articles manufactured in the Cherokee country, and sold within the Indian Territory, it can extend all other laws of the country over the Cherokees, destroy their guaranteed rights and their nationality, and make them in their despite citizens of the United States. It is also maintained that the Indians cannot be taxed by the United States without their consent, their nations being also sovereign. The government contends that it has been held (Taylor vs. Morton, 2 Court C. U. R., 454) that where the subject matter of a treaty falls within the legislative power of Congress that body may repeal it so far as it is a municipal law. It, therefore, the treaty provision in this case is to be understood as exempting from taxation articles manufactured in the Indian Territory, while the same remain within the Territory, the subject of taxation being within the legislative power, it was undoubtedly competent for Congress by a subsequent law to modify or repeal that provision by making liable to taxation all such articles, irrespective of their locality: and the rule must be applied in the case before the court. The theory of the sovereignty of the Indian nations and of their exemption from taxation within their country it is submitted, on the part of the government, is not within the rule of decided cases (United States vs. Rogers, 4 How., 567). The case is still on argument.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT.

The Erie and Ohio and Mississippi Railroad Case—A Bill Filed in Equity.

Before Judge Woodruff.

Yesterday, in the Clerk's office of the United States Circuit Court, a bill in equity was filed in which the Erie Railroad Company are the plaintiffs and the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad Company the defendants. The allegations in the bill set forth that the Erie Railroad Company were authorized to lease and have leased that portion of the Atlantic and Western Railroad extending from Dayton, Ohio, to Cincinnati, Ohio, known as the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton line, connecting at Cincinnati with the Erie road. That during the year 1868 these two lines were and are broad gauge lines; that in the fall of 1868 the defendants, the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad Company, resolved to change the gauge of their road from the broad to the narrow gauge. That these negotiations were entered into between the plaintiffs and defendants, by which the defendants bound themselves not to make the proposed change in the character of their road, on the condition that the plaintiffs would take the locomotives and cars, running then on the line, on payment of the sum of $390,000, and also on the condition that the plaintiffs should transport, free of charge, over the road a large amount of railroad iron for the use of the Ohio and Mississippi road. To these conditions the plaintiffs assented and a written contract was drawn up accordingly. Plaintiffs paid the $30,000 for the locomotives and cars and transported over their road the defendants' railroad iron at a cost of $60,000.

The plaintiffs believe that the defendants intend to repudiate this contract, and are about to change the gauge of their portion of the line from the broad to the narrow gauge, and to enter into an alliance with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, whose road is narrow gauge, and thus to prohibit the plaintiffs from using the line so contracted for. The plaintiffs therefore now pray that an injunction be issued restraining the defendants from altering the road as designed. The bill was filed yesterday and the proper process made upon the defendants to answer.

The Case of the Ship Old Colony.

The trial and acquittal of Captain Grindle, of the ship Old Colony, who had been indicted in the United States Circuit Court for alleged cruelty to two of his crew, is, no doubt, in the recollection of the public. Twelve witnesses had been summoned on the part of the government. They were confined in Ludlow street jail 117 days, where the government paid the expenses of their board and witness fees, amounting to $5,000. The men, who were all in the ship at the time of the alleged outrages, have been discharged, there being no further occasion for their detention. Had they been at sea all this time they would not have been paid or fed as well as they have been during their detention as witnesses. From the figures given above, it would appear that the cost of unsuccessful prosecutions in the United States Court amounts annually to a pretty high sum, while in the successful cases, we suppose, a more liberal margin must be allowed.

SUPREME COURT—CHAMBERS.

The Widening of Broadway.

In the Matter of the Appointment of Commissioners for the Widening of Broadway.—The argument upon the application for the appointment of commissioners in this case under recent act of the Legislature was to have been heard yesterday. In addition to Mr. O'Gorman, who appeared on behalf of the corporation, there was an extended retinue of counsel present. Owing to the number of cases on the calendar the Judge was unable to hear the argument, and it was finally arranged that the argument should begin at ten A. M. next Tuesday and be continued from day to day till finished.

A Bonaparte in Durance Vile.

Marks Finkleton and Aaron Levy vs. Isaac Bonaparte.—An execution for the sum of $24 08 was issued against the defendant by a district court, and the same being returned, wholly unsatisfied he was put in Ludlow street jail. A motion was made for his discharge on the ground that under the circumstances the warrant of arrest was illegal. The Court said the case properly belonged to the Common Pleas.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

The Leslie Divorce Suit.

Before Judge Robinson.

The case of Frank Leslie vs. Sarah A. Leslie came up again yesterday. In January, 1868, the plaintiff commenced a suit for divorce for an alleged adultery in 1851, which he stated he had but just discovered. The wife put in a denial and made counter charges. In June she made a motion for alimony, which was granted in July, the alimony being fixed at fifty dollars per week and the counsel fees at $500. This allowance was to run from the commencement of the suit. The plaintiff appealed, and in 1869 (all proceedings being meanwhile stayed) the order of the Court below was affirmed. The plaintiff thereupon entered ex parte an order for discontinuance on payment of cost, and tendered the costs, about fifty dollars.

The defendant claimed that he could not do this, she having acquired affirmative right in the suit, and moved to vacate the order of discontinuance, in which motion she again succeeded. From this plaintiff again appealed (staying all proceedings), carrying the case this time to the Court of Appeals, which affirmed the proceedings below. Meanwhile, Mrs. Leslie received no money. So soon as the remittur came from the Court of Appeals, the plaintiff moved on an affidavit stating that he was willing to pay the alimony to have issues framed and the trial of the case at once brought on. Meanwhile there being about $8,650 due under the order, some correspondence took place, in which, on condition that the defendant would go to trial in the first week of April, he offered to pay her $3,000 in cash, give her notes at one and two months for $2,000, and another note for $1,600 to be paid after the trial, certain debts contracted by her, for which he was liable, to be set off.

The defendant declined this offer, having an absolute right to the whole money immediately, and as having had no opportunity—she being penniless—to prepare for trial, and made a motion to punish him for contempt unless he paid and obtained a stay of proceedings on him. This motion came up yesterday. On Mr. Leslie's side affidavits were made that in view of her previous mode of living there was no need of giving her so much money in a lump, that the plaintiff sought delay so as to turn this temporary alimony into a perpetual annuity, and that the Court should authorize him to retain some of the money as well to meet bills contracted by her, on which he had been actually sued, as to constrain her to an early trial. The Court reserved its decision.

SURROGATE'S COURT.

The Feeney Will Case.

Before Surrogate Robert C. Hutchings.

The will of Michael Feeney was under examination yesterday. The deceased executed a will on January 20, 1870, in which he left nearly all his property to Mr. John A. Snook, the son of his employer. The will is now contested by his relatives on the ground that he was incompetent and not in a fit condition to make it at the time of its execution.

John A. Snook, being sworn, deposed that he prepared the will from a copy of "Wells' Hand Book of Law;" that the deceased signed it in his presence, but he admitted that the deceased was in the habit of drinking; he was sober, however, at the time he signed the will.

Other witnesses were called by Mr. McKean, counsel of the contestants, and they testified to the intemperate habits of the deceased, and also to the fact that he could neither read nor write. The case was then adjourned.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS.

Anderson, the Lawyer, Discharged.

Before City Judge Bedford.

Before the regular business of the day was proceeded with Mr. McCarty, counsel for E. J. Anderson, who was indicted for alleged misdemeanor in receiving a certain sum of money for services as counsel in defending two sailors charged with larceny, and, as was alleged, neglecting to look after their interests, called the attention of the Court to the case. He (the counsel) understood that the sailors, who were detained as witnesses against his client, had been discharged and were now on their way to Europe. After a careful examination of the case he was convinced that Mr. Anderson was not liable even for a breach of duty; for he had received nothing from the sailors. He, therefore, asked the District Attorney to either try the indictment or withdraw it. District Attorney Garvin also said that he closely examined the indictment, the sailors and the captain of the ship from which the men stole the property, and was perfectly satisfied Mr. Anderson committed no offence. The sailors had an interview with Anderson and gave him an order for some money upon the captain; but the order was never paid. He, as prosecuting officer, felt it to be his duty to publicly state these facts, and to move that a nolle prosequi be entered in the case.

JUDGE BEDFORD'S REMARKS.

Judge Bedford, in disposing of the motion, said:—With the approval of District Attorney Fellows, I deemed it proper, upon the statement of the sailors, to have the charge against E. J. Anderson fully investigated by the Grand Jury. An indictment was found. The District Attorney, after a thorough examination, now informs me that he cannot legally establish the guilt of the accused. Under this aspect it becomes my duty, as regards this specific accusation against E. J. Anderson, to protect the accused, as it would likewise be my duty, under other aspects, to protect the sailors. Therefore, let a nolle prosequi be entered in the matter.

ALLEGED ASSAULT.

John Davis was placed on trial, charged with stabbing Jeremiah Lane on the 14th of February at a tenement house alley in Pearl street. The complaining witness refused to answer why he had been arrested on previous occasions, and when the prisoner gave his version of the transaction, how Lane had assaulted his wife and beaten himself severely, the jury heartily coincided in the remark of the Judge that Davis had been kept in prison long enough and rendered a verdict of not guilty.

A BURGLAR TRACKED BY COFFEE BERRIES TO HIS OWN HOUSE.

Murray Williams, a colored man, was placed on trial for burglary. On the 5th of last month the grocery store of Julius Whittenbergh, 42 West Houston street, was burglariously entered and a pair of chickens, a ham and a bag of coffee stolen. The night of the burglary officer Smith, while patrolling his post, observed coffee berries on the sidewalk. He procured a light and thus traced the coffee from the grocery store to the closet adjoining the room occupied by the prisoner at a tenement house in Greene street. Williams at once rushed out of his room. The officer called to him, but he increased his speed and escaped into the cellar, where the arrest was made. Williams went on the stand and not only denied having broken into the store, but flatly contradicted an important statement made by the officer. Smith says that the prisoner was as fully dressed as he was in court when he ran out of his room, but Williams said he was in his slippers and undershirt and was going down to the cellar to get wood to kindle a fire. The jury convicted Williams of petty larceny, and the Judge, who said the prisoner was not a professional burglar or he never would have spilled the coffee along the street, sent him to the Island for six months.

COURT OF SPECIAL SESSIONS.

A Long Calendar and Dull Cases—A Disorderly House Not Convicted—A Midnight Assault of Four to One Ending in Three to Two—A Dishonest Smith and His Hard-fisted Boss—Tale of a Tub.

Before Judge Joseph Dowling.

There were thirty-two cases yesterday at the Court of Special Sessions. The Tombs presented its accustomed dreary aspect, and the auditors in the warmth of patriarchal justice steamed off the rain from their ancient garments till the air reeked with UNPLEASANT ODORS.

Assault and battery held its time-honored ground, and faces bound up with white crosses of sticking plaster attested the exertions of the brute element in New York. Petit larceny presented its miserable array of wretched defaulters; yet but few of them merited any notoriety. Commonplace was the verdict of the old court assistants, as the crier bellowed forth his closing admonition.

John Carey and James Brennan, two villainous looking were charged, in company with two others not captured, with knocking down Leon De Akers, a Frenchman, in Twenty-seventh street, on Saturday night last after midnight. The object was robbery in this nocturnal game of four to one. Officer John Reilly, who made the arrests, testified to the brutality of the attack, and Judge Dowling rewarded them with three months each in the Penitentiary.

Mrs. Roberts and her supported, dashily-dressed attendant, named Tewkesbury, were charged with keeping a disorderly house in Thirteenth street. There was some technical failure in the proof, which induced the Judge to discharge them, after he had expended three minutes in a fruitless of the unblushing "pimp," who left the court in high feather with his mistress. The long suspended and adjourned case of Joseph Smith, charged with robbing his employer, Austin D. Thompson, of two dollars, was again brought up. The defendant admitted the soft impeachment, and in addition that he had taken $1,200 from the same gentlemen, but alleging that the latter had retained $1,500, the prisoner's property. District Attorney Garvin, for whose attendance the case was last adjourned, sent a note, stating that he was unwell and could not attend. The Judge suspended sentence, as Smith had already been confined some time, in order to allow him to

BRING A CIVIL ACTION

for the $1,500. A decent looking man pleaded guilty to stealing some pearl buttons; previous good character was presented in mitigation, and the Judge "let up on him." William Williams raised a disturbance in the lager beer saloon, 41 Broome street, and while the mein herr went for an officer, laid violent hands on Anna Yetta, a servant of the house, throwing her on the ground. Drunkenness was the mitigating fact this time, and five dollars to the county squared the matter. A poor miserable, of some fifty years, forlorn and ragged looking, from Don Lorenzo Koloseus, and was saved from hunger and shelterless night roaming for two months in consequence.

Arthur Sweeney, with a swelled head, two black eyes and a bandaged finger, charged Wm. H. Livingstone, a mulatto steward on the Albany boat, with adorning his unpleasant countenance in this white man's style. The negro is an imitative race, and probably this to a great extent condoned the offence. At any rate, after much hard swearing on both sides, Judge Shandley looked bothered, and dismissed the case and the prisoner at the same time.

BROOKLYN COURTS.

UNITED STATES COMMISSIONER'S COURT.

What's in a Name?

Before Commissioner Jones.

Edward Everett was before the Commissioner yesterday on the charge of having passed a ten dollar counterfeit Treasury note on Jane Jack, of No. 496 Fifth avenue. Everett pleaded not guilty, and was held to bail in the sum of $1,000 to await an examination.

SUPREME COURT—CIRCUIT.

Another "Black Friday" Lawsuit.

Before Judge Tappen.

William Bell vs. Isaac O. Davis and John A. McPherson.—This suit arose out of a gold transaction on the memorable "Black Friday" of September, 1869. Plaintiff brought suit to recover $3,500, alleging that on the 22d day of September, 1869, the defendants, who are stock and gold brokers, bought for him under his instructions $10,000 in gold at 141½. On the 23d of September they bought $5,000 at 142½. On the same day the plaintiff gave the defendants orders to sell $10,000 at 142 and $10,000 at 143½. Plaintiff says that the defendants did not regard his orders, whereby he has been damaged $3,500, for which amount he asks judgment.

The defendants admit the purchase of the gold as alleged by the plaintiff, but claim that they were to hold it only so long as the plaintiff kept his margin good, so as to protect them from loss from a decline in the market. On the 23d of September they sold the gold, as ordered by the plaintiff, to William Belden, who by reason of his failure was unable to take it. On the 24th they sold all of plaintiff's gold at 134½ and 133½, and reported the sale to plaintiff, who ratified and confirmed it. They claim that as a result the plaintiff is indebted to them in the sum of $789 82, for which amount they ask judgment.

The jury rendered a verdict in favor of plaintiff for $2,405.

CITY COURT—PART 1.

A Violent Photographer.

Before Judge Neilson.

Rosa Fitzpatrick vs. John Farache.—On the 31st of October, 1869, plaintiff went to defendant's photograph gallery, in Fulton street, when a dispute arose between them in regard to some pictures, Farache alleging that she had not enough money to pay for them. The defendant ejected plaintiff from the place, and she, being pregnant at the time, was so injured that she was confined prematurely, and had to go to the hospital. Hence this suit, which was brought to recover $2,500 damages.

The defence was that the plaintiff was very abusive, and that Farache merely laid his hand on her shoulder and requested her to leave the place. The jury gave plaintiff a verdict of $150.

CITY COURT—PART 2.

An Alleged Homicide.

Before Judge McCue.

Joseph Cleary was tried yesterday on the charge of having caused the death of John Johnson, a hand employed on the steamer Port au Prince, lying near the foot of Main street. On the 1st of February last there was a row aboard the vessel, which was caused by some of the sailors of the ship Black Prince attempting to cross the decks. During the mêlée Johnson was knocked overboard and so injured that he died on the following day at the hospital. The evidence adduced yesterday was not conclusive against the prisoner, and the jury acquitted him.

Theft and Indecency.

Joseph Schenck was convicted of having stolen $150 worth of property from Mr. Schoeaman. Judge McCue sentenced him to the Penitentiary for one year.

William Brown, colored, was also sent up for one year for indecent conduct. Judge McCue said he regretted that he could not sentence him to ten years' imprisonment.

BROOKLYN COURT CALENDAR.

CITY COURT—Part 1—Before Judge Neilson.—Nos. 94, 213, 58, 150, 153, 156, 158, 158, 110, 174, 100, 192, 105, 62, 90, 77, 193. Part 2—Before Judge McCue.—Criminal trials. Part 3—Judge Thompson.—Special Term.

PETER PILGER'S PLUNGE.

A Sensible "Crowner's Quest"—Censure of the East River Ferry Company.

Yesterday afternoon Coroner Hermann resumed his investigation previously commenced in the case of Peter Pilger, who was drowned by falling from one of the Thirty-fourth street ferryboats into the river. He was rescued while yet alive, and the testimony of officer Carr, of the Twenty-first precinct, showed indifference and gross negligence on the part of those attached to the boat in restoring the unfortunate man to consciousness and endeavoring to save his life. The jury found, "That deceased came to his death by drowning at the Thirty-fourth street ferry on the night of Tuesday, March 14, 1871, and we censure the East River Ferry Company for the gross negligence of their employés, and for their lack of facilities for the protection of the lives of their passengers."

A NOTORIOUS FORGER SENTENCED.

Hahn, the Forger, Tried, Convicted and Sentenced—Forty Charges of Forging Orders Upon Commercial Firms Preferred Against Him—Judge Bedford Sends Him to the State Prison for Five Years.

One of the most notorious and accomplished forgers in this city was brought before Judge Bedford yesterday in the General Sessions and convicted by Assistant District Attorney Fellows. The criminal, Charles Hahn, is a well dressed and very intelligent looking young man, and the numerous forgeries which he committed evinced more than ordinary skill and intellectual ability.

THE TESTIMONY.

The first witness called upon to sustain the particular charge upon which he was tried was Robert W. Scott, a member of the dry goods firm of Emerson, Rhoades & Co., 412 Broadway, who said that on the 25th of November last he received an order purporting to be from Hill, Moynan & Co., 273 Grand street, requesting them to send a piece of velveteen. Mr. Scott handed the piece of goods to the messenger who brought the order, the value of which was sixty dollars. On the following day he received a similar order, but, believing that it was a forgery, declined to give the goods.

George Moynan, a member of the firm upon whom the orders were forged, pronounced them to be forgeries, and produced a number of orders which he said were also forged; but these could not be legally introduced into this specific case.

John Prohaska testified that he was in the Bowery last November, and was approached by the prisoner and a man named Goss, who handed him a sealed envelope and requested him to go to 412 Broadway and bring a package back to them. He did so, and received for his services fifty cents. The witness handed the envelope to Mr. Scott, as he was instructed to do, and delivered the package to the prisoner near the corner of Canal street and the Bowery.

Counsel for the prisoner declined to put his client on the stand, and did not call any witnesses.

Colonel Fellows made an eloquent appeal to the jury to promptly convict Hahn, who was a skilful forger.

Judge Bedford, after giving an impartial statement of the evidence, concluded by saying that if the accused was guilty the jury should protect the thousands of merchants in New York by rendering a verdict of guilty without leaving their seats.

CONVICTED AND SENTENCED.

After the jury had rendered a verdict of guilty, which they did without retiring, the City Judge called officer King, who said that Hahn had served a term of imprisonment on the Island for forgery and that there were between thirty and forty complaints against him by merchants for forging orders upon their firms.

Judge Bedford in passing sentence said:—Charles Hahn, you are one of the most skilful forgers of the age. You have lived, thrived and prospered upon your forging. You have succeeded by your dexterity in defrauding the community out of thousands and thousands of dollars. District Attorney Fellows has succeeded in convicting you. The honest portion of this community must be protected from the villanies daily perpetrated by members of the fraternity which you to-day so guiltily represent. I owe it to the people to mete out the full penalty, which is confinement in the State Prison at hard labor for five years.

The prisoner appeared to be very much affected throughout, and before and after the sentence regarded his wife steadily. When the verdict of guilty was pronounced the latter bowed her head, and when she heard the sentence burst into the most heartrending shrieks, and was carried fainting from the court.

HOW SMUGGLING WORKS.

The Radcliffe Diamond Smuggling Case—The Accused Indicted, but Discharged on His Own Recognizance.

The arrest of Augustus C. Radcliffe, the charge preferred by the government officials against him, and the examination held in the case before Commissioner Osborn have been reported at length in the HERALD. A great deal of apparent interest was manifested by the authorities to secure a conviction against Radcliffe, the charge against him being that he had smuggled $30,000 worth of diamonds into this port from London, where his father carries on the business of a diamond merchant. The result of the examination before Commissioner Osborn in the matter was that the accused was held to await the action of the Grand Jury in $10,000 bail. This heavy bail was of course not forthcoming, and Mr. Radcliffe was carefully lodged in Ludlow street jail. The Grand Jury found a true bill against him for smuggling $15,000 worth of diamonds only. The value of the diamonds, though not the character of the offence, was thus strangely reduced one half. It was, of course, naturally supposed that he would be put on trial on the indictment found against him; but this was not to be, as the sequel shows. The term of the Criminal Court closed without the case being called, and last week, as a preliminary step to further unaccountable clemency—not to say seeming disregard of law and justice—Radcliffe was brought up before a different Commissioner from that before whom the examination was held and who had committed him for trial in $10,000 bail, and on representation of the District Attorney had his bail reduced to $1,500. But further official consideration was yet in store for the alleged diamond smuggler, and to-day he is, to all intents and purposes, a free man.

Yesterday Assistant United States District Attorney Purdy, attended by Radcliffe and his counsel, presented himself before Commissioner No. 3, consulted in this matter, and stated that the District Attorney—ex-Judge Davis—had decided on having Radcliffe released on his own recognizance to appear for trial at the next October term of the court. The further statement was at the same time made that Radcliffe had paid into court the amount of fines and penalties incurred by his smuggling operation. If this is not a condonation of justice it would be hard to expose what action on the part of officials comes under the serious offence—an offence which the federal judges of this circuit have been compelled, from time to time, to seriously censure and reprobate. Of course, the fortunate diamond dealer readily entered into the farcical recognizance and was at once discharged and went upon his way rejoicing, with what sacrifice of the diamonds, however, does not yet appear.

THE SCHMIDT MURDER.

Close of Coroner Schirmer's Investigation—Verdict Against the Fugitive Murderer—The Prisoners Held as Accessories—Gathering of Nineteenth Ward Roughs.

Coroner Schirmer's investigation yesterday morning into the circumstances attending the murder of Israel Schmidt, who was deliberately shot through the head on Sunday afternoon, the 5th inst., at the saloon 845 First avenue, by a pistol in the hands of Thomas Whelan, a well-known offender, brought to the City Hall a precious gang of Nineteenth ward roughs, who filled the court room nearly to suffocation. Almost to a man they were friends of the prisoners, and exhibited the greatest

INTEREST IN THE PROCEEDINGS.

After the evidence of Captain Gunner and officer Hamilton, of the Nineteenth precinct, had been taken, two of the defendants were sworn and examined, but their testimony was in such direct contradiction of the statements previously made to Captain Gunner, in presence of officer Hamilton, that the jury placed little if any evidence upon it. Below will be found a report of the reliance adduced and the verdict of the jury.

THE EVIDENCE.

John Gunner, captain of the Nineteenth precinct, deposed that at about six o'clock on Sunday evening, the 5th inst., he heard that there had been a disturbance in First avenue, and went there with several officers, and found that Israel Schmidt had been shot through the head; found no one who knew the parties, but several said they could identify them; Murray was the first one arrested, and the others were taken the next morning; they all confessed to being of the party present when Schmidt was killed; Maher, Martel, Farley and McCarty said they saw the shooting, and Murray said he saw the shooting by Whelan, and Murray further said McCarty did the stabbing, and told him so in presence of officer Hamilton.

JOHN HAMILTON, AN OFFICER of the Nineteenth precinct, deposed that he heard the prisoner (Murray) tell Captain Gunner that McCarty did the stabbing.

At this stage of the proceedings the counsel for the prisoners made a motion that one of the defendants be examined and permitted to give his version of the affair, to which Coroner Schirmer assented. John Maher was accordingly called to the stand, and gave his evidence. He swore that on Sunday, the 5th instant, he met Whelan and Murray and went with them to several lager beer saloons, and was eventually joined by the other prisoners; went into Schmidt's place and he took a cigar, and when near the door heard a shot fired and saw Whelan run out of the door with a pistol in his hand; then left the place and went home; all the party were under the influence of liquor.

DRINKS WERE CALLED FOR;

At the request of Mr. Kintzing, Edward Farley, another of the defendants, was examined:—On the afternoon of the 5th instant he was invited by Whelan and two of the other defendants to go and take a drink with them, and afterwards they went into Schmidt's place; he took nothing, but walked out immediately, upon which he heard the report of a pistol, when all the party rushed out and made their escape; did not know that Whelan had a pistol and saw none in his possession; do not remember telling Captain Gunner that Whelan done the shooting, and did not tell him so.

There being no further testimony to offer the Coroner delivered a brief charge to the jury, in which he characterized the act of killing Schmidt as a most brutal murder. The case was then given to the jury, who found the following

VERDICT:—

"We find that the deceased, Israel Schmidt, came to his death by a pistol shot wound in the head, at the hands of Thomas Whelan, at No. 845 First avenue, on the 5th day of March, 1871, and we further find that Edward Farley, John McCarty, John Maher, George Martle and Patrick Murray were accessories to the murder."

The prisoners' counsel, immediately after the verdict was rendered, moved that their clients be released on bail; but this the Coroner refused to do without consulting the District Attorney. This was soon done, and the answer of that gentleman was decidedly averse to releasing them. District Attorney Garvin said he should, at the earliest possible moment, lay the testimony in the case before the Grand Jury for their action, and in case the prisoners were indicted he should bring them to an early trial.

The accused parties range from seventeen to twenty-five years of age, and look as if they belonged to the dangerous classes. In their formal examinations the prisoners, by advice of their counsel, pleaded not guilty to the charges preferred against them. They were all committed to the Tombs to await their trials.

REAL ESTATE MATTERS.

There is not much to be said in respect of the real estate market. Business as a rule is dull, awaiting the developments at Albany, where "the rapid transit problem" and other enterprises are "in transitu." Among these embryotic schemes is that "introduced by unanimous consent by Mr. Tweed, read twice and referred to the Committee on Banks, reported favorably from said committee, and committed to the Committee of the Whole, entitled an act to incorporate the Real Estate Trust Company of the City of New York." What has become of this bill since the action above reported we are unable to state, since the historians on the spot have failed to furnish any record of its progress; but as we are satisfied civilization is not a failure and the Caucasian is not played out, we incline to the opinion that it still moves, exists and has its being. If we are mistaken, to the aforesaid bogus historians, as we may then call them, be the responsibility of this error. The bill in question contains the following provisions:—

SECTION 5. The said corporation (meaning the Real Estate Trust Company) shall have power to receive money on deposit and to loan money on securities; to allow interest on moneys deposited not to exceed four per cent per annum; to act as agent or trustee for the investment of money in real or personal property and for the management thereof and of money invested; to purchase or sell such notes of hand, promissory notes, drafts and bills of exchange as shall be collaterally secured by bond and mortgage or trust deed of real estate or on bullion, State or government securities; to purchase or sell bonds and mortgages; to guarantee bonds and mortgages and title to real estate for a money consideration.

SEC. 6. The said corporation shall have power to purchase, hold and convey real estate for the following purposes, viz:—Such as may be necessary for the transaction of its business; such as may be taken by it in compromise or payment for any pre-existing indebtedness lawfully acquired by said corporation; such as may be purchased by it at any judicial sale or sales in forfeiture, or for the foreclosure or other enforcement of any claim, judgment, mortgage, trust deed or agreement in the nature of a pledge or mortgage of the same, taken by said corporation in the course of its regular business transactions.

All of this is very quiet and very indifferent, the amount of the stock of the corporation being limited to $1,000,000, and permitting business to be commenced upon a paid up capital of $200,000, with the following provision:—

SECTION 7. Each stockholder shall be liable for the debts of the corporation to the amount of stock subscribed or held by him until the same shall have been paid up in full, but shall not be individually liable thereafter.

Now this whole bill might be passed over in silence as containing no provisions not afforded by the general laws of the State but for the circulation simultaneously with its introduction of a pamphlet entitled "Real Estate Transactions as they Are and as they Might Be: a Plan for the Insurance of Titles and Mortgages," to which a name is attached whom nobody apparently knew and who is generally regarded as a myth. The following is the prospectus of this Utopian scheme:—

The facilities offered to every citizen of this prosperous country for sharing in the possession of its rich and extended surface, compared with the monopolies of landed property in the Old World, are fully realized by a population naturally inclined to settle in a home of their own. This tendency to general participation in the possession of the national soil is upheld by our laws, which, with true republican spirit, oppose the perpetuity of ownership, or the restriction of its disposal, even more strongly than has been done in England, where this principle was recognized too late to prevent the social and political evils resulting from its infringement.

To make the ownership of land as general as possible is, then, the avowed intention of our laws, and if for any reason they fail to provide the necessary facilities, it behooves us to discover other means for reforming the impracticable way of conveyancing, which works in antagonism to the spirit of the law. For, as long as it takes weeks, and sometimes months, to obtain or convey a good title, or to prove its validity; as long as this can be done only at the present heavy expense; as long as every mortgagee or purchaser must have it done over and over again, and the same expense repeated, since he relies solely on the ability and diligence of his own lawyer; as long, we say, as all these difficulties are in the way, the transactions and investments in real estate can never develop themselves to that degree which is due to them, and which, under more favorable circumstances, they would certainly attain. These are the real impediments which prevent landed property from sharing in the marketable qualities of all other commodities.

As it is now, the wealthy few who are holders of capital unemployed, and not likely to be required for their business, together with that unproductive part of the community who live entirely on their revenues, can alone safely acquire real estate. The merchant, the tradesman, the mechanic, in short, that large body of good and useful citizens who at any moment may be compelled to fall back on every part of their means, either for their business or sustenance—in other words, the great and productive mass of the population—cannot with impunity share in the ownership of the soil they inhabit. By doing so they incur the risk of finding themselves at any moment starving in the midst of their treasure.

No doubt many make that risk. Witness a commercial crisis, when great merchants, worth, apparently, double their indebtedness, suspend payment, drawing with them, into the abyss of bankruptcy, hundreds of others. Witness further the usurious interest at which many mortgage their property to obtain funds needed for a sudden emergency; witness, also, the sacrifices at which valuable land is frequently thrust upon the market at short notice. True it is, that, as a precautionary measure against such emergencies, it is customary to keep mortgages perpetually alive. But this also involves a sacrifice, the mortgagor paying interest on money borrowed without actual necessity, to shield himself against the danger involved in the delay of obtaining it when wanted. The mortgagor, therefore, is not benefited by abundance of currency, while no usury law will protect him from the afflictions of a tight money market.

In short, the ownership of real estate is rendered onerous and dangerous to the greater part of our population, every one of whom, under other circumstances, would add to the number of competitors for landed property, and would enhance the prices thereof and their stability. All classes in the end lose indiscriminately; but it is upon those directly interested in real estate that the loss falls heaviest.

Great as these evils appear, just as are these complaints, they may be easily remedied. It is not the law that imposes them; they are caused by the present mode of conveyancing. Real estate may continue to enjoy its exceptional legal position, and yet may be made as marketable and transferable as any other commodity. And this may be accomplished without any outside assistance by the profitable, self-sustaining enterprise of the real estate owners themselves.

Such is the scheme the feasibility of which we desire to demonstrate.

Now this excellent scheme of guaranteeing title is all very well, if it were backed up by a company of several hundred millions capital; but as the only concern pretending to assume this right is limited to $1,000,000, and can commence business at $200,000, the question arises where does the guarantee come in? What good can the guarantee be beyond the amount of capital paid in?

The guarantee of one imperfect title to a single piece of property in this city might use up the entire capital of the company. What value would the guarantee of this company be to the title of real estate in one single avenue in this city? Suppose this company guaranteed a title to a piece of real estate and an unexpected heir made claim; the case goes into court, where it hangs for some year or two, is decided in favor of the claimant, carried to a higher court, where it may be settled in the course of two years more, and then against the title which has been guaranteed by this company with its $200,000 or $1,000,000 capital. Is it supposed this company will pay the value of the property guaranteed when the title is first disputed caused by the claim set up by this unexpected heir, or will it wait years for a decision? In the first case, a half dozen such claims might swamp the company, and in the second case, what good if the party holding the guarantee has to wait years, and during these years a half dozen such claims arise, ruining the company before he knows he is entitled to collect of this company, by the title being declared defective by the courts? What will it cost to get this company to guarantee a $200,000 title? Who will be likely to pay for such a guarantee? And then, what is the value of such a guarantee, provided the company takes the risks of millions? And if it does not take a large number and amount where is the profit to come from? We are of the opinion, if this company ever goes into existence, it will prove more profitable buying, selling stocks and doing a banking business, as it is allowed by one of the sections in the bill, and not in undertaking to guarantee the title of millions of real estate on this island, Brooklyn, New Jersey, and, perhaps, all the United States, as we fear the guarantee would not be considered of great value. Still, that would be for each person to decide for himself. By the title of the bill it may be intended that this company shall hold in "trust" all the real estate in the city of New York. We are a little curious to learn the precise occasion for the use of the word "trust."

THE SHADER-WARD TRAGEDY.

The Secretary of the Great Western Life Insurance Company Shot in the House of a "Friend."

REMARKABLE DEVELOPMENTS.

The Accused Allowed to Go at Large on Bail.

From the Recorder, of Lima, N. Y., of the date of 9th instant, we learn some particulars of the circumstances attending the death of Mr. Shader, who recently held a prominent position in this city as secretary of the Great Western Life Insurance Company. It is distressing to find that Mr. Shader was killed by a pistol shot at the hands of a man of influential position named Harry Ward, at Towanda, Pa., whose guest the deceased gentleman was at the time of the melancholy occurrence.

Mr. Shader had many friends in this city, was a young man of fine presence, only thirty-three years of age, and of good business talents. He was a member of the Masonic fraternity, and belonged to the Independent Royal Arch Lodge, No. 2, of this city. He was buried with Masonic honors at Lima, Livingston county, where his parents reside, on the 7th instant. This melancholy affair has created a wide interest in the neighborhood of Towanda and Lima, and plunged an extensive connection of both families into bitter grief. It seems strange that up to this no notice of the event has appeared in any of our city papers, and it is also remarkable that the accused is out on $10,000 bail, although found guilty by a Coroner's jury. Following is a statement of the case by Mr. H. Decker, addressed to the Lima Recorder:—

There are so many contradictory statements in relation to the tragedy at Towanda, Pa., which resulted in the death of Wesley E. Shader, that I yield to the general desire for authentic information about this most painful event and shall endeavor to give a full history of the matter, based mainly upon the evidence taken before the Coroner's jury, but in part upon information derived from authentic sources obtained upon the ground, while acting as counsel for the friends of the victim.

Harry Ward, by whose hand the deed was done which so saddened our community, is the only son of the late G. L. Ward, of Towanda, who was a lawyer and successful operator in land, amassed a large fortune and died about a year ago leaving an estate, from a partial division of which Harry Ward became possessed of the homestead at Towanda, a fine mansion, where he now resides, and which was the scene of the tragedy. Mr. Shader became acquainted with him at the Democratic Convention in New York city in 1868. Mr. Shader was then in the employment of the New York Life Insurance Company, of New York, and was living in New York. An intimacy then sprung up between them which resulted in occasional visits, back and forth. On about the 18th of February last Mr. Shader took a general agency of the Union Mutual Life Insurance Company, of Augusta, Me., and left New York on Tuesday night, February 21, to begin his work.

The first place he visited was Towanda. He arrived there on Wednesday morning and put up at the Ward Hotel. Soon after his arrival he sent his card to the residence of Mr. Ward. Not hearing from Mr. Ward, and presuming upon their intimacy, he went to his residence. He was kindly received by Mr. Ward in the parlor, where they visited for a time and then went up stairs to a room occupied by Mr. Ward. Here they engaged in general conversation, during which Mr. Ward charged Mr. Shader with having stated things derogatory to his (Ward's) character. It seems that at some previous visit Mr. Shader had become an involuntary witness of domestic difficulties which were not creditable to Mr. Ward, and he charged Mr. Shader with having divulged them. Mr. Shader denied the charge, but Mr. Ward was not satisfied with the denial. Mr. Ward thereupon seized Mr. Shader and a scuffle ensued, in which Mr. Shader got the advantage of Mr. Ward; got him down and held him, when Mr. Ward pretended to be in sport, and Mr. Shader, although as he afterwards stated, he thought Mr. Ward acted rather roughly for a man in sport, accepted the matter as in jest, and they both continued thereafter in friendly intercourse together. Mr. Ward, after this, exhibited a pair of revolvers, and a general conversation ensued about shooting, gymnastic exercises, &c., during which Mr. Ward handled the revolvers very carelessly, so much so that Mr. Shader reminded him that he might hurt himself or him (Shader). It appears that Mr. Ward at this time pointed the revolver at various parts of the person of Mr. Shader in a way indicating, whether in sport or mere play with wicked designs, a singularly reckless mind. While here Mr. Shader proposed to return to the hotel to dinner, but Mr. Ward insisted upon his staying there. Mr. Shader consented and took dinner. After dinner they walked over the grounds, and the library, which is a very fine one, and the improvements contemplated by Mr. Ward were the subject of conversation. A ride to Greenwood, six miles from Towanda, was proposed by Mr. Ward and a carriage was ordered for that purpose. In the meantime the servant announced supper, and both went to the dining room. During the meal, among other subjects of conversation, the one of shooting was again introduced, and some bantering took place, in which, in reply to Mr. Ward's professed expertness, Mr. Shader made some playful remark which called in question Mr. Ward's skill. The particulars of this conversation are not known, and that it assumed a threatening or violent tone is not proved. Whatever may have been the feelings of Mr. Ward, it is quite certain, I think, that Mr. Shader regarded the whole as playful. According to Mr. Shader's dying declaration Mr. Ward suddenly left the room, went up stairs and came down almost instantly, and as he returned to the dining room he had in his hand a revolver. Mr. Shader had got up from the table. Mr. Ward pointed the pistol toward him. Mr. Shader was under the impression that the pistol was not loaded, but under a very natural impulse started toward Mr. Ward to turn the weapon away. Mr. Ward said, "I am going to fire," and when Mr. Shader was about two feet from Ward he did fire, and Mr. Shader received his death wound. Mr. Shader states that Ward cocked the pistol after entering the room, and that he discharged the pistol deliberately and with intention.

As soon as Mr. Shader was wounded he fell upon his knees and leaned over against a lounge. Mr. Ward immediately left the house and the first man he met was Patrick Brophy, who was passing. He requested him to come into the house, saying that a man had shot himself in the house. Mr. Brophy went in with Mr. Ward, and they found Mr. Shader in the position above described, groaning and in great distress. Mr. Ward took Mr. Shader by the collar and attempted to lift him up, and asked Shader if "he got shot by him?" Mr. Shader made no reply. Mr. Brophy went for a physician, and soon after several citizens assembled, including Dr. Ladd. Mr. Ward now seemed to be very much excited, and became very anxious to secure from Mr. Shader acknowledgment that it was accidental; but Mr. Shader, in great distress, said little, and in no way assented to the idea that it was accidental. Mr. Ward's conduct was very strange; he was evidently anxious for his own safety and endeavored in every way to extort a confession from the wounded man that would exculpate him, demanding that a statement should be required from Mr. Shader, though he then appeared to be in the agonies of death. Mr. Shader partially fainted and then revived, when he said, "Harry, why did you shoot me?" Ward replied, "You know I didn't intend to do it—that it was entirely accidental." Before this Mr. Ward had made various and somewhat contradictory replies to the bystanders' inquiries. To one he said—"I don't see how the pistol went off." Again, "God only knows, gentlemen, how this accident happened." And to another that when the revolver went off, Mr. Shader had hold of it with his hand. Mr. Ward seemed to think this idea a favorable one to him, and he endeavored to get others to persuade Shader to admit that when the pistol went off he had hold of it. Ward told Mr. Fanshaw that such an admission would be a great help to him, and solicited Mr. Fanshaw to aid him in persuading Shader to make such an admission.

The effort to procure an admission from Mr. Shader that it was accidental was persistent; but while it fully brought out the magnanimity and unsuspecting nature of the suffering man it utterly failed in its object. To an inquiry pressed upon Mr. Shader by a relative of Mr. Ward's—pressed in amid the groans wrung from the sufferings occasioned by the wound in its first infliction, asking Mr. Shader, "Was it not accidental?" he replied, "I guess not." To Mrs. C. L. Ward, who asked the same question the same day, and sought a favorable answer with a demonstration of great affection, he replied, "Mrs. Ward, Harry went up stairs and got his revolver and deliberately shot me." Even after Mr. Shader had formally made his dying statement under oath, the effort was not given over. In the presence of the parents of the unfortunate man, on Sunday following the injury, Mrs. Ward again pressed the inquiry whether he thought Mr. Ward meant to shoot him, and his reply was, "I have made my statement and I forgive him."

The wound was necessarily a fatal one. The ball entered the body three and a half inches above the navel and seven-eighths of an inch to the left of the centre passed through the colon, the stomach, the lower part of the right lobe of the liver, and through the eighth rib, lodging in the muscles on the outside of the rib. His sufferings were most intense.

Of the heroic fortitude with which Mr. Shader endured the suffering it is not for me to speak, nor is it my purpose to recall how nobly he illustrated in his great misfortune the best virtues of our humanity; all these are already fully understood and appreciated. But I have simply endeavored to give an impartial, and, as I believe, a truthful, relation of the facts connected with the murder.

The case is a most unaccountable one. Mr. Ward is a young man, not far from Mr. Shader's age (thirty-three); has had the advantages of a liberal education, and is in the enjoyment of large wealth. How, from so slight a motive—if he had any—he could have committed this crime is beyond conjecture. He is under arrest, and there are rumors that partial drunkenness and partial insanity will furnish the defence.

However that may be, I have been unable to discover that Mr. Shader was in any respect in fault, or did anything that in the least detracts from his good name among us. I would not mention the question of inebriety were it not that some have feared that, away from home, Mr. Shader may have fallen away from his habits of sobriety, and in the enjoyment of that pernicious hospitality which commends to the lips of the guest that which is so destructive to manhood, he may, in his good nature, have yielded and taken too freely of wine on the occasion. We are assured by Mr. Shader, who would always tell the truth, and when under the shadow of death could not prevaricate, that he was not in the least intoxicated, and that he did not suspect that Mr. Ward was.

Appended to this is the inquisition of the Coroner's jury, signed by some of the best citizens of the borough of Towanda. Mr. Hood, the acting Coroner, is an elder in the Presbyterian church, and is a brother, I believe, of our townsman of that name. Mr. Mix is a retired merchant, and a member of the Methodist Episcopal church. F. J. Callins is a merchant and a member of the Baptist church. Mr. McCabe is a merchant and a member of the Episcopal church. Mr. Watts is an ex-treasurer of the county. Mr. Frost is a deacon of the Presbyterian church, and an extensive merchant and manufacturer. Mr. Humphrey is a merchant, and the burgess of the borough of Towanda. An inquisition by such men needs no defence.

Another Cabinet Change Contemplated.

SECRETARY BOUTWELL TO RESIGN.

No Modification of the Tariff This Session.

A Call for Troops from the Governor of South Carolina.

WASHINGTON, March 21, 1871.

Rumored Contemplated Change in the Cabinet—Secretary Boutwell to Retire—Senator Morton to Assume the Vacant Portfolio.

There is a rumor to-night that Secretary Boutwell will shortly retire from the Treasury Department and that he will be succeeded by Senator Morton, of Indiana. The story, as told by those who circulate it, is that the President has become satisfied that Boutwell's financial policy is unpopular, and that if continued it will get the administration into inextricable trouble. Morton would be acceptable to the West, where Boutwell is said to be very unpopular. When the change will be made is not stated.

The Governor of South Carolina Asking for Government Aid in Repressing Outrages.

To-day Senators Robertson and Sawyer accompanied D. H. Chamberlain, the Attorney General of South Carolina, and L. C. Carpenter, to the Executive Mansion, the two last named having been delegated by the Governor of that State to visit the President on the subject of affording protection to the people in the upper part of South Carolina, near the North Carolina line. Mr. Chamberlain represented the condition of affairs in that section, and desired to know how long the four companies of cavalry now on their way would remain there, for he said that if their sojourn were only for a brief period it would do more harm than good. The President listened patiently to the representations made by him, and assured these gentlemen that the troops should remain there long enough to restore peace and secure obedience to the laws, even if they should be thus employed during the remainder of his administration. The gentlemen expressed themselves satisfied, and will to-morrow leave for home. When Senator Robertson was asked by the delegation to accompany them he cheerfully consented, saying that, as a representative of all classes in South Carolina, he would do anything in his power to secure an audience with the President, and he would render a like service to all others who sought a remedy for the grievances of which they complained.

The President Disposed Not to Press the St. Domingo Question.

The President has stated to several Senators to-day that he has no intention of pressing the St. Domingo business at this session. Should the Commissioners arrive before Congress adjourns their report will probably be sent in; but it is stated that no treaty of annexation will be submitted. It is considered by the warmest friends of the measure that to press annexation now would simply insure its defeat.

The Duty on Salt and Coal—No Interference with the Tariff.

The Senate Finance Committee held a meeting to-day and considered the House resolutions abolishing the duty on coal, salt, tea and coffee. A discussion took place as to the propriety of interfering with the tariff at this session. Some of the Western men were of the opinion that the duty on salt and coal should be abolished, even if the duty on tea and coffee are retained. It was finally decided to oppose all attempts to interfere with the tariff at this session. Senator Sherman, the chairman of the committee, was instructed, should the House resolution be taken up in the Senate, to move their reference to the Finance Committee and to have them postponed until next session.

The Tennessee and Arkansas Contested Election Cases.

The House Committee on Elections this morning unanimously agreed to report that the election in Tennessee last November was a legal one, and that the present members from that State are entitled to seats in the House. The committee next took up the Arkansas case of Boles versus Edwards, the former claiming that Mr. Edwards was not entitled to a seat, as Governor Clayton had been suspended from the Governorship, and therefore had no right to give a certificate of election to him. The committee decided that they could not look beyond the Governor's certificate, and will therefore report in favor of giving Mr. Edwards the seat. Edwards is a democrat.

Success of the New Loan in Europe.

Advices were received to-day by the Secretary of the Treasury from several of the European agents of the national loan to the effect that they had received propositions from certain bankers to subscribe for the entire amount of the one hundred million dollars of five per cents now on the market for subscription, provided the limit of twenty days, which expires on the 29th inst., is withdrawn. It will be remembered that on the opening of the books on the 6th inst. Secretary Boutwell announced that he would for twenty days offer two hundred millions of dollars of the five per cent bonds, one half for subscribers in this country and one half for subscribers in foreign countries. The object was to give both sides an equal chance in making their subscriptions, and the understanding was that whatever the amount subscribed the limit should be as advertised. If, however, at the expiration of the twenty days the $100,000,000 offered on this side of the water is not taken, and the European bankers wish to take the balance, it is believed that Secretary Boutwell will accept their proposition.

The Son of the Late General Meagher.

A delegation, consisting of Colonel John Warren, Major Haverty and Major Horgan, from the Irish Brigade Association, called upon the President to-day to request that an appointment as cadet in the West Point Military Academy might be given the son of the late General Thomas Francis Meagher. They were introduced by Colonel Roberts, member of Congress from New York, who stated the object of their visit. The appointment was asked on behalf of the Irish Brigade. Major Haverty alluded to the services of the brigade and of its deceased commander to the cause of the Union, and stated that this appointment of the surviving son of the late lamented General was the only favor the association had ever asked from the administration. The President received the delegation very kindly, and promised to give the matter his careful consideration when the time came to make new appointments at large to the Military Academy.

Nominations by the President.

The following nominations were sent to the Senate to-day:—David F. Corbin, United States Attorney for the district of South Carolina; James Belger, to be major and quartermaster.

Democratic Candidate for Delegate in Congress.

The democratic and conservative delegates to the District of Columbia Convention to-night nominated Richard T. Merrick as candidate for delegate in Congress.

FORTY-SECOND CONGRESS.

First Session.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, March 21, 1871.

THE JOINT INVESTIGATION COMMITTEE.

The amendment of the House to the Senate concurrent resolution for a joint committee of investigation on the South was considered.

Mr. ANTHONY, (rep.) of R. I., moved to restore the clause stricken out by the House authorizing the committee to print and publish from time to time, during the recess, the results of their investigations.

Mr. THURMAN, (dem.) of Ohio, protested against this as an attempt to print partisan electioneering documents at the public expense. If for the benefit of Congress, the report need not be made till next session, as provided by the resolution. He (Mr. Thurman) would not trust any body of men with power to print political electioneering documents at pleasure.

Mr. STEWART, (rep.) of Nev., thought the exposure of the outrages in the South necessary to the peace of the country.

Mr. MORTON, (rep.) of Ind., supposed, as the existence of outrages in the South were generally denied by the press and orators of the democracy in other parts of the country, that that party would be anxious to have the testimony published as soon as possible. Besides, it was to the interest of the South in restoring immigration and otherwise that, if untrue, the falsity of such reports should be shown. The object of the committee was to furnish information as to the true condition of the South, and yet the Senator from Ohio (Mr. Thurman) would have the facts locked up until next winter. A report in regard to one of these States (North Carolina) had been made, and that horrible record could not be obscured by any excuse that might be set up for it.

Mr. THURMAN, in an extended reply to Mr. Morton, denied the latter's assertion that the democratic Senators had shown the least disposition to oppose the investigation or that there had been any opposition to it whatever. He would challenge that Senator to point to a single democrat who had voted against it. Every disorder or so-called outrage in the South was magnified a hundred fold for party purposes, and was made to serve as an additional pretext for putting the heel of military power upon the necks of that prostrate people. He knew that these outrages were injuring the people of the South and the country, but he denied that the perpetrators of them represented in any way the people of their localities. He would challenge any man on the floor to deny that the wealth, social standing and representative men of the South were as much opposed to these outrages as was any man in Congress. He ridiculed the idea held out by Mr. Morton that the democratic party was to be injured by such occurrences. That was the party of law and order, and its influence had always been exerted in that direction. Could not the Senator (Mr. Morton) recollect when the streets of Baltimore ran red with the blood of democrats, shed by the minions of Know Nothingism? Did he forget the scene of Louisville and the persecution of religious women, and other instances because of their faith? Were these instigated by democrats? And yet these outrages were but drops in a bucket in comparison with the organized system of outrage and plunder to which the Southern people were now subjected in the name of law and order that radical politicians might thrive. The immediate question before the Senate was as to the propriety of appointing a roving commission to go wandering over the South, who shall make reports, not to Congress, by whom they are appointed, but to the country at large. It was now proposed that they should report to the country, not the facts, but the supposed results of their investigation. The result would be half a dozen reports from the minority and majority of the different sub-committees, and thus Congress would present the spectacle of sending out to collect political capital in one section for consumption in another, to the detriment of both. His colleague (Mr. Sherman) had spoken of the state of things in the South as impossible of comparison with that of any other country; but when Napoleon Bonaparte was elected First Consul there were not less than forty thousand banditti in France living by violence and plunder. History presented many similar cases of long continued social disturbances attendant upon civil conflicts. He (Mr. Thurman) thought it most creditable to the American people that after a civil war of the extent of our own there should have been so few banditti and so little actual disorder. The disbanding of the great armies on both sides and their quiet return to their homes was a most impressive example. Referring to the fact stated in the debate that of the 83,000 votes cast for the republican ticket in North Carolina only 3,000 were those of white men, Mr. Thurman went on to comment upon the financial ruin of the State as the result of a combination of 3,000 adventurers with the illiterate negro population; yet under such provocations the white people were expected to be as mild and gentle as so many lambs. No people would be made orderly while being trained under the heel. If we would have order in North Carolina let political adventurers retire to the background and the people be allowed to assert their will; then the laws would be vindicated.

Mr. WILSON, (rep.) of Mass., thought that after the speech just made the resolution might as well be laid on the table and the Judiciary Committee be instructed to bring in a bill to carry out the provisions of the fourteenth amendment, and that Congress should walk up to the verge of extreme power to protect the people of the country. It was a mistake to propose the committee, and nothing would be gained by it. The reports of the officers of the Freedmen's Bureau disclosed murders and violence that were enough to make the heart sicken. The reports of army officers, Generals Thomas, Sherman and others, on the South made similar revelations.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Mr. KELLOGG, (rep.) of La., introduced a bill to incorporate the New York and San Blas Railway Company.

Also a bill to aid in the construction and maintenance of twenty or more first class iron steamships, and to secure to the government the use of the same for postal, naval and other purposes; incorporating John Roach, William H. Webb, P. N. Spofford, Henry Steers and others, as the "American Mail and Ocean Transportation Company" for carrying the United States mails, &c., the government to pay the interest on the bonds of the company for thirty years to the amount of $20,000,000.

LIMITING LEGISLATION FOR THE SESSION.

The regular order, being Mr. Anthony's resolution specifying legislation for the present session, was then taken up.

Mr. AMES, (rep.) of Miss., was awarded the floor upon the condition of the South. He said one-half of the suffering of the people of the South had not been told, and attributed the cause of much of the disorder to the enfranchisement of the colored element and their daring to contend for political supremacy with their fellow citizens. The theory that the minority had control in the South was a mistake. In Mississippi the colored population had a majority of seventy thousand, and their sympathies were all with the republican party. It had been said on this floor that the army had been used to intimidate citizens and to prevent a free expression of the popular will at the polls. He denied there was any foundation for such statements, except that soldiers acting under the direction of the white men, had at times driven colored voters from the polls. As a contrast to the unforgiving spirit of slavery and rebellion still rampant in the South he had read by the Secretary the resolutions passed by the republican Legislature of Mississippi, asking Congress to remove the political disabilities of all the people of that State. Yet the very members who passed these resolutions had been compelled to petition government for protection. The most fearful outrages were of daily occurrence in that State. He then referred to a recent despatch from Governor Alcorn, of Mississippi, to the effect that the State authorities are competent to put down any disorders which may prevail, and also to Alcorn's proclamation of December, 1870, against the Ku Klux Klan. The Legislature had appropriated $50,000 to aid in the arrest and conviction of Ku Klux associations. Governor Alcorn had drawn every cent of this money, yet he (Mr. Ames) had not heard of one Ku Klux being arrested. He was in constant receipt of letters from Mississippi detailing wholesale outrages upon Unionists by rebels. The telegraphic report of the riot at Meridian was untrue, as the judge who was shot was a republican, and it was preposterous to say that the colored men would shoot their friends. Mr. Ames then submitted and had read a letter from a republican member of the Legislature that the riot was the result of a combination by rebels to overthrow reconstruction in that county; that many murders of colored men had been committed which would never be discovered; that the colored people had been disarmed by the sheriff, who proposes to protect them, and condemning the Governor for his failure to protect them. The occurrence within sixty days of over 800 murders of republicans in Louisiana, for which there were no convictions, and the fact that no Ku Klux was ever punished, were spoken of by Mr. Ames as indicative of the wide spread terrorism exercised by the Ku Klux order. Murders at the South, unlike individual cases at the North, were systematic and for political reasons.

Mr. POOL, (rep.) of N. C., stated, by way of correcting a statement by Mr. Thurman, that the white republican votes in North Carolina at the last election number from thirty thousand to thirty-five thousand instead of three thousand.

Mr. SCOTT called attention to the sad and serious aspect of the question. He was about to address the Senate at length, when he yielded the floor, at the suggestion of Senators, to fix a time for taking a vote on the resolution.

After an informal discussion Mr. THURMAN remarked it was evident that no agreement could be made, and moved to take up the House resolution for adjournment.

Mr. HAMLIN, (rep.) of Me., thought this the wisest thing that could be done, and gave notice that he would move an amendment for final adjournment on Monday next, instead of Thursday.

After further discussion Mr. THURMAN withdrew his motion, and it was agreed to take a vote upon Mr. Anthony's resolution and all amendments to-morrow (Wednesday) at two o'clock.

GENERAL AMNESTY.

Without further debate Mr. SAWYER, (rep.) of S. C., then took the floor and moved as an amendment to the pending resolution to include the consideration at the present session of the General Amnesty bill lately reported from the Committee on Disabilities. He argued that the passage of this bill would do much to restore harmony and contentment in the South.

Mr. ROBERTSON, (rep.) of S. C., advocated general amnesty because he wished to see peace and harmony restored to his country.

Without concluding the debate, the Senate, at six o'clock, adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WASHINGTON, March 21, 1871.

THE VENEZUELAN CLAIMS.

Mr. BLAIR, (rep.), of Mich., introduced a joint resolution authorizing the Secretary of State to pay to the holders of the certificates of award the moneys paid by the republic of Venezuela in the settlement of claims.

Mr. BROOKS, (rep.) of N. Y., said as there was a great deal of dispute about the matter, the resolution ought not to be passed without consideration.

There was no further action on the subject.

Mr. STEVENSON, (rep.) of Ohio, moved that the House adjourn, which, at half-past one o'clock, was agreed to—yeas 107, nays 72.

THE FRENCH RELIEF FUND.

Minister Washburne's Disposition of His Trust—Interesting Correspondence.

The statement contained in a telegraphic despatch from Paris that Minister Washburne employed the funds forwarded to him by the committee for the relief of the suffering French in distributing tobacco and money to the members of the National Guard is authoritatively denied. The correspondence between Mr. Washburne and M. Jules Favre, to be found below, is sufficiently explanatory:—

MR. WASHBURNE TO MR. FISH.

LEGATION OF THE UNITED STATES, PARIS, Feb. 8, 1871.

SIR—I received yesterday a telegraphic despatch from Mr. Moran, through the intermediance of Count de Bismarck, stating that $5,000 had been placed to my credit with the banking house of J. S. Morgan & Co., of London, as a first instalment of a subscription in New York city for the poor in France. I immediately called on M. Jules Favre to consult him as to the best manner of distributing the fund, and he suggested that the portion of it to go to Paris and the surrounding villages should be placed in the hands of M. Ernest Picard, the Minister of Finance, who would associate with him a commission, to include one American, who would attend to its distribution. As the American, I have named Mr. Joseph Karrick Riggs, long a resident of Paris, a gentleman of honor, of responsibility and intelligence. I have this day sent to M. Favre 25,000 francs to go into the hands of M. Picard. I have sent 12,500 francs to Stephen E. Lee, Esq., a respectable American gentleman residing at Tours, to be distributed among the poor in the valley of the Loire. No man can make a more just or satisfactory distribution than Mr. Lee. I have retained 5,500 francs in my own hands for future distribution, this amount sent to me as the "first instalment." By the time another instalment arrives I hope to be fully advised as to the distribution which it will be best to make of it. The sufferings of the poor in all parts of France where the war has been have been so terrible that it is very hard to discriminate as to the localities where aid shall be sent. I have no knowledge of the benevolent parties who have made this generous subscription in the city of New York, and I am therefore unable to communicate with them as to what I have done thus far. If you shall know them, perhaps you will deem it proper to communicate to them the contents of this despatch. I have the honor to be, &c.,

E. B. WASHBURNE.

To Hon. HAMILTON FISH, Secretary of State.

REPLY OF THE FRENCH MINISTER.

Next follows two letters from Jules Favre to Minister Washburne, the first acknowledging a check for 25,000 francs, representing the amount of the subscriptions opened in New York, for which he expresses "profound gratitude." The second letter reads:—

PARIS, Feb. 10, 1871.

SIR—I am infinitely touched by the striking marks of sympathy which my country receives from your free America, and I beg you to convey the expression of my gratitude to your countrymen in New York who have been kind enough to take the initiative in this generous offering addressed to France, so cruelly tried. I transmit to-day to my colleague, M. Picard, Minister of the Finances, the sum of 25,000 francs you have had the kindness to send me, begging him to name for the distribution of this amount a commission, of which Mr. Joseph Karrick Riggs shall be a member, a gentleman whom you have named, and who will hasten to take your instructions. I take this occasion to renew the assurance with which I have the honor to be, &c., &c.

THE JOINT HIGH COMMISSION.

The Powers of the Delegates Assembled at Washington.

Delusion of Americans—On What Condition England Will Alone Cede Territory—Canada Can Go if She Pleases.

The steamship City of London, Captain Tibbetts, from Liverpool the 9th, via Queenstown 10th, arrived at this port last night. She brings three days later news from Europe.

The Anglo-American Commission.

[From the London Times, March 8.]

We are told that "the question of the cession of British America to the United States is to be brought before the Joint Commission," and that "its policy is earnestly discussed." Now, putting for the moment other considerations out of sight, let it be observed what this implies respecting the manner in which the Commission is regarded by the Americans.

THE DELUSION OF THE AMERICANS.

They are evidently under the delusion that our liability for the Alabama claims is a settled matter, and that the Commissioners will meet for no other purpose than to estimate the amount of the penalty to be exacted from us. The opinion expressed by Mr. Fish to Lord Clarendon is, as we feared, a foregone conclusion with a great part of the American people. Mr. Fish "assumed," as the principle on which the case must be decided, "that the negligence of the officers of the British government was gross and inexcusable and such as indisputably to devolve upon that government full responsibility." No room remained, he thought, for debate on this point, and it should be taken for granted in all future negotiations with Great Britain. It would seem that by dint of mere reiteration this "assumption" has taken firm root in the American mind, and it cannot, therefore, be too often repeated that it is an assumption which we absolutely repudiate. We make no counter assumption.

WHY LORD RUSSELL'S REFUSAL WAS WITHDRAWN.

We have withdrawn Lord Russell's peremptory refusal to take into consideration the question of our responsibility, and we are willing to submit our case to the decision of an impartial arbitrator. If, after hearing all we have to urge, such an umpire should allow the justice of Mr. Fish's accusation, we are ready loyally to accept the decision and to consider further what amends are due. But until such an independent decision has been pronounced we hold that the American government has no claim upon us whatever.

THE POWERS OF THE JOINT HIGH COMMISSION.

No proposal, therefore, for damages can have any standing ground before the Joint High Commission. The utmost they can consider is how the preliminary question of responsibility is to be settled. They are incompetent to consider even that question themselves; for we should never allow an issue gravely affecting the honor of this country to be judged by a commission, however respectable, representing the two parties interested; nor ought the Americans to regard such a body of men as competent to decide one of the most important points ever raised in international law. The function of the Commissioners, in short, in dealing with the Alabama claims will be precisely similar to that discharged by Lord Stanley and Mr. Reverdy Johnson in negotiating their ill-fated convention. The powers of our Commissioners enable them to treat "for an agreement as to the mode of the amicable settlement of the differences between us." If the United States Commissioners should not be prepared to admit this reserve on the part of our representatives all discussion on the question must cease. We beg the Americans, therefore, distinctly to understand that all such language as we have quoted is beside the mark, because it begs the only question which is at present in dispute.

THE ATTITUDE RESPECTING PRELIMINARY INQUIRY.

But if the Senators and politicians of the United States misapprehend our attitude respecting the preliminary inquiry, their error with respect to the kind of concessions we might ultimately make to them is simply amazing. The policy of the cession of British America to the United States is "earnestly discussed." Of course, if such a suggestion were made before our Commissioners they would take care that it was never mentioned to them again. But the Senators will do well further to understand that they may just as well expend earnest discussion upon the policy of annexing this island to the Continent of America.

THE ONLY WAYS BY WHICH ENGLAND WILL YIELD HER COLONIAL DOMINIONS.

If any portion of our colonial dominions is ever joined to the United States it can only be in one of two ways. It must be either at the express wish of the colonists, or it must be effected by forcible annexation as the result of a war. We should never stir a finger to retain the colonists if they desired to throw off their allegiance. They are absolutely their own masters in this respect. But so long as they wish to retain their connection with us, and are willing to bear their fair share of the sacrifices it may involve, they may rely on our never entertaining a suggestion to abandon either them or their rights.

THE PRUSSIAN IDEA "WON'T GO DOWN" WITH ENGLAND.

It is singular that the idea of ceding territory, and transferring the allegiance of its inhabitant without regard to their wishes, should appear so natural and harmless in the New World just as it has lost all countenance in the Old. Prussia, indeed, has seized Alsace and Lorraine by the sword. But we know what was thought last autumn of a cool proposal to remodel the map of Europe by a private agreement between two sovereign Powers. The English people must have lost all sense of honor before they listen to proposals to make away with their colonies to suit their own convenience, and even Lord Salisbury would admit that we are very far from such a pass as yet. But we have not yet touched the limit of

SENATORIAL EXTRAVAGANCE.

A resolution has been actually introduced into the Senate, discussed and referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations, which recommends the Commission "to take into consideration the fact that the possession by Great Britain of the northern portion of the Continent of North America is, in its very nature, an obstacle to the permanent harmony of the two governments and a standing incitement to persons anxious to involve them in war." There is a coolness about this suggestion which could not be surpassed. It can only be compared to a landowner informing his neighbors that the possession of land in the county by any one but himself will be a permanent obstacle to harmony between them, and that they will, therefore, find it better quietly to give him possession of their holdings.

THE COMMISSION IN WASHINGTON.

No Session Yesterday—The American Members in Consultation—More Festivities and More Dinner Parties.

WASHINGTON, March 21, 1871.

The American Commissioners were in session to-day at the State Department for several hours, but there was no session of the Joint High Commission. The English members availed themselves of the opportunity of spending the day in social enjoyments.

This evening Colonel Rathbone gave a dinner at his residence in honor of the marriage of his son, Captain J. L. Rathbone, who has recently arrived in Washington, with his bride, from San Francisco. There were present Sir Edward Thornton and lady, Lord Tenterden, H. S. Northcote, D. Cremer, Mrs. Judge Field, Miss Alice and Miss Kate Riggs, J. C. Kennedy and Miss Metcalf, Senator Bayard, Miss Wise, Hamilton Fish, Jr., Miss Harris, Captain Rathbone and wife and Colonel Rathbone and wife. The other members of the British Commission remained at home this evening, the only time, except Sunday evening, that they have been exempt from participating at a dinner party.

To-morrow evening Earl De Grey will entertain a party at his residence. J. C. Bancroft Davis, Secretary of the American Commissioners, will also give a dinner party at his residence on H street. On Saturday evening Sir Edward Thornton will give a dinner to the members of the Joint High Commission.

THE CRISPINS.

The Strike in Hopkinton, Mass.—State Troops Called Upon to Quell Disturbances.

BOSTON, March 21, 1871.

To-day, at the request of the authorities of Hopkinton, a squad of State police was despatched from this city to deal with the disturbances which have lately arisen in that town. The facts of the case appear to be as follows:—

The Crispins employed in Coburn's shoe manufactory have been on strike lately for more pay, and considerable bitter feeling was engendered in consequence. On Saturday several of the strikers went to the shop and proposed to resume work, but they would not be admitted. They then undertook to enter by force, when the owner of the shop called upon three of his sons to keep them out, and before the struggle was over three of the Crispins were shot and badly wounded. A call was then made on the town constable to arrest the man who fired the shots; but he declined. Three new constables were then appointed to make the arrest. These, however, declined to be sworn in, and consequently made no arrest. Major Keene, a State constable of Milford, was then appealed to, and he arrested one man and lodged him in the county jail.

The force sent from this city will, doubtless, succeed in making what arrests are necessary and restore order. Phipps, Harney and Leberay are said to be the names of the persons shot.

Augustus Newhalter, another of the parties charged with obtaining goods from Hill & Moynan, 275 Grand street, some time ago, under forged orders, was brought before Judge Ledwith yesterday morning. The case was sent to the Grand Jury.

AMUSEMENTS.

FOURTEENTH STREET THEATRE.—A large and brilliant assemblage thronged this house last evening, owing in a great measure to the desire of seeing Madame Seebach in a new part and to the first appearance on any stage of Mr. Henry Wolfsohn, who assumed the title rôle. Making sufficient allowance for the nervousness which must necessarily attend a début, we are bound to say that Mr. Wolfsohn's impersonation of Othello was a remarkable and in many respects a praiseworthy effort. The best point about his performance was a refreshing absence of staginess, but he was tame in the opening speech, and as the action of the play demanded the development of high histrionic powers, was by no means up to the height of the situation. He lacks the physique required for his arduous and difficult part, although it is evident that he has bestowed considerable care and pains upon the character, and is by no means deficient in histrionic talent. His selection of Othello was, however, an unfortunate one, for no amount of industry and talent can make up for the lack of physical power and genius which are called into play in this great part. If he had chose a less ambitious part he might have been more successful. Madame Seebach's performance was characterized by tenderness and grace. She was somewhat too lachrymose in the opening scene. This defect is, however, slight, and it is pleasant to turn to the rest of her performance, which demands our highest praise. Her acting throughout the play, particularly in the scene with Emilia when Desdemona has already a foreshadowing of the end, was fine and suggestive. Subsequently, when left alone to face the wrath of her infuriated husband, the feeling of terror was admirably depicted; while the close and piteous holding to life in the last scene, when Othello is about to stab her, was one of the finest points of her performance. Mr. Harry's impersonation of Iago was a triumph of dramatic art, and the applause of the public was spontaneous and enthusiastic. He made Iago a crafty, thoroughly intellectual villain—a Mephistopheles in disguise—and no actor within our recollection has surpassed his masterly assumption of Iago. In the last act, where all his black plots are laid bare, his face and figure was intensely charged with the mental agony of a baffled fiend. Mlle. Veneta's performance of Emilia was likewise a masterly effort. In the scene where she upraids Iago for his villany she deservedly called forth prolonged applause. Mr. Kraus, as Cassio, was too boisterous in the drunken scene, and his performance of the part showed a lamentable lack of light and shade. Mr. Fatch, as Brabantio, deserves to be mentioned in terms of praise. The orchestra, under the able direction of Mr. F. J. Eben, was one of the features of the performance. On Thursday evening Madame Seebach will assume the part of Griseldis.

OLYMPIC—HORIZON.—The first representation of Augustin Daly's new play, "Horizon," was given at this theatre last night before an audience that filled the greater number of seats in the house. The plot and most striking incidents in this play have been already published in the HERALD. The significant phase of New York life alluded to in the bill is the usual story, whether presented in the form of a missing child, an abandoned wife or devoted lover. But the varied incidents peculiar to American frontier life at the present day, which occupy four acts of the play, are not so susceptible of representation. It would be unfair and well nigh impossible to give, at the late hour at which the play ended, a decided opinion of its merits, judging from its first production. Some of the scenes did not work well last night, particularly the best one, a panorama of a Western river. This is an exceedingly effective scene, when in due working order, and a genuine novelty. Vistas of the primitive forest are unfolded in kaleidoscopic forms to the audience, and behind them glides the primitive flatboat, until its course is interrupted by the night attack of the Indians. The drawing room scene in the first act is another of Mr. Hayes' artistic triumphs, and may safely challenge competition with the uptown establishments. Some of the tableaux are exceedingly effective and natural in the manner in which they are introduced. There are many strong points in the play, but they were not apparent last night, owing to the unavoidable hitches of a first performance. Stage Indians are, as a general rule, nuisances, and Mr. Daly has manfully striven in his play to abate their objectionable features. Of the numerous characters the most successful are those represented by Miss Agnes Ethel and Messrs. J. K. Mortimer, G. L. Fox and J. B. Studley. Future performances may bring out the other ladies and gentlemen into such prominence as will call for commendation.

OBITUARY.

Thomas Gill.

The Boston papers announce the decease on the 18th inst., at his residence in the Boston Highlands, of Thomas Gill. He was born in England in 1804. It is no rich man's obituary we are now called upon to chronicle, but that of a man who has made rich men and great politicians. In 1834 Mr. Gill became attached to the Boston Post. From his genial pen arose a style of humorous literature that gave the Post its early prestige. From humor to pathos, from lightness to the solid performance of a truthful and reliable reporter, Mr. Gill rapidly won the esteem and confidence of his employers, until he finally became the best and most popular of all the attachés of the Boston press. He was a favorite of Chief Justices Story and Shaw, as he was of all the succeeding presiding officers of the judicial bench of Massachusetts. Rufus Choate liked "Tom Gill," all the lawyers of Boston liked "Tom Gill," and when Governor Boutwell gave to Tom a snug little office in Suffolk county there were none, neither of the press, the bar, the bench or the pulpit but congratulated the Governor on the act which relieved the veteran of his arduous reportorial duties. "Poor Tom's a cold," but his memory will long live among those who knew him well and who knew how to appreciate a kindly heart and a sound judgment.

DROWNED IN THE HUDSON.

An inquest was held at Hastings on the Hudson yesterday by Coroner Smith on the body of an aged woman named Mary Thompson, which was found floating in the river a short distance south of that place. It appears that the deceased, whose mental equilibrium had been somewhat disturbed by the weight of years she bore, disappeared suddenly from her home in Yonkers about a week ago, and was not seen alive since by her relatives. A verdict was rendered in accordance with the above facts. Deceased was about ninety years old.

HOME AND THE HONEYMOON.

TELEGRAM TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

LONDON, March 21, 1871.

The marriage of the Princess Louise to the Marquis of Lorn was solemnized at one o'clock to-day in the royal Chapel of St. George, Windsor.

The weather was bright, cheerful and warm, as if an early spring had advanced its encouraging glow to meet the royal bride.

FEELING IN LONDON.

I am enabled to report specially by cable to the HERALD, in continuation the narrative of facts which I have furnished at different periods relative to the approach of the nuptial day, that the event produced very little excitement among the people at large. The citizens of London expressed much dissatisfaction that the marriage did not take place in Westminster Abbey or St. Paul's Cathedral, and not in the chapel at Windsor. The bells of St. Paul's chimed a joy peal during the afternoon, and a few of the city traders—but I am assured that it will be only a few—will illuminate their places of business and homes during the evening in honor of the occasion and in compliment to the Queen.

AT WINDSOR.

The little town of Windsor was crowded with people during the day, thousands of persons, clad in holiday attire, moving about on the Castle green from an early hour of the morning.

THE ETON "BOYS."

The Eton College "boys" were out in full force. They mustered on the Castle hill, enjoying themselves to the utmost, cracking jokes and cheering, but steered, so far as the moment when I write, clear of an unseemly collision with the shopkeepers or members of the mechanic and laboring classes.

RECEPTION OF THE COMPANY.

Soldiers of the Queen's Guard kept the passage from the railway station to the chapel clear for the convenience of the invited guests who came from London to Windsor by special train, and who, after landing from the railroad coaches, were conveyed in carriages belonging to the royal household to the chapel, having been first received with cheers by the populace as each of the magnates was recognized.

The ringing of the joy bells, was also renewed and continued after each arrival.

A BRILLIANT SCENE.

The interior of the Chapel of St. George presented a most magnificent appearance.

The walls and front of the galleries were decorated with the various knightly banners which hang in the church by right of honor. There were men in the most gorgeous uniforms, ladies in the richest robes, the sparkling and sheen of diamonds and a glorious sunshine streaming in through the ancient windows and lighting up the scene.

Premier Gladstone, the remainder of the Cabinet Ministers—I believe every one of them—the foreign Ambassadors serving "near" the Court of her Majesty the Queen, with the very "cream" of the "society" of Great Britain, were present.

THE DUKE AND DUCHESS OF ARGYLL.

Of the bridal party the first arrival was the most noble the Duke of Argyll, father of the bridegroom.

The Duke was dressed in full Highland costume, the material of the richest description and the ornaments of gold.

The Duke was accompanied by his wife, the Duchess of Argyll—the "dear Lady Leveson Gower" of Queen Victoria's early household—mother of the Marquis of Lorn.

COSTUME OF THE LADIES.

The Duchess of Argyll was robed in a costume fashioned of what is known as cloth of silver.

Her Royal Highness, the Princess of Wales, wore a robe of blue satin with a train of blue velvet.

Her Royal Highness entered the chapel leading the children of the Prince of Wales, the little ones clad in full Highland dress.

The Princess Christian—Princess Helena Augusta, sister of the bride—wore a robe of pink satin trimmed with white lace.

A DAZZLE FROM ASIA.

There was also present an Asiatic Princess from India, who appeared in perfect blaze of scarlet, gold and diamonds.

SILENCE AND A PAUSE.

The royal, noble and other distinguished personages having been ushered to the places set apart for their use, there was utter silence in the building.

A long pause ensued.

MR. DISRAELI STUDYING THE RUBRIC.

During the interim the Right Honorable Benjamin Disraeli, who arrived in very reasonable time on this occasion, opened the Book of Common Prayer of the Church of England, and appeared to read silently, as for his own edification, the marriage ceremony as it is prescribed in the ritual of the Established Church.

The remainder of the company chatted gaily with each other, laughing frequently.

THE BRIDEGROOM.

After a short time the bridegroom, the Marquis of Lorn, entered the church from the reception room which had been set apart for his use.

The magnificent choir of St. George's chapel intoned an anthem immediately.

GROOMSMEN.

The Marquis of Lorn was attended by his groomsmen, Earl Percy and Lord Leveson Gower.

MARRIAGE TOILET.

All three of the noble personages were dressed in the uniform of the Volunteer Argyllshire Rifle Artillery—green cloth, trimmed with silver.

THE MARQUIS AT THE ALTAR.

The Marquis of Lorn appeared pale and nervous as he approached and stood by the altar.

There was another pause for a few moments.

THE QUEEN.

Queen Victoria then entered. Her Majesty was robed in a dress of black satin, cut very low around the neck. She wore a coronet of diamonds and long veil of the richest lace.

THE BRIDE.

Her royal Highness the Princess Louise—the bride elect—followed her mother, the Queen.

BRIDAL ROBE.

The Princess wore a dress of white satin with a train of white velvet, a veil of Honiton lace, and a wreath of orange flowers.

THE BRIDESMAIDS.

Eight bridesmaids—daughters of dukes and earls—bore up the train of the bride as she advanced to the altar.

The noble ladies who were honored by the Queen by being named to perform this act of friendship and duty were:—

Lady Constance Seymour, daughter of the Marquis of Hertford.

Lady Elizabeth Campbell, daughter of the Duke of Argyll.

Lady Florence Lennox, daughter of the Duke of Richmond.

Lady Mary Butler, daughter of the Marchioness of Ormonde.

Lady Alice Fitzgerald, daughter of the Marquis of Kildare.

Lady Grace Gordon, daughter of the Dowager Marchioness of Huntly.

Lady Florence Montagu, daughter of the Earl of Sandwich.

Lady Agatha Russell, daughter of Earl Russell.

The bridesmaids were dressed in pure white silk.

They had on white necklaces and wreaths of roses, and appeared beautiful and elegant in their comparatively simple toilets.

The bridesmaids did not wear veils.

PRAYER.

Queen Victoria and the Princess Louise knelt before the high altar of the church during a few moments, engaged in prayer.

THE CEREMONY.

The Marquis of Lorn, attended by the groomsmen, advanced to the altar immediately afterwards.

The Lord Bishop of London, assisted by their Lordships the Most Reverend the Bishops of Oxford and Worcester, performed the ceremony of marriage according to the rite of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

Queen Victoria gave away the bride.

The Princess Louise made the the reponses to the clergy in a clear, audible voice, but the bridegroom, Lord Lorn, was almost inaudible in his replies.

A HEARTY, MOTHERLY KISS.

At the very moment of the conclusion of the ceremony the Queen took the bride in her arms, folded her to her heart and gave her a hearty kiss.

OBEISANCE TO THE THRONE.

The Marquis of Lorn bent on his knee and kissed the Queen's hand.

CONGRATULATIONS.

The royal party then received the congratulations of all who were entitled by rank to offer them.

TO THE PALACE.

After this the party quitted the chapel slowly.

The bride and bridegroom and the Queen were received with cheers by the crowd outside, and "wedding favors" were waved on both sides during the passage of the cortége back to the Castle of Windsor.

WEDDING FETE.

A wedding breakfast was served in the Castle to all the invited guests who had witnessed the ceremony.

The royal party breakfasted separately and without company.

There was no speechmaking.

Two immense "right royal" wedding cakes were served to the guests and people.

THE HONEYMOON TOUR.

The bride retired for the purpose of changing her dress.

She reappeared after a short time clad in a most charming travelling costume, made of the Campbell tartan plaid.

In company with her husband, Lord Lorn, the Princess took a carriage for Claremont, where the happy pair will spend the honeymoon.

GOOD WILL AND GOOD WISHES.

The road was ornamented with triumphal arches along the entire route from Windsor to Claremont.

The people were out in great force and cheered the bride and bridegroom with an uninterrupted good will all the way from the chapel grounds until they entered their new home. The event is being celebrated with salvos of artillery in all the principal cities of the United Kingdom.

THE MARRIAGE IN NEW YORK.

Outside the Travellers' Club a blue banner was yesterday flying in honor of the marriage, which was given out to be the emblem of the house of Argyll. In the evening about a hundred guests of Lord Campbell assembled and held high carnival. The banqueting hall was profusely decorated with flowers, and presented a very brilliant and pleasing appearance. The speaking was of the usual "wedding" character, and the health of the happy couple, the British royal family and the ancient house of Argyll were enthusiastically drank. Lord Campbell is a short, slim, pale, sandy-haired young gentleman, with small but brilliant dark blue eyes. He is said to be a good business man and in society is generally popular. The following gentlemen were present at the banquet:—Messrs. McDougall, Lounsbery, Balfour, Beresford; Archibald, English Consul; Cyrus Field, L. G. Watson, President French Cable Company; Bush, George Allen, Walter Watson, McKinlay; Hurst, President National Steamship Company and President Traveller's Club; Van Buren, Ducr, Robertou, Paton, Irvine, William Douglas, Bierstadt, Burlingbame, Schuyler, Francklyn, Robert Mackie and James Braneker.

After the good things provided had been done justice to the wedded pair were toasted, and several speeches appropriate to the occasion were delivered.

was as follows:—

Huîtres, potage à la Reine, Consommé de terrapines, anchois en salade aux olives, saumon de Kennebec, shad au Gratin filets de bœuf à la Gordon, pommes de terre à la Duchesse, ris de veau à la Jardinière, vol au vents de pigeons à la princesse, patés de foie gras de Strasbourg en Belle Vue; ponche, "Travellers' Club;" bécassines, ice, périgord, salade de laitue, suprême de fonds d'artichauts à l'Italienne, contes à la ananas, "boar's head" en surprise, the crest of Clan Campbell; glacés à la Nesselrode, a bride cake surmounted with the English coat-of-arms, pieces montées, fruits and dessert.

The floral decorations were simply roses and Scotch heather.

PROSELYTISM IN NEWARK.

A Young Girl Abandons Her Home and Her Religion—Mayor Peddie as an Evangelizer.

Considerable excitement prevails in Newark religious and social circles in consequence of the manner in which a young girl, named Catharine Ryan, sixteen years of age, was converted from Roman Catholicism to the Baptist persuasion. Catharine, it appears, went to hear Mr. Hammond, the revivalist, during his revivifying season at the First Baptist church. At first she was accompanied by her mother, but the latter soon became disgusted with the enthusiast's style of ministering to souls diseased, and she discontinued her visits. The daughter, being more susceptible, continued to attend, much against the wishes of her parents. As a last effort to dissuade her from her purpose, they warned her to stop in her career or else leave their house. She preferred the latter, and took service with a Mrs. Newton, of Halsey street. On Sunday last she was one of a batch of persons baptized by Rev. Dr. Fish. The latter, ex-Mayor Peddie and a number of other well known Protestant gentlemen have taken a deep interest in her case, but have incurred the unqualified displeasure of a large portion of the community out-ide of the Catholic Church. The matter may lead to much trouble.

LEASE OF THE MORRIS CANAL.

The Morris Canal, which for years past has ceased to be of any benefit to its proprietors, owing to its business being absorbed by the railroad companies, has at last virtually passed out of the hands of its owners. A proposition made by the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company to lease the canal and its works and franchises for 999 years at such a rent as will secure to the company the payment of the interest on all its indebtedness, and dividends to the preferred stockholders at the rate of ten per cent per annum, and to the common stockholders of four per cent per annum, has been accepted by the directors, and the President and a Newark lawyer have been appointed a committee to complete the negotiations and prepare a lease, to be submitted to the stockholders at the annual meeting on the 1d of next month. This action knocks the wind out of the sails of the city of Newark, which for a year or so has been tacking and filling, to carry out the nautical phraseology, in relation to the purchase, the object being to turn it into a grand water works.

BURIED AT SEA.

Death and Burial at Sea of the Captain of the Steamship Baltimore.

Captain Wm. Voeckler, of the steamship Baltimore, of the Baltimore and Bremen line, died on the 5th inst. at sea, and was buried, Rev. F. Jacobs, a missionary returning from England, conducting the funeral services. Captain Voeckler was fifty years of age, and leaves a wife and children in Bremerhaven. When the Baltimore entered the harbor this afternoon, with her flags at half mast, all German vessels displayed their flags in like manner. The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company had 100 guns fired to-night in respect to the memory of Captain Voeckler.

JAMAICA.

Herald Special Report from Kingston.

The Negro Police and American Seamen.

The Visit of the St. Domingo Commission an Event in the History of the Island.

Importance of the Herald in England.

Underwriters' Investigations of Marine Disasters.

TELEGRAM TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

KINGSTON, Ja., March 21, 1871.

Popular indignation is running high in consequence of the discovery that the United States Consul has been paying the negro police fifty-two pounds sterling for the capture of twenty-seven of the Tennessee's seamen, who had deserted. The effect of this action is mischievous in the extreme, because it offers inducements to the prostitutes to concert with the police to drug white sailors and keep them ashore, with the prospect of a reward being offered. Then the police know where to find the men; consequently the money is paid and a division made. This nice little arrangement amounts almost to slow murder for the purpose of making money. The question arises, who gets the money, the niggers or the government? Humanity cries shame! and the inhabitants of Kingston protest against the mischievous effect of this arrangement on the police, besides tempting to barbarities and threatening good order. The defence of the city police is that the commander of the Tennessee offered a reward of ten dollars a head for the men who had deserted.

Great fears are entertained by Haytien refugees that if the United States steamer Nantasket visits Port au Prince the enemies of the project of annexing St. Domingo may make offensive demonstrations against the Americans, and then retaliation will be sure to follow.

The United States Consul says that the St. Domingo Commissioners remarked that they were astonished, as well as much pleased, with the great contrast that Jamaica presented after viewing the condition of St. Domingo, and they left delighted with the general wish of the people of Jamaica for annexation to the United States.

The Queen's solicitor, Mr. Burke, says of the arrival of the St. Domingo Commissioners, that their paying Jamaica a visit is an era in the history of the island.

Lord Penrhyn, in England, seeing the HERALD'S Jamaica telegram announcing the burning of his estates on this island, telegraphed his attorney here for particulars. The news in the HERALD was the first intimation he had received of the fire.

Lieutenant Fellows, Royal Navy, has arrived from Lloyd's, London, to investigate certain marine disasters here. The investigations have been carried on with great secrecy. The case of the Twinkling Star has been concluded, and Lieutenant Fellows is satisfied of the correctness of the claim. Other investigations are about to commence.

The prospect of trade with the United States by the Pacific Mail Company's steamers is so great that an immense quay is being erected by Nunes Brothers, the agents of the line, to facilitate loading and discharging, as its steamers are the largest that call at the island.

The Royal Mail Steamship Company, in consequence of the increase of shipping trade since the abolition of lighthouse dues, are importing steam engines for discharging freight and coaling expeditiously.

On account of the numerous arrivals of steamships an increased coal supply is demanded.

ALBANY, March 21, 1871.

The resolution offered by Mr. Tweed that shall take place on the 8th proximo may be regarded by some people who are not thoroughly posted as to the present condition of things in the two Houses of the Legislature as mere buncombe, but there are those who know that it really means something. I do not pretend to say that the "Boss" has any idea that either House can get through its business by the time specified in the resolution; but the fact is, it was only thrown out as a sort of warning to the faithful of the lower House that it was absolutely necessary that certain people should attend to their business or bide the worst that is sure to come in the future. Another and a stronger reason yet for the resolution is the

THE FINAL ADJOURNMENT

in the Assembly, which is becoming more painfully apparent every day, to say nothing about the poor health of two members of the Senate and the hankering another has to be "fined" in order to be kept steady. In fact the leaders feel that the sooner they can bring the session to a close the safer it will be for themselves. Scarcely a day passes by now that one of the unwell Senators is not absent from his post, and, by the strangest kind of coincidence, the unsteady man is never at his post when the latter are on hand. When it is taken into consideration that all the democrats have to be in their seats to pass any bill the unpleasantness of the situation can be easily appreciated. But it is in the lower House where the outcropping of discontent and are beginning to show themselves in ways that are unmistakable. So far the rural democrats have not been able to make enough above their wages to pay their cheap boarding house expenses, and at the same time go without their usual whiskey rations. The experiences of last year taught many of these starving wretches that a man could, once in a while, make a nice little pile, and, at the same time, keep the thing dark, and the new comers, who only know of the golden delights of last year's session by hearsay, and who came here strongly animated by the hope that they would fare profitably as others had done before them, are fast coming to the conclusion that they will have to go home empty handed if somebody doesn't do something very, very soon. Is it extraordinary, then, under the circumstances, that they should begin to make the old, reliable heads ache by their unreliability? That they should never be on hand when an important measure is certain to come up, although they take care to make it known where they can be found when they are not on hand at the Capitol? That the democrats in either house do not seem to appreciate the danger their slim majority may bring them to by carelessness before the end is at hand I need only point to the Senate was in last night. As matters stood the entire evening the republicans had a clear majority for all ordinary purposes, and, had they been smart enough, might have placed the majority in a very bad fix before the people. Indeed they could have passed any sort of a resolution they had seen fit to offer. The more damaging in its intent and purpose the thing might have been to the already denned policy of the democrats in regard to important State matters, the greater would have been the harm done to the majority; for nine out of ten people who know that the Senate is democratic would have looked upon any such resolution as coming from a source where quite a different thing should be expected. And yet this weakness in front of the enemy has become of late an almost every other day occurrence in either House. Why nothing disastrous has so far come of it lies in the simple fact that there is no one man in the Senate who has smartness enough to seize upon the opportunities offered, and that the lower house has no one republican willing enough, against his own interests, to turn the tables, when to do so would be a mere question of a motion here and a resolution there. To add to the nervousness caused by the vacillating ways of some of the rural democrats, who are determined that their own party leaders shall "see" them often, several of the more desperate have actually gone so far as to make overtures to the minority, which, if accepted and thoroughly acted upon, would be certain to prove terribly disastrous to many pet measures, whose success, during the rush of the last week of the session, will depend upon the blindness with which certain men on the opposition side of the house will be profitably struck if they stand firm to the end. Under all the circumstances, therefore, it requires no great display of argument to show that Mr. Tweed's resolution "means business," and that if the welfare of the people does not, the safety of the majority does, demand an early adjournment.

THE RIGHTS OF ALIENS.

The question of giving aliens the right to dispose of and hold property in this State, even though they do not express their intention of becoming citizens, has several times this session got the members of the lower house by the ears and given rise to the most bitter encounters between the friends and opponents of the question. There are now two bills on the subject before each house, and, although both are somewhat similar in their general features, there is a wide difference between them as far as the rights of foreigners in disposing of property to other foreigners are concerned. One of them, fathered by Mr. Murphy, actually gives a foreigner a power that no citizen enjoys, and that is to sell or devise property to an alien. This bill, I feel confident, can never pass after what happened in the lower house to-day when the other bill came up on its third reading. To give you an idea of what it amounts to I append it herewith. It is as follows:—

The people of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:—

SECTION 1. The title of any citizen or citizens of this State to any lands within this State, and now in the actual possession of such citizen or citizens, shall not be questioned or impeached by reason of the alienage of any person or persons from or through whom such title may have been derived. Provided, however, that nothing in this act shall affect the rights of the State in any case in which proceedings for escheat have been instituted.

SEC. 2. Nothing in this act shall affect or impair the right of any heir, devisee, mortgagee or creditor by judgment or otherwise.

SEC. 3. This act shall take effect immediately.

It will be seen that the act confirms the title to real estate which title may be questioned by reason of alienage of former owners, and does not, by any means, make a law for the future. Yet on the question of its being sent to the sub-Committee of the Whole, the vote stood 52 to 51—not the requisite vote—and Alvord, by a neat dodge, had it tabled finally by a vote of 62 to 35. The gentleman from Onondaga favored the bill, but the opposition brought out against it by the active engineering of Denny Burns was so strong that he despaired of getting the required number of votes and so got it out of harm's way for the time being by the manœuvre he made so successful. It is said that there are a large number of foreign speculators who want the bill to pass.

THAT QUEER FISH OF A BILL,

giving the Seventy-ninth regiment $2,500 for the loss of uniforms while in the United States service during the late war, was rushed through the lower house this afternoon. The regiment has run down so of late that many people would like to know what is to be done with this money. There are very few of the old war members in the regiment now, who alone should be (if anybody is to be) benefited by it. Besides, the United States, and not New York State, should pay for the loss of uniforms. This bill will open the doors for a great many similar claims, and the Senate should close them at once by refusing to pass the measure.

The grave and reverend Signors of the Senate had quite

of it to-day, all on account of Lewis the Fierce. It appears Bradley has got into the habit lately of objecting to his bills, because Lewis had already paid him the same objection compliments on two important occasions. As unanimous consent is required at this state of the session for the introduction of a bill, this reciprocity treaty of neither give nor take between the two Senators will be rather rough on both if they keep to their pledges. However, Lewis made things worse to-day. He discovered a nice little game to get ahead of him, namely, that the democratic Senators changed their bills about so that nobody could tell who was the real father of any one. By this means Lewis expected Bradley could get in a bill under false colors, and so got up from his seat and declared that hereafter he would object to every bill offered on the democratic side of the house. This was war to the knife. "Boss" Tweed thought the outlook so serious as to justify a few remarks on the subject, during which he announced the important fact that could stand on its own bottom. Bradley also got his dander up and blew off steam about his own responsibility, and there and then all truces were declared at an end. The cause of Lewis showing his hand was a motion of Norton's to have a bill appropriating $25,000 to a charitable institution in Westchester county corrected, as the words "Richmond county" had got into it by mistake. The bullheadedness of Lewis' objection in this particular can be appreciated.

Although the Senate to-day concurred in the amendments of the House made to the Pneumatic Railroad bill, and passed it as amended by a vote of 16 to 4, after having yesterday refused to give the Broadway property owners a hearing, the Governor, I learn, has decided to grant them a hearing when the bill reaches him. The way the measure was sprung upon the House, even before a committee had looked it over, was as dis'raceful as the boldness its advocates displayed in the lobbies in openly making their bargains with members whose support they were doubtful about, and the Governor has doubtless been thoroughly posted as to the means employed to make the whole thing a success. It may be news for him to know, probably, that the bill first introduced, purporting to be the bill that was to be voted upon, was a totally different one from the one which was finally rushed through in such extraordinary haste. A petition against the bill, signed by all the large Broadway property interests, including all the banks, will be presented to the Governor to-morrow. In it a thorough exposé of the injury the road would entail on Broadway will be given, besides facts and figures that will astonish many a property owner who has been led to believe the scheme worthy of support. The have telegraphed up to-night that they will add their weight to the protest against the road, as they believe it will endanger the safety of the church.

THE TAX LEVY.

Senator Murphy will be in his seat to-morrow, and, as Senator Graham has concluded not to go it alone any more on any account, the new Tax Levy bill will be passed.

THE VIADUCT RAILROAD BILL, which was reported favorably upon to-day, will then be attended to. It will meet with no opposition in the Senate.

THE ERIE PEOPLE

are up here in strong force to-day and are as happy as clams at high tide, as it has leaked out that a majority of the Railroad Committee will report adverse to the Goodrich Repeal bill. Among the bills which were not laid out in Committee of the Whole during the evening session of the lower House were

KELLY'S COAL BILL,

which was ordered to a third reading, and Madigan's Telegraph bill. The former bill is a deadly blow to the New York coal dealers, who give short weight and grow rich on the strength of it. An effort was made to kill outright by a dodge that was quite worthy of the fellows whom the companies had made all right on the question; but it miserably failed, and was also ordered to a third reading. The bill provides that operators must affix to every despatch they receive or send the hour when received or forwarded.

THE RAILROAD BILL, which has created such a sensation in railroad circles, and which compels the companies to build iron bridges and come to a full stop before crossing a lengthy bridge, was progressed after Mr. Carman, a railroad president, had astonished everybody by stating that the much-wanted "patent brakes" were a fraud and of no use whatever. This bill will not be passed until severely amended.

PROPOSED APPROPRIATION FOR THE ERECTION OF A HOMŒOPATHIC HOSPITAL.

A petition, representing $250,000,000, has been presented to the Legislature in behalf of an appropriation to aid in the erection of a homœopathic hospital. The necessity for such a hospital is so well known and so universally acknowledged that argument is unnecessary. Nothing, however, proves its necessity more clearly than the report of Dr. Seeger, medical director of the Hahnemann (Homœopathic) Hospital. From this report we see that there are over six applications to the present contracted accommodations to every one that can be taken. The petition is signed by Peter Cooper, A. T. Stewart, Marshall O. Roberts, William Cullen Bryant, P. B. Sweeney, Horace Greeley, Charles E. Loew, Mayor Hall, Edwin Booth, R. B. Connolly, J. J. Astor, General McClellan and almost all of our most distinguished as well as heaviest taxpayers. Petitions from all the counties in the State are also being sent in. The Committee of the Homœopathic Hospital, having in charge the presenting of the petitions, consists of Hiram Calkins, R. B. Connolly, R. A. Storrs, Charles E. Loew and F. Seeger, M. D.

REAPPROPRIATION OF CANAL MONEYS.

Senator Hardenburgh introduced a bill providing that the unexpended balance of $1,897,665, appropriated by the act passed May 12, 1869, being $531,751, be appropriated to the same objects as specified in said act. Also reappropriating the sum of $100,000 for the supply of additional water on the Rome level, the unexpended balance of the $100,000 appropriated by chapter 877 of laws of 1869, and chapter 767 of 1870. The unexpended balance of the appropriation made for rebuilding the Oneida Lake Canal is reappropriated to improvement on the same.

CODE OF PROCEDURE.

Senator Chapman introduced a bill providing that the second clause of the section, ninety-ninth of the code, be amended as follows:—

An attempt to commence an action is deemed equivalent to the commencement thereof in all cases when the summons is delivered with the intent that it shall be actually served to the Sheriff or other officer of the county in which the defendant last resided, or if a corporation be defendant, to the Sheriff or other officer of the county in which such corporation was established by law.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

Senator Peirce introduced a bill providing for publishing the official proceedings of the Board of Supervisors in two papers of the county—one of each political party.

LIABILITY OF HOTEL KEEPERS.

Senator Tweed introduced a bill providing that hotel keepers in New York city and Brooklyn shall furnish their guests with checks for overcoats and umbrellas deposited with them; and no charge shall be made for the safe keeping of the articles left by guests. Every keeper of a hotel in the cities named shall post a copy of the above section of the proposed law in a conspicuous place in his house. Neglect to comply with the requirements of the section is made punishable by a fine of five dollars for each offence.

THE INSURANCE BILLS.

The Senate Insurance Committee to-day gave a hearing to the parties interested in the insurance bills before the Legislature. Arguments were made by the Hon. G. W. Miller (Superintendent of the Insurance Department), Mr. Morgan of New York, and Mr. Stephen English (of the New York Insurance Times)—most of those speaking against the bills. Mr. Miller strongly advocated some legislative action by which the interests of policy holders would be protected. The committee then adjourned till to-morrow afternoon.

FREE CANALS.

A joint meeting of the members of the Albany Board of Trade and Lumbermen's Association was held to-day, and, after an address from Mr. Hatch, resolutions were unanimously adopted endorsing the action of the Chamber of Commerce and Produce Exchange, of New York, and the commercial organizations in the State in favor of free canals. Petitions are coming in from all parts of the State in favor of the measure.

THE ERIE RAILROAD CASES IN THE COURT OF APPEALS.

The Erie Railroad cases, which were to come before the Court of Appeals to-day, were put over for two weeks.

THE INDIANS.

Relief of the Indians of the Southwest—Witchitas Raiding in Texas—Kiowas on the War Path.

WASHINGTON, March 21, 1871.

The Secretary of the Interior, in a communication to Congress, says the appropriation made for the subsistence of the Arrapahoe, Cheyenne, Apache, Kiowa and Comanche Indians during the second session of the Forty-first Congress will doubtless be exhausted by the 30th of June next. Should the feeding of these Indians be stopped after the ensuing July they will again scatter to the Plains, being compelled to do so to procure food. The labor and expense of locating them where they now are will have been of no use or permanent benefit either to the government or the Indians. Besides, they may commence depredations, which would result in another war and cost the government thousands of dollars, while it would not cost hundreds to feed them. The Secretary asks for subsidy for this purpose.

Official despatches to the War Department from the headquarters of the Cheyenne and Arrapahoes agency under date of February 15 report that the Osages for some time past have been trading ammunition and arms to the Cheyennes and Arrapahoes, and some of the men in camp avow that date carrying on the traffic report that the Osages got their powder and lead from a trader on Pond creek, about twenty miles south of the Kansas line. Five young men of the Cheyennes had been to Texas and killed one man and stolen two horses, and this is only one of many parties that had been south of the Red river for the purpose of plunder and murder. Fourteen or fifteen Witchitas have been raiding in Texas, and it is stated that mounted Pawnees have also started south. A party of Witchitas report having met near Red river twenty-five Kiowas and four Cheyennes coming home from the neighborhood of Fort Belknap, and having in their possession five scalps.

News from Fort Dodge, 18th inst., states that about fifty Indians, supposed to be Cheyennes, attacked a wagon train coming to Fort Dodge from Fort Hays at noon on that day, two miles from Buckner Ranche, on the Pawnee Fork. Company G, of the Tenth cavalry, was sent in pursuit.

THE TWELFTH COLLECTION DISTRICT OF NEW YORK.

POUGHKEEPSIE, March 21, 1871.

The Twelfth collection district of Internal Revenue, comprising seventeen divisions, has been reduced to twelve, and ten assistant assessors in Dutchess and Columbia counties have been discharged. Captain Wm. N. Woodin, United States Assessor for the district, has been removed and John J. Grant has been appointed in his stead.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

WALL STREET, TUESDAY, March 21—6 P. M.

In commercial circles to-day a buoyant feeling prevailed and an active business was done. The wheat market was firm, with transactions in seller's favor. Cotton opened steady and became strong at a slight advance in prices.

THE EXPORTS OF THE WEEK.

The aggregate amount of exports (exclusive of specie) from the port of New York to foreign ports for the week ending March 21, 1871, was $5,122,187.

MONEY FOUR TO FIVE PER CENT.

The demand for money was more active, but borrowers on the usual stock collaterals were fully supplied at five per cent. Where a good margin was permitted the larger houses were accommodated in some instances at four per cent, which was also the general rate in call loans with pledge of government securities. Prime commercial paper was quoted 6½ a 7 per cent.

Foreign exchange was steady, but dull, on the basis of 109¾ a 110 for prime bankers' sixty day sterling and 110¾ for sight bills, the business being light, owing to the postponement of the sailing of the steamer until Thursday. The exports for the past week, as above shown, ought to create a better supply of commercial bills.

GOVERNMENTS DULL.

The only department of Wall street affected by the news from Paris is the government bond market, which was dull and in some of the issues a fraction lower, in consequence of the inactivity of the London market, which shows considerable hesitation, as a result of the doings in France. British consols were only about steady, and the same remark would apply to our five-twenties, although the latter were, if anything, a trifle firmer than their English rivals. Wall street watches London rather than Paris.

GOLD STEADY—111 A 111¼.

The gold market was steady and strong; but its firmness was due more to the continued high rates for exchange than to any apprehensions connected with the effect upon our finances of the present situation of affairs in France. At the same time any tendency to decline under an anticipation of a coup d'état on the part of the Treasury Department next month was held in check by estimates of a large specie shipment on Thursday, the amount rumored to be engaged so far exceeding a million dollars. The steamer to-day took only $15,000. The prevailing sentiment of the Gold Room is, however, in favor of lower prices, as indicated by the unusual demand for cash gold from day to day to extend speculative contracts, a large proportion of the loans to-day having been made at "flat"—that is, free of interest on the currency collateral advanced by the borrower in return for the gold with which to make his deliveries. The lowest price was 111, with most of the sales at 111⅛. The highest figure, which was almost nominal, was 111¼.

STOCKS STRONG AND HIGHER.

The stock market was strong and higher. Except in a few instances the "bull" cliques manifested no disposition to suddenly raise prices, but seemed to pursue the tactics of keeping the market strong, while absorbing such stock as their adversaries ventured to offer, on the theory of lower prices to succeed an active money market in the vicinity of April 1. In some instances they pushed prices slightly upward, as if to prevent any covering on the part of the "shorts," except at a loss. A sporting man would describe the present situation by saying that the "bulls" have the "bears" "in chancery," and are so holding them until after the 1st of April, when the relaxation to follow the cessation of the flow of money to the rural districts will let them finish the contest without difficulty. The only stocks weak to-day were the fancies, such as the quicksilver, gold and coal mining shares, whose holders show some trepidation in anticipation of stringent money before the "April settlements" are through with. The railways were especially firm and generally higher. The Northwests rose to 83 for the common as against 79¾ in the morning, and to 94¼ for the preferred. Union Pacific went off to 24½, but rallied to 25¼ on the report that some sort of an entente cordiale had been established with the redoubtable Fisk, Jr., who has been of late the enfant terrible of its shareholders.

CEMENT was without change in any respect, Rosendale selling to a moderate extent at $2 25 per bbl.

COTTON.—The market was strong. Holders generally withdrew samples, and with light offerings, though the demand was only moderate, sellers established an advance of ⅛c. per lb. on low middling and the better grades. The poorer descriptions not participating in the improvement were held, however, with increased firmness. The demand was mainly from exporters, spinners confining operations to the supply of present requirements. Speculation was attracted to future deliveries. The sales were:—

For export	2,099	950	3,049

For speculation	640	—	640

Total bales	3,883	1,000	4,883

Included in the above are 500 bales to arrive. The market for future deliveries, owing to the advanced pretensions of sellers, was not active, buyers responding but faintly to the upward movement inaugurated to "corner" the "short" interest on this month's contracts. YACHTING IN MAINE.—The chief national sport for the coming season bids fair to be yachting. The visit and races of the Cambria last year created a fever for this pastime, which bids to break out in vigorous form this year. All along the seaboard, and in New York particularly, gentlemen are neglecting fancy horses and going into yachts. Our own Portland club, one of the most spirited in the country and embracing vessels that in point of speed and size rank high, is full of vim and ambition, and will enter upon the season in better trim than ever before. All the yachts have been, or will be, overhauled and improved. Two or three new vessels will be added and the fleet, when it comes into line for the annual cruise and regattas, will be one of which every citizen may be proud.—Portland (Me.) Argus, March 20.
